Accurate Shots Halt Car After Trucker Holdup

NEW BUFFALO — State police at New Buffalo reported two robbery suspects were arrested early today after a trooper fired three shotgun blasts that struck a fleeing car, forcing it off 1-94.

Two men in the car were not injured and were booked on charges of the armed robbery of $247 from a truck driver at a rest area just north of the Indiana state line. Troopers said the shotgun blasts flattened a tire and shattered two windows in the car.

State police at the Benton Harbor post said the two men were arrested less than 15 minutes after four travelers at the rest area reported the robbery and gave description of two men and the car they were seen leaving in as well as the license number of the vehicle.

Troopers said the information was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams of the Detroit area and Mr. and Mrs. George Watson from California.

Troopers said they were notified of the robbery at 12:27 a.m. The car was stopped and two men in custody at 12:40 a.m.

Trooper DeWayne Hellenaga, who fired the blasts while his partner, Trooper Charles Bohn, drove, said the car veered into the freeway median north of Sawyer, about 12 miles from the rest area. They were assisted in arresting the two by Ivan Zimmerman, Chikaming township police chief, after a police broadcast of the robbery and suspects.

Troopers said Dennis Bowman, a Minnesota truck driver, reported he was robbed of $247, his watch and his truck keys by two men he said were allegedly robbing another man in the restroom at the rest area. Troopers said another trucker apparently was robbed but left before police arrived.

Hellenaga reported it appeared that the passenger in the vehicle pointed a gun at the pursuing police cars just before he fired the first shot that flattened the tire. He said after firing the first shot the passenger began throwing items from the car including what appeared to be pills.

Troopers said about $200 in cash was picked up along the freeway. Also found were a .38 caliber handgun and a watch Bowman identified as his.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of armed robbery and possession of stolen property were Sam Williams, 23, and Terry L. Rush, 22, both of Saginaw.

Troopers said the 1971 Buick Skylark the two were in was reported stolen early last Sunday to Berrien sheriff's deputies from an Indiana man, James Federchak, Chesterton, said he was robbed of $22 and his car stolen by four men who were armed near New Buffalo. A computer check also showed the handgun found along the freeway was reported stolen in Detroit in 1968.

Detroit Convicted In Officer's Slaying

By TOM BRUNDRETT

ALLEGAN — A circuit court jury here yesterday found Richard Frederick Dixon guilty of second degree murder in the Jan. 9 slaying of a South Haven policeman.

An all-white jury of seven men and five women returned the verdict at 2:05 p.m., ending deliberations which began about 4:30 Monday, broke at 8:15 p.m. for the night and then resumed at 9 a.m. yesterday.

Dixon is white. The slain officer was black.

Dixon showed no signs of emotion when the verdict was handed down. Sentencing was set for Aug. 13, and Dixon was ordered held in the county jail pending disposition by Judge George Corsiglia who presided over the trial.

The 35-year-old Dixon of Detroit could be sentenced to life in prison as a result of the verdict.

Dixon was arrested a short time after the officer, Michael McAllister, 39, was gunned down by a man he had stopped to question on North Shore drive just outside the South Haven city limits.

McAllister, married and the father of five children, was shot while attempting to frisk the man. He had gone to the area to investigate a report a gun had been fired in the area.

The prosecution, headed by Allegan prosecutor Fred Hunter, sought a first degree murder conviction on grounds the slaying had been premeditated.

Dixon admitted during the trial that he had shot the officer but claimed the action was in self-defense. He contended he did not know McAllister was an officer because of the darkness and that he had been struck in the face when stopped.

Dixon is also awaiting court action on a federal charge of skyjacking an airplane in 1971 and forcing it fly to Cuba.

A short time after his arrest, Allegan Sheriff Robert Whitcomb said "there is no doubt in our (the department's) minds that he (Dixon) is a Communist agent."

The court proceedings for the trial began July 6 when selection of a jury was begun. The selection process continued until July 19 because of individual interviewing of prospective jurors over whether pre-trial publicity would influence their decision.

The first day of testimony was July 20. Lawyers for both sides gave final arguments Monday.

Kidnap Suspect In Michigan?

Federal agents have alerted U.S. Customs one of two men sought in the California kidnaping of 26 school children and their bus drive may try to enter Canada from Port Huron, Mich.

FBI agents in Detroit said they told Customs officials to be on the lookout for 23-year-old James Schoenfeld, after a man matching his description told an Indiana barber he would try to enter Canada by Port Huron's Blue Water Bridge.

The barber, Mike Lewis, identified Schoenfeld from a photo as a customer who stopped at his shop in Waterloo, Ind. Tuesday morning.

Lewis, told authorities that while the man was getting a haircut, he mentioned an abortive attempt to enter Canada and said he planned to try again by way of Port Huron.

A Detroit FBI spokesman said Tuesday night that agents are investigating to determine if the man in question really is Schoenfeld or just a look-alike.

Waterloo is about 10 miles west of the Ohio state line and about 20 miles south of Michigan in DeKalb County, Ind.

Schoenfeld and Frederick Newhall Woods IV, 24, are wanted by the FBI in the July 15 kidnaping of 26 school children and their bus driver in Chowchilla, Calif.

Police said the man identified by the barber as Schoenfeld was last seen heading west on U.S. 6, driving a late model, blue, four-door automobile bearing California license plates.

Waterloo Police Chief Bill Vallance said Lewis notified authorities an hour and a half after the haircut, after talking about the incident with his mother.

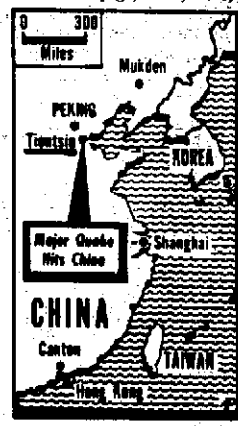

Vallance said a man matching Schoenfeld's description was seen in downtown Waterloo last Saturday, asking directions to the post office. However, there was no positive identification, Vallance said.

Canadian authorities reported Monday that Schoenfeld unsuccessfully attempted to cross from Washington state into Canada on July 19.

The FBI on Tuesday verified the sightings of Schoenfeld in Spokane, Wash., on July 19 and in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, on July 20. Thomas Drukin, Montana-Idaho FBI agent in charge, said both sightings were around business establishments and that Schoenfeld pawned or sold some materials at both locations.

Huge Quake Jolts China's Capital

By BARRY J. SHLACHTER
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — A strong new earth tremor jolted northeastern China today after the world's most powerful quake in 12 years struck the region before dawn, causing heavy damage and probably many casualties in the coastal metropolis of Tientsin.

The original quake, recorded by the Denver center at 8.2 on the Richter scale, also shook Peking. At least several major buildings were reported damaged there.

The U.S. Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., recorded the magnitude of a major aftershock today at 7.9 on the Richter scale, almost as strong as the overnight quake and capable of massive damage.

Former Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam, who was visiting Tientsin with his wife, said the Chinese told him after the first quake that there were fatalities in that city but that they did not know the precise number, the Italian news agency, ANSA, reported.

"It is something certainly very serious," Whitlam was quoted as saying. He said he saw buildings collapse and "fold down like accordions" in Tientsin, a city of four million people.

The Japan Broadcasting Corp. quoted the Japanese embassy in Peking as saying one Japanese employee was reported killed and six persons injured in the first quake at a Japanese manufacturing plant in Tangshan, an industrial area near Tientsin.

The Chinese did not issue any immediate official reports on casualties.

ANSA quoted Chinese authorities as saying the quake struck without warning. The Chinese recently had been able to predict some earthquakes.

The Chinese foreign ministry told the Australian embassy the epicenter of the first quake was about 80 miles east-southeast of Peking and 40 miles north of Tientsin, the capital of Hopeh province.

Among the badly damaged buildings in Peking were the Hsin Hsiao Hotel, the old wing of the Peking Hotel, buildings in the embassies quarter, a wing of the railway station and a large department store in the center of the city, Ansa reported.

Whitlam said many buildings in Tientsin, including his hotel, were heavily damaged. He said he saw Chinese searching through mounds of debris.

Whitlam said he and his wife were asleep on the seventh floor of their hotel, Tientsin's tallest building, when it "broke literally in two." He said the Chinese helped all those in the hotel to safety.

Tientsin's foreign community of about 70 persons were all reported in good condition and took refuge at the international club outside the city, Whitlam said.

The Australian leader added that his wife got a slight cut on her leg from a glass splinter.

Peking, the Chinese capital, was jolted for half a minute by the first severe shock, and aftershocks continued into the morning. Japanese news reports said there apparently were some casualties because emergency first aid stations were set up in tents.

The Peking correspondent of Asahi Shimbun, Japan's largest newspaper, said new buildings

Economic Index Up In June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government index designed to anticipate economic trends registered its eighth consecutive monthly increase in June on the strength of a surge in business spending, the Commerce Department said today.

The department said its composite index of leading indicators advanced three-tenths of a per cent last month, compared with a seven-tenths of a per cent increase in May.

The June increase was the smallest in seven months. The May figure originally had been reported as a 1.4 per cent increase but was scaled down in the latest report.

The overall signal from the indicator was for continued growth in economic activity, although perhaps at a relatively slower pace in the months ahead.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Ronald Reagan Uncorks The Bottle

However the 1976 general elections go, historians will rate it as the year of the big surprise.

Jimmy Carter started it off by coming from nowhere to win the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. He took the crown on the strength of winning the great majority of the preferential primary contests as a plurality selection and losing badly in a few elections where he ran head to head against a single, strongly identifiable opponent.

This side door entry to the main tent notwithstanding, Georgia's ex-governor definitely answered the question, "Jimmy Who?" being asked when those primaries opened up early in this year.

Not to be outdone by Carter and hoping he can outdo Jerry Ford for the Republican nomination, Ronald Reagan blew precedent out the window on Monday by announcing his choice as a running mate.

Normally this is a last minute declaration at a party convention by whomever is picked as the Presidential nominee.

In making the announcement, the Californian stayed with the precedent of a politician saying one thing and doing something else later on.

When Carter informed the Democratic convention he wanted Walter Mondale, Minnesota's liberal Senator, as a running mate, Reagan snorted two weeks ago he did not believe "in the old tradition of picking someone at the opposite end of the political spectrum because he can get some votes you can't get yourself."

This referred to the supposition of Carter being at least in the middle of the road as contrasted to Mondale's left of center position.

Following graduation from Penn State University, the home of the eastern powerhouses in football, Schweiker entered his father's business, the American Olean Tile Company. Home furnishers and decorators know American Olean for being big, real big, in floor coverings.

He stayed in the business sufficiently long to succeed his father as president and then became elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1960.

He told reporters the death of a brother, Malcolm, at Okinawa during World War II spurred a conviction to go into public life. Schweiker himself enlisted at age 17 in the Navy.

He campaigned successfully for the Senate in 1968.

His voting record in the House and Senate has been pro-labor and if Richard Nixon is taken for the epitome of the White House, Schweiker's voting record has also been anti-establishment. He was the first Republican of any dimension to call for Nixon's resignation following the Watergate tumble down the stairs.

As the undeniable conservative voice in the G.O.P., Reagan is gambling Schweiker can take him into corners, particularly the industrialized northeastern states, which would not be open to the revival of a message best exemplified by Barry Goldwater.

The bet first goes to shaking loose some delegates either pledged or leaning to Ford and then on to the main bout with Carter.

It might work for nominating purposes.

Its viability for the election would be a long shot.

Schweiker was quick to tell the reporters his affiliation with Reagan is a coalition the Republican party has needed for years.

This is true, except that in selling, which is what politics is all about, one product identical to another is apt to leave the customer indifferent to both.

Even the sideline attractions are the same.

Carter has an eight-year-old daughter, Amy, who is camera conscious.

Schweiker has six-year-old Kristie possessing the same bent.

If Reagan is thinking of knocking the ball out of the park, we wonder why he did not select a woman for a running mate.

HAD EXPERIENCE WITH EARLY PAROLE

Your issue of Thursday, July 22, reports the opposition of Judge Chester Byrns to the early parole plan sponsored by Perry Johnson, corrections department director. The latter's argument that there are insufficient housing facilities for prisoners sounds pretty silly when the state can construct all of the buildings it needs to house prisoners, if it wants to. The state finds money for every other necessary expense, and many expenses that are not so necessary.

Is it not obvious that too early a parole nullifies the expensive judicial process by which criminals are apprehended, tried and sentenced? Where is the protection law-abiding citizens pay for when criminals are turned loose with sentences only partially served?

I speak as a victim of the system of early parole and lax supervision of parolees by the corrections department. Twice in three years my home was burglarized and on the second offense burned to the ground by the same early parolee then living with his parents! What correction of this criminal did the state corrections department achieve that it feels justified in trying early parole as a general policy? Hundreds of cases like this confirm the wisdom of Judge Byrns' opinion when he urges additional prison facilities instead of turning malefactors loose who have served only part of their sentence.

"LIKE SARDINES IN A CAN"

Editor,
I am writing in regards to the article in the July 22nd issue of The Herald-Palladium entitled, "Judge Byrns opposes early parole plan." I have been following all of the printings and talk about the prison overcrowding for some time now and I expected to hear opposition to Director Johnson's plans. Mr. Byrns has some good points but I think he is letting some of his personal feelings take over.

Mr. Byrns is also a very well respected person and is known as a "strict judge" in Berrien County, but he should realize that this is a real situation and that we can't keep being packed away like sardines in a can.

Now, Director Johnson indicates that the best risks are inmates who have not committed violent crimes, who were married at the time of conviction, and who were arrested for the first time over the age of 19.

How many of those people are you going to find in prison in the first place? Majority of your inmates have long juvenile records and several minor arrests. In my opinion, the best risks would be someone who was convicted of a nonviolent crime, came to prison showing the want to progress and learn, and does it.

Mr. Byrns says he looks at three prime goals when sentencing a person — rehabilitation, punishment, and deterrence. The latter two are the only things that happen, and as far as rehabilitation goes, there really is no such thing. I don't care what anyone says about it, there is not one person who has been to prison that came out rehabilitated and I doubt if you'll find many psychologists who will say otherwise.

I honestly hope that if an early release program does go into effect that it will not backfire and further that the public will have a good attitude towards it, and try and help make it work.

EYES DOUBLE DIPPING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's legislative-affairs chief William Behn says he is moving to prevent "double dipping" by congressmen or their aides into federal funds for overseas travel.

Davey Crockett Learned Lesson

WASHINGTON — In addition to being the Bicentennial, 1976 is the 100th anniversary of the birth, and 140th anniversary of the death, of one of the free man's legendary sons: Col. David Crockett of Tennessee. Though he is remembered today mostly and excessively as a woodsman (he once killed 105 bears in nine months) and as a soldier (he died at the Alamo), it may be instructive now to also recall that he was a statesman who served three terms in Congress.

Admittedly, Crockett's performance in the House of Representatives passed almost entirely without memorable incident. He was a man of raw and limited intellect, never comfortable in the pomp of Capitol Hill. Still, as we are reminded by one of his latter-day colleagues, Democratic Rep. Ron Paul of Texas, the colonel left us with at least one political tale as delicious as any adventure he lived.

According to Paul, who gets his information from the Foundation for Economic Education, the story began in the early 1830s while Crockett was stumpin' his state for reelection. Coming upon a farmer plowing his fields, the colonel introduced himself as "One of those unfortunate beings called candidates," but before he could finish his pitch the farmer cut him off. The man recognized Crockett, and advised him not to waste his time: "I shall not vote for you."

Crockett was stunned and begged the farmer for edification.

"Well," said the voter, "though I live here in the backwoods and seldom go from home, I take the papers from Washington and read very carefully all the proceedings of Congress." Then, specifically, he mentioned the time Crockett had cast a vote to appropriate $20,000 to help some residents of Washington who had been made homeless by a large fire.

Crockett admitted guilt but replied that his was a charitable act, involving a relatively insignificant sum of tax money, of which nobody in a great and

The farmer said he was not unmindful of the unfortunate. To the contrary, his concern was with the unfortunate. "Taxation," he said, "reaches every man in the country, no matter how poor he may be, and the poorer he is the more he pays in proportion to his means. So you see that while you are contributing to relieve one, you are drawing it from thousands who are even worse off than he."

Relief was certainly necessary for the fire victims, the farmer added, but not with money Congress had no right to give. "The people have delegated to Congress ... the power ... to collect and pay monies, and for nothing else." If the representatives were truly sympathetic with the fire victims, and truly honest to the Constitution, the voter concluded, they would have raised contributions from their own pockets.

Crockett was touched, enlightened and astounded at his own ignorance. And he never forgot the farmer's simple eloquent plea for fiscal responsibility. According to the story, he returned to Congress a more farsighted man. And some years later, when the House was debating an appropriation for the relief of the widow of a popular naval officer, Crockett rose quickly to the occasion.

He said he could let his respect for the deceased lead him into an act of injustice to the living. He repeated the lesson he learned from the farmer. Then, calling himself the "poorest man on this floor," he said he would contribute a week's salary to the widow if every other member did, and that would settle the matter.

In this Bicentennial, at a time when we are concerned with government as seldom before, we might do well to remember that when Davey Crockett asked Congress to contribute their own money to a decent cause, not one of them responded.

WASHINGTON — This political city is still hashing over some behind-scenes incidents at the Democratic National Convention which in the rush of events were overlooked by the press.

Guaranteed to be exclusive, if not earth-shaking:

ITEM: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, making her first convention appearance since her husband was nominated in 1960, not only sat through most of two sessions and participated in a fund-raiser, but demonstrated unaccustomed affection for ordinary working politicians. In the old days, she viewed full-time practitioners of the profession with obvious condescension and associated as little as possible with them.

At the convention, however, she spent considerable time chatting socially with Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss and his wife Helen in his office below the podium. Chicago Mayor Dick Daley dropped in and Jackie O. couldn't have been sweeter.

When committee deputy chairman Mary Lou Burg accidentally appeared with a camera, everybody posed like old chums. Jackie even asked for a copy of the picture of herself with Daley and Strauss. My goodness, how the Queen of Camelot has changed.

ITEM: Convention officials were disappointed that Liz Taylor was a no-show, after she expressed great interest in attending the sessions and even contributed to a fund-raiser. She didn't bother to explain to anybody, either.

ITEM: The women's delegate caucus, which accepted a compromise from Jimmy Carter rather than wage a floor fight for equal representation at the 1980 convention, was alarmed at a report that Ronald Reagan would consider Ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong, a Texan, as his running mate. Despite some nervousness about Carter, most female activists believe he is far more sympathetic to their cause than is Reagan, who supports a constitutional amendment to outlaw all abortion and opposes the Equal Rights Amendment. Yet the temptation to vote for the first woman on the national ticket might be strong.

ITEM: Jack O. hasn't abandoned her regal style just because she has now accepted politicians in her circle. At a convention party she was spotted by Washington Post editor Ben Bradlee, who used to be her Georgetown neighbor and an intimate friend during the White House era. Bradlee, however, has since written a book in which Jackie was described unflatteringly as extravagant and somewhat featherbrained.

He rushed up with his arms wide open, eager to embrace her. She stared at him coolly, turned and walked away. Not many people in Washington would try to get by with that.

Lower Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bus drivers in the future may still refrain, "Step up, please!" But riders won't have to climb as high as they do now.

The government announced Tuesday that after next Feb. 15, all new mass transit buses purchased with federal funds must have a floor level no higher than 24 inches from the sidewalk. That's nearly a foot lower than the current bus standard floor height of 34 to 35 inches.

Big Corn, Wheat Crops May Help GOP Nominee

California is suffering through its worst drought since 1924. Crop losses in the state have exceeded $500-million and may reach $1-billion if the dry conditions continue. Minnesota's commissioner of agriculture estimates his state has lost one-half of its small grains and hay crops. And in neighboring South Dakota, where farmers are expected to lose half of their potential crop revenue, beef and dairy cattle have been slaughtered because of lack of pasture and hay.

Nevertheless, the most recent U.S. Department of Agriculture crop report, based on July 1 conditions, foresees bumper corn and wheat crops this year for the nation as a whole. The department predicts a wheat harvest of 2.04 billion bushels, which would be the second-largest in history. The corn crop is expected to total 6.5 billion bushels, or 14 per cent more than last year. The Environmental Protection Agency has prohibited the use of two pesticides (chlordane or heptachlor) widely used by corn farmers, effective Sunday, Aug. 1, but the ban will have little or no effect on the 1978 crop.

Agriculture Department officials naturally are pleased by the good news. In 1975, the Soviet Union agreed to buy from six to eight million tons of wheat and corn from the United States annually, and this year it wants to purchase even more. "With the supply now in prospect, this should cause no apprehension among American consumers over higher food prices," said Don A. Paarlberg, the department's director of agricultural economics, at a news conference.

Some grain experts believe the government crop estimates are too high. They warn that more moisture will be needed in corn-growing areas during the crucial tasselling, silking and pollinating period of the next few weeks. If the Agriculture Department forecasts prove accurate, however, the Republican nominee for president stands to benefit. As Paarlberg put it: "When you have large supplies at reasonably high prices, it's usually good for the incumbents."

Dowagiac — The Beckwith building, Dowagiac's front street landmark since its dedication in 1893, is being razed. Workmen began taking salvageable items from the building today and demolition is expected to be completed in 45 days. The building originally housed the Beckwith theater, as well as offices of the Round Oak Furnace company. Carved busts along the top of the building are those of famous actors and playwrights of the 18th century.

Participants from Benton Harbor are Harriette Bishop, Clarys Botgeriet, Vance Fisher, Milton Hamilton, Carolyn Meyer, and Karl Schlabach. Band members from St. Joseph are Judy Ast, William Awoley, Jim Flugrath, Richard Fork and Eleanor Williams. Carole Davidson is the only Coloma student at the institute.

The foundation of the new Alger building on Seventh street, Benton Harbor, has been laid and work on the walls is being rapidly pushed. The building when completed will be occupied by Edison Stone in the manufacture of wagons.

The band concert and display of fireworks by the boy Blodwin on the wire in mid air last evening were witnessed by over 4,000 persons. The four corners in the downtown district of Benton Harbor were crowded with people for a distance of a block. From a business standpoint the celebration was a good thing for the soda fountains and soft drink places only. One of the leading merchants declared this morning he lost over $150 in trade by the performance and would give $25 not to have it repeated this evening. Nevertheless the performance will occur again tonight.

Ronald Reagan Uncorks The Bottle

However the 1976 general elections go, historians will rate it as the year of the big surprise.

Jimmy Carter started it off by coming from nowhere to win the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. He took the crown on the strength of winning the great majority of the preferential primary contests as a plurality selection and losing badly in a few elections where he ran head to head against a single, strongly identifiable opponent.

This side door entry to the main tent notwithstanding, Georgia's ex-governor definitely answered the question, "Jimmy Who?" being asked when those primaries opened up early in this year.

Not to be outdone by Carter and hoping he can outdo Jerry Ford for the Republican nomination, Ronald Reagan blew precedent out the window on Monday by announcing his choice as a running mate.

Normally this is a last minute declaration at a party convention by whomever is picked as the Presidential nominee.

In making the announcement, the Californian stayed with the precedent of a politician saying one thing and doing something else later on.

When Carter informed the Democratic convention he wanted Walter Mondale, Minnesota's liberal Senator, as a running mate, Reagan snorted two weeks ago he did not believe "in the old tradition of picking someone at the opposite end of the political spectrum because he can get some votes you can't get yourself."

This referred to the supposition of Carter being at least in the middle of the road as contrasted to Mondale's left of center position.

Following graduation from Penn State University, the home of the eastern powerhouses in football, Schweiker entered his father's business, the American Olean Tile Company. Home furnishers and decorators know American Olean for being big, real big, in floor coverings.

He stayed in the business sufficiently long to succeed his father as president and then became elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1960.

He told reporters the death of a brother, Malcolm, at Okinawa during World War II spurred a conviction to go into public life. Schweiker himself enlisted at age 17 in the Navy.

He campaigned successfully for the Senate in 1968.

His voting record in the House and Senate has been pro-labor and if Richard Nixon is taken for the epitome of the White House, Schweiker's voting record has also been anti-establishment. He was the first Republican of any dimension to call for Nixon's resignation following the Watergate tumble down the stairs.

As the undeniable conservative voice in the G.O.P., Reagan is gambling Schweiker can take him into corners, particularly the industrialized northeastern states, which would not be open to the revival of a message best exemplified by Barry Goldwater.

The bet first goes to shaking loose some delegates either pledged or leaning to Ford and then on to the main bout with Carter.

It might work for nominating purposes.

Its viability for the election would be a long shot.

Schweiker was quick to tell the reporters his affiliation with Reagan is a coalition the Republican party has needed for years.

This is true, except that in selling, which is what politics is all about, one product identical to another is apt to leave the customer indifferent to both.

Even the sideline attractions are the same.

Carter has an eight-year-old daughter, Amy, who is camera conscious.

Schweiker has six-year-old Kristie possessing the same bent.

If Reagan is thinking of knocking the ball out of the park, we wonder why he did not select a woman for a running mate.

HAD EXPERIENCE WITH EARLY PAROLE

Your issue of Thursday, July 22, reports the opposition of Judge Chester Byrns to the early parole plan sponsored by Perry Johnson, corrections department director. The latter's argument that there are insufficient housing facilities for prisoners sounds pretty silly when the state can construct all of the buildings it needs to house prisoners, if it wants to. The state finds money for every other necessary expense, and many expenses that are not so necessary.

Is it not obvious that too early a parole nullifies the expensive judicial process by which criminals are apprehended, tried and sentenced? Where is the protection law-abiding citizens pay for when criminals are turned loose with sentences only partially served?

I speak as a victim of the system of early parole and lax supervision of parolees by the corrections department. Twice in three years my home was burglarized and on the second offense burned to the ground by the same early parolee then living with his parents! What correction of this criminal did the state corrections department achieve that it feels justified in trying early parole as a general policy? Hundreds of cases like this confirm the wisdom of Judge Byrns' opinion when he urges additional prison facilities instead of turning malefactors loose who have served only part of their sentence.

'LIKE SARDINES IN A CAN'

I am writing in regards to the article in the July 22nd issue of The Herald-Palladium entitled, "Judge Byrns opposes early parole plan." I have been following all of the printings and talk about the prison overcrowding for some time now and I expected to hear opposition to Director Johnson's plans. Mr. Byrns has some good points but I think he is letting some of his personal feelings take over.

Mr. Byrns is also a very well respected person and is known as a "strict judge" in Berrien county, but he should realize that this is a real situation and that we can't keep being packed away like sardines in a can.

Now, Director Johnson indicates that the best risks are inmates who have not committed violent crimes, who were married at the time of conviction, and who were arrested for the first time over the age of 19.

How many of those people are you going to find in prison in the first place? Majority of your inmates have long juvenile records and several minor arrests. In my opinion, the best risks would be someone who was convicted of a nonviolent crime, came to prison showing the want to progress and learn, and does it.

Mr. Byrns says he looks at three prime goals when sentencing a person — rehabilitation, punishment, and deterrence. The latter two are the only things that happen, and as far as rehabilitation goes, there really is no such thing. I don't care what anyone says about it, there is not one person who has been to prison that came out rehabilitated and I doubt if you'll find many psychologists who will say otherwise.

I honestly hope that if an early release program does go into effect that it will not backfire and further that the public will have a good attitude towards it, and try and help make it work.

Davey Crockett Learned Lesson

WASHINGTON — In addition to being the Bicentennial, 1976 is the 190th anniversary of the birth, and 140th anniversary of the death, of one of the free man's legendary sons: Col. David Crockett of Tennessee. Though he is remembered today mostly and excessively as a woodsman (he once killed 105 bears in nine months) and as a soldier (he died at the Alamo), it may be instructive now to also recall that he was a statesman who served three terms in Congress.

Admittedly, Crockett's performance in the House of Representatives passed almost entirely without memorable incident. He was a man of raw and limited intellect, never comfortable in the pomp of Capitol Hill. Still, as we are reminded by one of his latter-day colleagues, Democratic Rep. Ron Paul of Texas, the colonel left us with at least one political tale as delicious as any adventure he lived.

According to Paul, who gets his information from the Foundation for Economic Education, the story began in the early 1830s while Crockett was stumping his state for reelection. Coming upon a farmer plowing his fields, the colonel introduced himself as "One of those unfortunate beings called candidates," but before he could finish his pitch the farmer cut him off. The man recognized Crockett, and advised him not to waste his time: "I shall not vote for you."

Crockett was stunned and begged the farmer for edification.

"Well," said the voter, "though I live here in the backwoods and seldom go from home, I take the papers from Washington and read very carefully all the proceedings of Congress." Then, specifically, he mentioned the time Crockett had cast a vote to appropriate $20,000 to help some residents of Washington who had been made homeless by a large fire.

Crockett admitted guilt but replied that his was a charitable act, involving a relatively insignificant sum of tax money, of which nobody in a great and

The farmer said he was not unkind of the unfortunate. To the contrary, his concern was with the unfortunate. "Taxation," he said, "reaches every man in the country, no matter how poor he may be, and the poorer he is the more he pays in proportion to his means. So you see that while you are contributing to relieve one, you are drawing it from thousands who are even worse off than he."

Relief was certainly necessary for the fire victims, the farmer added, but not with money Congress had no right to give. "The people have delegated to Congress ... the power ... to collect and pay monies, and for nothing else." If the representatives were truly sympathetic with the fire victims, and truly honest to the Constitution, the voter concluded, they would have raised contributions from their own pockets.

Crockett was touched, enlightened and astounded at his own ignorance. And he never forgot the farmer's simple eloquent plea for fiscal responsibility. According to the story, he returned to Congress a more far-sighted man. And some years later, when the House was debating an appropriation for the relief of the widow of a popular naval officer, Crockett rose quickly to the occasion.

He said he could let his respect for the deceased lead him into an act of injustice to the living. He repeated the lesson he learned from the farmer. Then, calling himself the "poorest man on this floor," he said he would contribute a week's salary to the widow if every other member did, and that would settle the matter.

In this Bicentennial, at a time when we are concerned with government as seldom before, we might do well to remember that when Davey Crockett asked Congress to contribute their own money to a decent cause, not one of them responded.

Revived Apartment Project Gets Okay

By MARK RODIN
Staff Writer

Revised plans for an apartment complex at 3365 Lake Shore drive on the Shoreham village boundary were recommended for approval, 7-0, by the St. Joseph township planning commission Tuesday night.

American Homestead Corp., Kalamazoo, will construct 96 one and two bedroom apartments in what is to be the first phase of a larger project if a building permit is granted by the township board of trustees. The complex was first proposed in 1973 but has lain dormant because of a tight money market in the interim.

John Oosterbaan, an attorney for American Homestead, told the commission 200 to 225 apartments will be built when the project is completed. The one bedroom apartments would rent for $215 or $220 a month and the two bedroom units for $260 to $270, he added.

Construction costs for the first phase are expected to be $1.5 million Oosterbaan said. There would be 48 one-bedroom and 48 two-bedroom units he added.

Oosterbaan said the 96 apartments would be housed in four buildings using only 9 acres of the 18.28-acre site. A total of 2.63 acres of the site is in Shoreham and will remain undeveloped except for a clubhouse containing management offices and swimming pool, he told the commission. The remainder of the tract is in the township outside the village limits. Jerome J. Klingele, architect for the developers, showed the plans to the commissioners and an audience of seven Shoreham citizens. The citizens did not voice any objections.

American Homestead first proposed the project in 1973. That proposal was for 276 apartments, including three bedroom and efficiency units.

Rezoning for the 15.65 acres in St. Joseph township from R-4 two-family homes to R-5 multiple housing with a special use for a planned unit development was also granted by the trustees in 1973 with the stipulation the land would revert back to R-4 after one year if American Homestead did not apply for a building permit.

However a lack of mortgage money caused American Homestead to lay its plans aside, Oosterbaan said. Company officials requested extensions on the rezoning which were granted each year. The latest extension expires Feb. 1, 1977 according to Robert H. DeVries, Sr., a township trustee and planning commissioner.

Oosterbaan said the corporation can now obtain conventional mortgage money from a Grand Rapids banker at a rate exceeding 9 per cent.

He also told the commission the density of housing units at the site would be 10 per acre instead of the 14 in the 1973 proposal.

Marvin W. Vanderveen, American Homestead

president, said he wants to start the second phase of the project about 18 months after the first 96 units are completed.

The commission also decided on a 6-1 vote not to recommend a zoning change and special use permit for a proposed 20 unit apartment building at Niles avenue and Lydia drive. Royce Leary abstained.

Leary said he favored the zoning change from two-family to multiple housing, but not the special use permit for the apartment building.

Ralph Post, a St. Joseph contractor, requested the zoning change.

Other commissioners said the site should be rezoned for commercial use.

Approval was given for proposed parking lot plans for an ice cream and sandwich shop proposed by Ice Cream Corp., Wilburham, Mass.

M.J. Woudenberg, Jr., a Grand Rapids real estate broker and developer representing the ice cream company, said the building would be constructed on a 43,580 square foot lot between the Ponderosa Steak House and the Pizza Hut on Niles road. The building would contain 4,881 square feet, he added.

The proposed ice cream shop is located in a commercial zone.

The commission also decided by a 6-1 vote to approve the incorporation of 12 lots next to the Berrien Hills Country Club into the club's property. Commissioner June Rollinger cast the no vote.

The commission's action means the 12 lots will be included in a special use district for the club on the township's zoning map. The 12 lots were purchased by the club several years ago and are off Golf View drive.

New Radio System Takes Hospital To Patient Side

Mercy and Memorial hospitals in the Twin Cities have obtained $67,000 in equipment to operate a new portable radio unit for treatment of heart attack victims, according to administrators at both hospitals.

The new system, similar to that shown on the television program "Emergency," will transmit medical data to the hospitals where physicians will diagnose the illness and direct ambulance "paramedics" to administer medication.

R.A. Bradburn, administrator at Memorial hospital in St. Joseph, said the new system will be put in total operation in six months to a year. He said ambulance attendants must still be trained and licensed by the state as paramedics to administer medication.

C.T. Loftus, administrator at Mercy hospital in Benton Harbor, said the system will currently be used to transmit medical data to the hospital so doctors will know immediately how to treat patients when they arrive at the hospital emergency room. Ambulance attendants are not allowed to administer drugs or electrical shock to patients until they are trained and licensed as paramedics, he said.

The total equipment obtained by the two hospitals includes: four portable radio transceivers, four portable cardiac defibrillators to administer electrical shock, a radio base station and radio console at both Memorial and Mercy hospitals, and a central base station located at a transmitting tower at the corner of Roslin and Territorial roads in Benton township.

Loftus said the Women's Service League donated $20,000 from the proceeds of their Fabulous Follies '75 toward purchasing the equipment. The balance of the costs for equipment were obtained from other donations and from hospital funds, he said.

Bradburn said, at present, Rampart and Action ambulance attendants are receiving equipment and training for the new service. Memorial hospital has provided two mobile units for Action ambulance, he said, and Mercy hospital has provided two units for Rampart ambulance.

"This new emergency system represents a great advance in the provision of medical care for this community because it will, when completed, extend the hospitals' emergency services to the patient's side wherever he is," Robert Willemis, chairman of the board of trustees at Mercy hospital, said.

Lester Tiscornia, board chairman at Memorial hospital,

added, "The Twin Cities community now joins the few other communities in the state and nation who have made this life-saving service available to those in need. The two local hospitals have in the past and will continue in the future to make available the best possible medical facilities and services to the residents of this area." The system is now operating in Michigan at Grand Rapids, Mt. Clemens, Southfield and Lansing.

Stanley Mesiraw, M.D., and Charles Boonstra, M.D., chiefs of the medical staffs at Memorial and Mercy respectively, said physicians will participate in the training of ambulance attendants and hospital personnel to fully utilize the new emergency equipment.

Mrs. Irma Hannah, Memorial hospital emergency room head nurse, and Carlos Barberos, field engineer representing Pioneer Medical Systems Corp., which is in the process of training hospital and ambulance personnel on use of company's equipment.

Berrien Is No. 1 In VD, Health Chief Reports

By MARK RODIN
Staff Writer

Jerome A. Erickson, administrator of the Berrien county health department, Tuesday told of increases in the venereal disease rate that are making Berrien county the highest in the state for VD.

Erickson spoke at a Cities Area Chamber of Commerce breakfast at St. Joseph Holiday Inn and said reported VD cases in Berrien have increased tenfold over the past 15 years from 119 in 1960 to 1,191 in 1975.

He also noted cases increased the first six months of this year compared to the same period for 1975. There were 652 cases reported in the county the first half of 1976 compared to 327 the first six months of 1975 which makes Berrien county have the highest rate in the state, Erickson told a reporter after the breakfast meeting.

Taking a personal view, Erickson said he felt the changing social values of the American people was largely responsible.

"Parents are not having the competence and control over their children they had two or three generations ago," he commented.

"An increasing number of junior high school people are coming to our (VD) clinics," the health administrator reported. "We're handicapped because schools aren't teaching health education. Parents aren't teaching kids the nuts and bolts about life, and I would favor changing state law to allow schools to do so with parental consent."

Erickson also said Michigan law does not require a child to inform his or her parents about any clinical visits for the treatment of venereal disease.

Erickson also discussed the federal government's proposed mass immunization against swine influenza, explaining he did not wish to rush headfirst into a vaccination program without any conclusive, concrete proof of a major epidemic.

He said the mass immunization program would be worthless if there is no swine flu outbreak this year because the high rate of illegitimate births is only effective for six months to a year according to the best medical evidence.

"I'd rather store the vaccine and be ready to give it at a moment's notice," the health administrator stated.

Except for an outbreak confined to four U.S. Army soldiers at Fort Dix, N.J. last February, "as far as we know from all the literature that's been published, there hasn't been one case confirmed in the whole world," Erickson reported to chamber members.

Erickson also spoke about the high rate of illegitimate births in Berrien county and particularly Benton Harbor.

There were 125 illegitimate births in Berrien County and in 1960 and 650 in 1975, he said.

He reconfirmed previously published information he gave The Herald-Palladium that 407 children or 52 per cent of those born in Benton Harbor in 1974 were illegitimate. By 1975 the rate had increased to 57.3 per cent, the health administrator added. "We're not going to change the illegitimacy rate until some basic (social) attitudes are changed," Erickson said.

Motion For New Trial Denied

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A motion for a new trial for Lorenzo Cross, convicted of second degree murder in an insurance-scheme slaying of a Benton Harbor woman in 1975, was denied yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

Cross, 27, formerly of 1905 Union street, Benton township, last September was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge William S. White, who yesterday denied the motion for a new trial. Cross was in the courtroom for the hearing.

Cross was convicted of aiding and abetting in the murder of Audrey Bridgewater Walker, whose body was found in a ditch off Yore avenue in Sodas township in February, 1975.

The denial of the motion was the second such in less than a week, as Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns last week denied a similar motion for Terry Y. Langford, who was sentenced to life in prison for killing a mother and her son for insurance in a related case.

During Cross' trial, the prosecution maintained Cross, while working as an insurance salesman, sold Mrs. Walker three insurance policies naming Langford beneficiary, and claimed Cross procured a gun allegedly used in the murder and loaned Langford his car the night Mrs. Walker was killed.

Defense Atty. M. Sherman Drew, of Niles, cited about 10 reasons that a new trial should be granted, with the main contentions being the verdict went against the evidence and Langford's previous testimony should not have been introduced into Cross' trial.

During his argument, Special Assistant Prosecutor Robert McDowell claimed Drew's contentions "are without merit," and White denied each contention.

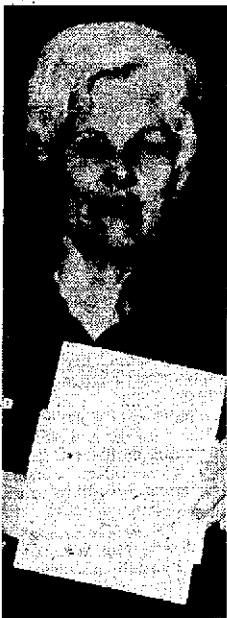

In striking down the motion,

White on the record urged the State Appeals and Supreme courts to revise trial rules to concur with federal trial rules and allow prior inconsistent testimony to be considered as substantive evidence against a defendant.

Currently, the testimony can only be used to judge the credibility of the witness who made the inconsistent statements, and cannot be used as evidence against the defendant on trial.

BH Group To Sponsor 'Candidate Night'

The Young Men's Improvement association of Benton Harbor will sponsor a "meet the candidates" program Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library, according to James Alexander, association president. Alexander said the public is invited to the program. Candidates for city, county and state offices whose districts are in the Benton Harbor area have been invited and will be given time to state their campaign views and answer questions, Alexander said.

New Radio System Takes Hospital To Patient Side

Mercy and Memorial hospitals in the Twin Cities have obtained $67,000 in equipment to operate a new portable radio unit for treatment of heart attack victims, according to administrators at both hospitals.

The new system, similar to that shown on the television program "Emergency," will transmit medical data to the hospitals where physicians will diagnose the illness and direct ambulance "paramedics" to administer medication.

R.A. Bradburn, administrator at Memorial hospital in St. Joseph, said the new system will be put in total operation in six months to a year. He said ambulance attendants must still be trained and licensed by the state as paramedics to administer medication.

C.T. Loftus, administrator at Mercy hospital in Benton Harbor, said the system will currently be used to transmit medical data to the hospital so doctors will know immediately how to treat patients when they arrive at the hospital emergency room. Ambulance attendants are not allowed to administer drugs or electrical shock to patients until they are trained and licensed as paramedics, he said.

The total equipment obtained by the two hospitals includes: four portable radio transmitters, four portable cardiac defibrillators to administer electrical shock, a radio base station and radio console at both Memorial and Mercy hospitals, and a central base station located at a transmitting tower at the corner of Roslin and Territorial roads in Benton township.

Loftus said the Women's Service League donated $20,000 from the proceeds of their Fabulous Follies '75 toward purchasing the equipment. The balance of the costs for equipment were obtained from other donations and from hospital funds, he said.

Bradburn said, at present, Rampart and Action ambulance attendants are receiving equipment and training for the new service. Memorial hospital has provided two mobile units for Action ambulance, he said, and Mercy hospital has provided two units for Rampart ambulance.

"This new emergency system represents a great advance in the provision of medical care for this community because it will, when completed, extend the hospitals' emergency services to the patient's side wherever he is," Robert Willem, chairman of the board of trustees at Mercy hospital, said.

Lester Tiscornia, board chairman at Memorial hospital,

added, "The Twin Cities community now joins the few other communities in the state and nation who have made this life-saving service available to those in need. The two local hospitals have in the past and will continue in the future to make available the best possible medical facilities and services to the residents of this area." The system is now operating in Michigan at Grand Rapids, Mt. Clemens, Southfield and Lansing.

Stanley Mesirov, M.D., and Charles Boonstra, M.D., chiefs of the medical staffs at Memorial and Mercy respectively, said physicians will participate in the training of ambulance attendants and hospital personnel to fully utilize the new emergency equipment.

Mrs. Irma Hannah, Memorial hospital emergency room head nurse, and Carlos Barberos, field engineer representing Pioneer Medical Systems Corp., which is in the process of training hospital and ambulance personnel on use of company's equipment.

Revived Apartment Project Gets Okay

Revised plans for an apartment complex at 3385 Lake Shore drive on the Shoreham village boundary were recommended for approval, 7-0, by the St. Joseph township planning commission Tuesday night.

American Homestead Corp., Kalamazoo, will construct 96 one and two bedroom apartments in what is to be the first phase of a larger project if a building permit is granted by the township board of trustees. The complex was first proposed in 1973 but has lain dormant because of a tight money market in the interim.

John Oosterbaan, an attorney for American Homestead, told the commission 200 to 225 apartments will be built when the project is completed. The one bedroom apartments would rent for $215 or $220 a month and the two bedroom units for $260 to $270, he added.

Construction costs for the first phase are expected to be $1.5 million Oosterbaan said. There would be 48 one-bedroom and 48 two-bedroom units he added.

Oosterbaan said the 96 apartments would be housed in four buildings using only 9 acres of the 18.28-acre site. A total of 2.63 acres of the site is in Shoreham and will remain undeveloped except for a clubhouse containing management offices and swimming pool, he told the commission. The remainder of the tract is in the township outside the village limits. Jerome J. Klingele, architect for the developers, showed the plans to the commissioners and an audience of seven Shoreham citizens. The citizens did not voice any objections.

American Homestead first proposed the project in 1973. That proposal was for 276 apartments, including three bedroom and efficiency units.

Rezoning for the 15.65 acres in St. Joseph township from R-4 two-family homes to R-5 multiple housing with a special use for a planned unit development was also granted by the trustees in 1973 with the stipulation the land would revert back to R-4 after one year if American Homestead did not apply for a building permit.

However a lack of mortgage money caused American Homestead to lay its plans aside. Oosterbaan said. Company officials requested extensions on the rezoning which were granted each year. The latest extension expires Feb. 1, 1977 according to Robert H. DeVries, Sr., a township trustee and planning commissioner. Oosterbaan said the corporation can now obtain conventional mortgage money from a Grand Rapids banker at a rate exceeding 9 per cent.

He also told the commission the density of housing units at the site would be 10 per acre instead of the 14 in the 1973 proposal.

Marvin W. Vanderveen, American Homestead

president, said he wants to start the second phase of the project about 18 months after the first 96 units are completed.

The commission also decided on a 6-0 vote not to recommend a zoning change and special use permit for a proposed 20 unit apartment building at Niles avenue and Lydia drive. Royce Leary abstained.

Leary said he favored the zoning change from two-family to multiple housing, but not the special use permit for the apartment building.

Ralph Post, a St. Joseph contractor, requested the zoning change.

Other commissioners said the site should be rezoned for commercial use.

Approval was given for proposed parking lot plans for an ice cream and sandwich shop proposed by Ice Cream Corp., Wilburham, Mass.

M.J. Woudenberg, Jr., a Grand Rapids real estate broker and developer representing the ice cream company, said the building would be constructed on a 43,560 square foot lot between the Ponderosa Steak House and the Pizza Hut on Niles road. The building would contain 4,881 square feet, he added.

The proposed ice cream shop is located in a commercial zone. The commission also decided by a 6-1 vote to approve the incorporation of 12 lots next to the Berrien Hills Country Club into the club's property. Commissioner June Rollinger cast the no vote.

The commission's action means the 12 lots will be included in a special use district for the club on the township's zoning map. The 12 lots were purchased by the club several years ago and are off Golf View drive.

HONORED: Howard H. Paxson, founder and board chairman of Paxson Advertising, Inc., St. Joseph, has been awarded an honorary lifetime membership in the First Advertising Agency Network by directors of the national advertising association. Paxson was the network's president in 1955-56.

Berrien Is No. 1 In VD, Health Chief Reports

By MARK RODIN

Jerome A. Erickson, administrator of the Berrien county health department, Tuesday told of increases in the venereal disease rate that are making Berrien county the highest in the state for VD.

Erickson spoke at a Cities Area Chamber of Commerce breakfast at St. Joseph Holiday Inn and said reported VD cases in Berrien have increased tenfold over the past 15 years from 119 in 1960 to 1,191 in 1975.

He also noted cases increased the first six months of this year compared to the same period for 1975. There were 652 cases reported in the county the first half of 1976 compared to 527 the first six months of 1975 which makes Berrien county have the highest rate in the state, Erickson told a reporter after the breakfast meeting.

Taking a personal view, Erickson said he felt the changing social values of the American people was largely responsible.

"Parents are not having the competence and control over their children they had two or three generations ago," he commented.

"An increasing number of junior high school people are coming to our (VD) clinics," the health administrator reported. "We're handicapped because schools aren't teaching health education. Parents aren't teaching kids the nuts and bolts about life, and I would favor changing state law to allow schools to do so with parental consent."

Erickson also said Michigan law does not require a child to inform his or her parents about any clinical visits for the treatment of venereal disease.

Erickson also discussed the federal government's proposed mass immunization against swine influenza, explaining he did not wish to rush headfirst into a vaccination program without any conclusive, concrete proof of a major epidemic.

He said the mass immunization program would be worthless if there is no swine flu outbreak this year because the vaccine is only effective for six months to a year according to the best medical evidence.

"I'd rather store the vaccine and be ready to give it at a moment's notice," the health administrator stated.

Except for an outbreak confined to four U.S. Army soldiers at Fort Dix, N.J. last February, "as far as we know from all the literature that's been published, there hasn't been one case confirmed in the whole world," Erickson reported to chamber members.

Erickson also spoke about the high rate of illegitimate births in Berrien county and particularly Benton Harbor.

There were 125 illegitimate births in Berrien County and in 1960 and 650 in 1975, he said.

He reconfirmed previously published information he gave The Herald-Palladium that 407 children or 52 per cent of those born in Benton Harbor in 1974 were illegitimate. By 1975 the rate had increased to 57.3 per cent, the health administrator

SOUTH HAVEN — Watching the All-Star football game Friday night, July 23, probably helped Mrs. Harold (Patricia) Buck of South Haven win the tricolor award in the artistic category, "Quilting Party," at the South Haven Garden club's 12th annual flower show, July 24.

After the Friday night game, being played in Chicago, was ended because of a torrential rain storm, Mrs. Buck, using a flashlight, went outside and picked the flowers used in her arrangement before the storm hit South Haven.

The tricolor award is given to a blue ribbon winner scoring 95 or higher.

The Wolverine award, given to a blue ribbon winner scoring 95 or higher, went to Mrs. Gail Wagner of Holland, for her entry in the artistic division, "20th Century."

Mrs. William (Millie) Kennedy of Coloma received the Memorial award, also given to a blue ribbon winner scoring 95 or higher, for her entry in the section "Clear, Clean Water," also in the artistic division.

The Loving Cup went to Mrs. Wagner for an entry in the niches section.

Mrs. Lee (Mary) Keirnan, Grand Junction, received an award of merit for a house plant entry, and Harry Greenman, South Haven, received an award of merit for a specimen bloom entry.

Blue ribbon winners in the artistic division, from South Haven, included Mrs. Buck, Mrs. Julie Holbrook, Mrs. John (Arlene) Schiele, Mrs. Marcia Ayres, Mrs. William (Anna) Besener and Mrs. Vernice Cleveland.

Also winning blue ribbons in the artistic division were Mrs. Wagner of Holland, Mrs. Lee (Mary) Keirnan of Grand Junction, and Mrs. Kennedy, Coloma.

Blue ribbon winners in the houseplants section included Mrs. Buck, Mrs. Bertha LaChapelle of South Haven, Harry Greenman of South Haven, Mrs. Keirnan, and Mrs. Schiele.

Mrs. Wagner also received a blue ribbon for her entry in the niches section.

Blue ribbon winners in the specimen blooms included Mrs. Keirnan, Mrs. Mable Wenban, Mrs. Frank (Martha) Warner of Holland, Greenman, Mrs. Grace McKamey of South Haven, Mrs. John (Marjorie) Frost of South Haven, and Mrs. Julie Holbrook, South Haven.

The committee for the show, theme of which was "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," included Mrs. Harry (Helen) Greenman, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Claude (Eileen) Davis, Mrs. LaChapelle, Mrs. Keirnan, Mrs. Schiele, Mrs. Mabel Meyle, Mrs. Elsie Leist, and Mrs. Lester (Marguerite) Stainer.

The event was held at the American Legion home in South Haven.

Liquor Sales On Sunday Was A Major Complaint

Old St. Joseph Documents

Violations of laws in the Village of St. Joseph in the 1830s appear to have been dealt with by village officials, according to documents from those days owned by Ronald Rutz of Warren.

In the documents owned by Rutz, a former St. Joseph resident, selling liquor on Sundays and gambling appear to be the major complaints.

One of the documents reads: "Before us, the president and trustees of said village in the county and territory aforesaid, came William Axel who being duly sworn according to law depose and saith on the twenty-second day of November in the Year of Our Lord Eighteen Hundred and Thirty Five at St. Joseph in the village aforesaid one Robert B. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Teed, 552 South Ottawa, Benton Harbor, were honored at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party July 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zanders, 453 Terrace drive, Benton Harbor.

Hosting the event were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Steve (Michelle) Zanders of Coloma, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Teed of Benton Harbor, and Thomas M., Kathleen and Patrick, all at home.

Thomas Teed and the former Shirley Gregg were married July 28, 1951, in St. Joseph.

Teed is employed as a truck driver for Signal Delivery Service, Inc., St. Joseph. Mrs. Teed is employed as a secretary at the Tech Center of Benton Harbor Area schools.

of Michigan.

In another paper, Duncan had been previously ordered to appear in the office of Calvin Britain to make defense against the charges.

According to Reber's "History of St. Joseph," Duncan later served as village president in 1868.

In another complaint, the Honorable A.S. Arnsden was charged with permitting gambling in his grocery and for selling spirituous liquors on Sunday, "and especially on Sunday," April 28, 1835. Arnsden was the first doctor in town and its first Justice of the Peace.

At that time, Thomas Fitzgerald was the president of the corporation and Thomas Conger was clerk. Fitzgerald was St. Joseph's first attorney, first president of the village, a member of the Legislature, a bank commissioner, Judge of Probate and a United States Senator. He later moved to Niles. Conger married the daughter of Eleazer Morton and moved to Sacramento, Calif., in 1840, where he became a judge.

In still another complaint, grocers Duncan and Wells were charged with permitting gambling in their grocery and for keeping the doors open on Sunday, April 19, 1835.

In January of 1838, Mistess Whitney and Stevens, Amos S. Arnsden, F.H. Stevens, Myron J. Lathrop, John Harris and William Pike were charged with keeping a grocery and dealing with spirituous liquors contrary to the laws of the corporation. They were ordered to appear in the office of Calvin Britain to make defense against said complaint and show cause if any why they should not be dealt with according to the provision of said ordinances.

Britain was the first permanent settler of St. Joseph and prominent in the affairs of the town and later of Benton Harbor. He was a member of the Legislative Council of the Territory, was the first state senator from the county and served as Lieutenant Governor

On a lighter side in July of 1836, a complaint was made by Abel M. Brownell, village marshal, that six hogs belonging to William Axel and Micajah Chauncey were "suffered and permitted to run at liberty in the said village by the said Axel and Chauncey."

The two were commanded to appear before the president and trustees on Aug. 4, 1836, at 3 p.m. in the office of Calvin Britain "to answer said complaint and to be further dealt with according to law."

Accompanying bills showed charges of $3 for the taking up of six hogs on two different occasions and charges of 75 cents for keeping the hogs by A.M. Brownell, poundmaster.

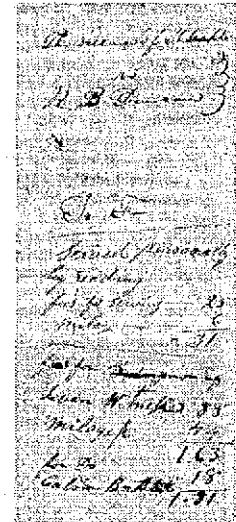

The late Albert E. (Allie) Chauncey of Bridgman, identified Micajah Chauncey as being his grandfather in his book, "Berrien County: A Nineteenth Century Story."

Axel and Chauncey operated a stage line and a log tavern at the foot of State street. Chauncey also operated a ship chandlery store and was the owner of the brig General Thornton.

Legal papers are also among those owned by Rutz.

In February of 1839, the village president Thomas Conger, and trustees of the village promised to pay back a loan of $3,500 with interest to the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Michigan at the St. Joseph banking house.

The papers show that in 1838, Fowler Preston and E.P. Mann were "firmly bound into the president and trustees of the village three thousand dollars lawful money" and two other papers show Fowler Preston and Tolman Wheeler bound into the president and trustees. Both "were signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of I.T. Rogers."

Preston was the first contractor and builder and built the first jail in the county. He served as village marshal, supervisor of the township and county sheriff.

Dr. Tolman Wheeler came to St. Joseph from Niles in 1835 and went into business with John F. Porter in the forwarding and commission business.

'Love Apple' Is Kissing Cousin Of The Potato

Timely Tomatoes Tantalize Tastebuds

The French call it the poivron d'amour, and, in botanical circles, it is known as the "kissing cousin" of the potato. Its American name is tomato, and anyone who has ever tried a hand at gardening knows that it remains one of the greatest gifts the happy gardener can bring to the table.

A native American, the tomato was probably first grown in Peru. Traders took it from there to Mexico, where it was highly prized by the Mayans who carved pictures of the "tomato" (the Spaniards gave it the present day spelling) in stone.

Early explorers in the New World thought the tomato was poisonous since the plant belonged to the nightshade family. When Europe finally accepted the "love apple" and recipes sailed from there to here, North America began to tentatively nibble a little well-cooked tomato.

Today, it's popular in everything from soups to desserts — yes, someone has even created a cherry tomato topping for ice cream. And, it seems, just about everyone is growing and eating them.

Although most people prefer to start with tomato plants from a nursery or supermarket, it is more of a challenge to grow them from seed.

One of the country's major seed producers says the Big Boy hybrid is currently the most popular tomato grown. A sign of the times is the fact that the Big Boy may soon be pushed from the market by the Big Girl! This fine new tomato is more disease resistant than its brother and should be a boon to the home gardener.

Gardens can be planted in any sunny spot, garden or no. There are even a growing number of apartment dwellers who pride themselves on their plots of potted tomatoes; however, one gardener — a famous millionaire — farmed his tiny plot with such zeal that his neighbors asked him to remove the "farm" from his penthouse apartment. So there is a limit to what the city dweller can grow.

Since one plant can produce up to 20 pounds of luscious tomatoes, beginners often ask themselves, "What am I going to do with all these tomatoes?" Beginning and ending the season with green tomatoes, these early or "late" tomatoes can get into such special recipes as Green Tomato Pie and Green Tomato Pickle.

And if green tomatoes are good, then red ones are great. Whether they're served on a kabob, canned as a sauce or stir-fried there's lots of good tomato eating this summer when you try the following recipes.

In large kettle place tomatoes, red pepper, onion, garlic,

parsley, basil, celery, oregano and dried red pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until juices start to flow. Increase heat and cook, stirring

are soft.

Put through food mill. To remove all seed run through a sieve. Place in large open kettle over medium heat. Add salt, corn syrup and vinegar. Cook, stirring occasionally, about one and one-fourth hours or until reduced and thickened. (Some tomatoes contain more water and require more time.)

Ladle into clean hot jars leaving

one-fourth-inch headspace. Wipe

according to jar manufacturer's

directions. Process in boiling water bath 10 minutes. Remove and place on towel or rack. Cool. Label and store in a cool dark place. Makes one and one-half pints.

Three pounds green tomatoes,

thickly sliced

Three large onions, sliced

One-fourth cup salt

One and one-half cups cider

vinegar

One and one-half cups dark

corn syrup

One-half cup firmly packed brown sugar

Three green peppers, sliced

One red pepper, sliced

Two cloves garlic, minced

One stick cinnamon

One and one-half teaspoons

whole cloves

One and one-half teaspoons

dry mustard

One and one-half teaspoons

ground ginger

One-half teaspoon salt

One-half teaspoon celery seed

In large bowl sprinkle tomatoes and onion with one-fourth cup salt. Let stand two hours;

rinse and drain. In large kettle mix together vinegar, corn syrup, sugar, peppers and garlic. Bring to boil over medium heat; add tomato mixture, cinnamon, cloves, salt and celery seed. Boil gently 10 minutes.

Ladle into clean hot jars leaving

one-fourth-inch headspace. Wipe

according to jar manufacturer's

directions. Process in boiling

and place on towel or rack. Cool. Label and store in a cool dark place. Makes four

STIR-FRIED CHICKEN

One-fourth cup dark corn syrup

One-fourth cup water

Two tablespoons soy sauce

Two tablespoons sherry

One tablespoon corn starch

One clove garlic, minced

One-fourth teaspoon ground ginger

Two tablespoons corn oil

Two whole chickens (breasts, boneless, skinned, cut in one-half-inch pieces

Two small tomatoes, cut in wedges

seeded, cut in one-half-inch pieces

In small bowl stir together

corn syrup, water, soy sauce, sherry, corn starch, garlic and ginger. In a large skillet or wok heat corn oil over medium-high

ring occasionally, about three minutes or until chicken is cooked. Stir in tomato and green pepper. Add corn syrup mixture.

Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and boil one minute.

Makes four servings.

GREEN TOMATO PIE

Three large or five medium green tomatoes, halved and cut into one-fourth-inch wedges

(four cups)

One teaspoon salt

One-half cup sugar

One-third cup corn starch

One and one-fourth teaspoons ground nutmeg or mace

One-third cup light corn syrup

Grated rind of one lemon

Two tablespoons lemon juice

One tablespoon margarine

One recipe double crust

In medium bowl sprinkle tomato wedges with salt; set aside. In small saucepan mix together sugar, corn starch and nutmeg. Stir in corn syrup, lemon rind and juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils.

Remove from heat.

Drain tomatoes; arrange in pastry lined pie plate. Pour corn syrup mixture over tomatoes.

Dot with margarine. Make several slits in top crust to permit escape of steam. Cover pie with top crust; seal and flute edge. Bake in 425 degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until tomatoes are tender. Serve hot or cold and if desired, with cheese.

VEGETABLE KABOBS

One-half cup light corn syrup

One-fourth cup corn oil

One-fourth cup cider vinegar

One-fourth cup finely chopped

One tablespoon finely chopped

fresh parsley

One clove garlic, minced

One teaspoon salt

One teaspoon dried basil

leaves

One-eighth teaspoon pepper

Twelve thick carrot slices

Twelve cherry tomatoes

Twelve large mushroom caps

Sixteen thick zucchini slices

In a shallow baking dish stir together corn syrup, corn oil, vinegar, onion, parsley, garlic,

salt, basil and pepper. Cook carrots in boiling water five minutes, or until tender crisp.

Place carrots, cherry tomatoes, mushrooms and zucchini in dish with marinade. Cover and marinate several hours, or overnight.

Beginning and ending with zucchini, thread vegetables alternately on each of four skewers. Broil six inches from source of heat 10 minutes, turning and brushing occasionally with marinade, until tender.

Makes four servings.

ITALIAN TOMATO SAUTE

Four medium-sized tomatoes;

Three tablespoons butter or margarine

One cup sliced celery

One-half cup sliced onion

One clove garlic, minced

Three-fourths teaspoon salt

One teaspoon oregano leaves, crumbled

One-eighth teaspoon ground

black pepper

temperature until fully ripe. Cut each tomato into six to eight wedges; set aside. In a large skillet melt butter. Add celery, onion and garlic; saute for five minutes. Stir in salt, oregano and black pepper; cook and stir

for one minute. Add reserved tomatoes; stir gently over moderate heat just until tomaatoes are hot, about three minutes. Makes six to eight portions.

CINNAMON GLAZED

TOMATOES

Three medium-sized tomatoes;

Six teaspoons butter or margarine, divided

Six teaspoons dark brown

Salt

Ground cinnamon

temperature until fully ripe; cut

each tomato in half crosswise.

amount of the tomato pulp from each half. Dot each half with one teaspoon butter; sprinkle each with one teaspoon brown sugar,

a pinch of salt and a pinch of cinnamon. Stand in a baking pan. Bake in a preheated very hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes. If desired, place under a preheated broiler until slightly browned and glazed, about three minutes. Serve with turkey, chicken or ham. Makes six portions.

Have you been making full use of fresh tomatoes? If the tomatoes you buy are not fully ripened, and they probably will not be unless they are locally

temperature for several days and this will help develop more flavor and tenderness.

You can wrap a tomato in a sheet of newspaper or put it into a brown paper bag to hasten the ripening process. Once ripened, keep them in the vegetable crisper until needed. Tomatoes, of course, make great medley

Timely Tomatoes Tantalize Tastebuds

The French call it the pomme d'amour, and, in botanical circles, it is known as the "kissing cousin" of the potato. Its American name is tomato, and anyone who has ever tried a hand at gardening knows that it remains one of the greatest gifts the happy gardener can bring to the table.

A native American, the tomato was probably first grown in Peru. Traders took it from there to Mexico, where it was highly prized by the Mayans who carved pictures of the "tomatl" (the Spaniards gave it the present day spelling) in stone.

Early explorers in the New World thought the tomato was poisonous since the plant belonged to the nightshade family. When Europe finally accepted the "love apple" and recipes sailed from there to here, North America began to tentatively nibble a little well-cooked tomato.

Today, it's popular in everything from soups to desserts — yes, someone has even created a cherry tomato topping for ice cream. And, it seems, just about everyone is growing and eating them.

Although most people prefer to start with tomato plants from a nursery or supermarket, it is more of a challenge to grow them from seed.

One of the country's major seed producers says the Big Boy hybrid is currently the most popular tomato grown. A sign of the times is the fact that the Big Boy may soon be pushed from the market by the Big Girl! This fine new tomato is more disease resistant than its brother and should be a boon to the home gardener.

Gardens can be planted in any sunny spot, garden or no. There are even a growing number of apartment dwellers who pride themselves on their plots of potted tomatoes; however, one gardener — a famous millionaire — farmed his tiny plot with such zeal that his neighbors asked him to remove the "farm" from his penthouse apartment. So there is a limit to what the city dweller can grow.

Since one plant can produce up to 20 pounds of luscious tomatoes, beginners often ask themselves, "What am I going to do with all these tomatoes?" Beginning and ending the season with green tomatoes, these early or "late" tomatoes can get into such special recipes as Green Tomato Pie and Green Tomato Pickle.

And if green tomatoes are good, then red ones are great. Whether they're served on a kabob, canned as a sauce or stir-fried there's lots of good tomato eating this summer when you try the following recipes.

TOMATO SAUCE

Six pounds red ripe tomatoes, cored, quartered
One sweet red pepper, seeded, quartered
One medium onion, peeled,

quartered

Two cloves garlic, peeled, minced

One-fourth cup fresh parsley, chopped

One-fourth cup fresh basil, chopped

Two ribs celery, cut in one-inch pieces

One-half teaspoon dried oregano leaves

One-eighth teaspoon crushed dried red pepper

One tablespoon salt

One-fourth cup light corn syrup

One-fourth cup white vinegar

In large kettle place tomatoes, red pepper, onion, garlic, parsley, basil, celery, oregano and dried red pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until juices start to flow. Increase heat and cook, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are soft.

Put through food mill. To remove all seed run through a sieve. Place in large open kettle over medium heat. Add salt, corn syrup and vinegar. Cook, stirring occasionally, about one and one-fourth hours or until reduced and thickened. (Some tomatoes contain more water and require more time.)

Ladle into clean hot jars leaving one-fourth-inch headspace. Wipe top edge with damp cloth. Seal according to jar manufacturer's directions. Process in boiling water bath 10 minutes. Remove and place on towel or rack. Cool. Label and store in a cool dark place. Makes one and one-half pints.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLE
Three pounds green tomatoes, thinly sliced
Three large onions, sliced
One-fourth cup salt
One and one-half cups cider vinegar
One and one-half cups dark corn syrup
One-half cup firmly packed brown sugar
Three green peppers, sliced
One red pepper, diced
Two cloves garlic, minced
One stick cinnamon
One and one-half teaspoons whole cloves
One and one-half teaspoons dry mustard
One and one-half teaspoons ground ginger
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon celery seed

In large bowl sprinkle tomatoes and onion with one-fourth cup salt. Let stand two hours; rinse and drain. In large kettle mix together vinegar, corn syrup, sugar, peppers and garlic. Bring to boil over medium heat; add tomato mixture, cinnamon, cloves, mustard, ginger, salt and celery seed. Boil gently 10 minutes.

STIR-FRIED CHICKEN
One-fourth cup dark corn syrup
Two tablespoons soy sauce
Two tablespoons sherry
One tablespoon corn starch
One clove garlic, minced
One-fourth teaspoon ground ginger

Two tablespoons corn oil
Two whole chicken breasts, boned, skinned, cut in one-half-inch pieces

In small bowl stir together corn syrup, water, soy sauce, sherry, corn starch, garlic and ginger. In a large skillet or wok heat corn oil over medium-high heat. Add chicken; cook, stirring occasionally, about three minutes or until chicken is cooked. Stir in tomato and green pepper. Add corn syrup mixture. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and boil one minute. Makes four servings.

GREEN TOMATO PIE
Three large or five medium green tomatoes, halved and cut into one-fourth-inch wedges (four cups)

One teaspoon salt

One-half cup sugar

One-third cup corn starch

One and one-fourth teaspoons ground nutmeg or mace

One-third cup light corn syrup

Two tablespoons lemon juice

One tablespoon margarine

One recipe double crust pastry

In medium bowl sprinkle tomato wedges with salt; set aside. In small saucepan mix together sugar, corn starch and nutmeg. Stir in corn syrup, lemon rind and juice. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Remove from heat.

Drain tomatoes; arrange in pastry lined pie plate. Pour corn syrup mixture over tomatoes. Dot with margarine. Make several slits in top crust to permit escape of steam. Cover pie with top crust; seal and flute edge. Bake in 425 degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until tomatoes are tender. Serve hot or cold and if desired, with cheese.

VEGETABLE KABOBS
One-half cup light corn syrup
One-fourth cup corn oil
One-fourth cup cider vinegar
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion
One tablespoon finely chopped fresh parsley
One clove garlic, minced
One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon dried basil leaves

One-eighth teaspoon pepper
Twelve thick carrot slices
Twelve cherry tomatoes
Twelve large mushroom caps
Sixteen thick zucchini slices

In a shallow baking dish stir together corn syrup, corn oil, vinegar, onion, parsley, garlic, salt, basil and pepper. Cook carrots in boiling water five minutes, or until tender crisp. Drain. Place carrots, cherry tomatoes, mushrooms and zucchini in dish with marinade. Toss to coat vegetables, cover and marinate several hours, or overnight.

Beginning and ending with zucchini, thread vegetables alternately on each of four skewers. Broil six inches from source of heat 10 minutes, turning and brushing occasionally with marinade, until tender. Makes four servings.

ITALIAN TOMATO SAUTE
Four medium-sized tomatoes
Three tablespoons butter or margarine
One cup diced celery
One-half cup sliced onion
One clove garlic, minced
Three-fourths teaspoon salt
One teaspoon oregano leaves, crumbled
One-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper

Hold tomatoes at room temperature until fully ripe. Cut each tomato into six to eight wedges; set aside. In a large skillet melt butter. Add celery, onion and garlic; saute for five minutes. Stir in salt, oregano and black pepper; cook and stir for one minute. Add reserved tomatoes; stir gently over moderate heat just until tomatoes are hot, about three minutes. Makes six to eight portions.

CINNAMON GLAZED TOMATOES
Three medium-sized tomatoes
Six teaspoons butter or margarine, divided
Six teaspoons dark brown sugar, divided
Salt
Ground cinnamon

Hold tomatoes at room temperature until fully ripe; cut each tomato in half crosswise. Carefully scoop out a small amount of the tomato pulp from each half. Dot each half with one teaspoon butter; sprinkle each with one teaspoon brown sugar, a pinch of salt and a pinch of cinnamon. Stand in a baking pan. Bake in a preheated very hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes. If desired, place under a preheated hot broiler until slightly browned and glazed, about three minutes. Serve with turkey, chicken or ham. Makes six portions.

Have you been making full use of fresh tomatoes? If the tomatoes you buy are not fully ripened, and they probably will not be unless they are locally grown, ripen them at room temperature for several days and this will help develop more flavor and tenderness.

You can wrap a tomato in a sheet of newspaper or put it into a brown paper bag to hasten the ripening process. Once ripened, keep them in the vegetable crisper until needed. Tomatoes, of course, make great medley salads but they also are a perfect dish when served stewed or broiled with cheese topping.

TOMATO MEDLEY SALAD
Three medium-sized tomatoes
One green pepper
One cucumber
One-fourth cup herbed Italian salad dressing
One-fourth cup sliced scallions or green onions

Hold tomatoes at room temperature until fully ripe. Cut into one-quarter-inch thick slices; set aside. Slice green pepper into strips and cucumber into thin slices; set aside.

On a large platter arrange tomatoes, green pepper and cucumber in strips. Spoon herbed Italian salad dressing over vegetables. Let marinate for 10 minutes before serving. Sprinkle with scallions. Makes four portions.

HERBED ITALIAN SALAD DRESSING
One teaspoon salt
Three-fourths teaspoon sugar
Three-fourths teaspoon Italian seasoning
One teaspoon minced onion
One clove garlic, minced
One-fourth teaspoon grated lemon peel
One-fourth teaspoon coarse ground black pepper
Two-thirds cup olive or salad oil
One-fourth cup lemon juice or cider vinegar
Two tablespoons water

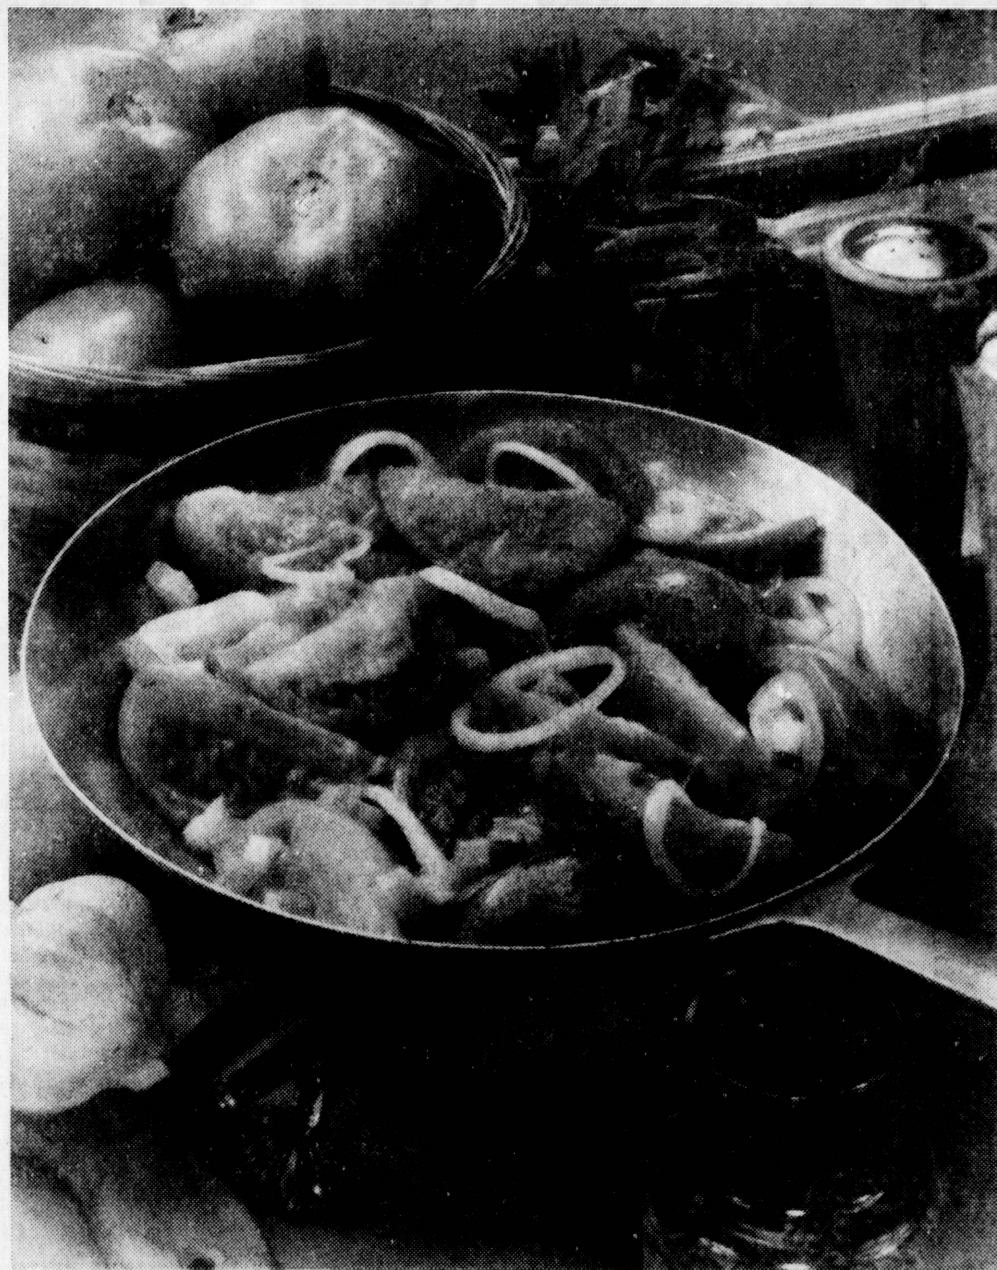

In a container with a tight-fitting lid combine seasoning and oil. Let stand for 10 minutes. Add vinegar and water; mix well. Lightly spoon over Tomato Medley Salad. Refrigerate remaining dressing. Makes about one cup dressing.

SAVORY STEWED FRESH TOMATOES
Two tablespoons butter or margarine
One-fourth cup chopped onion
One-half cup diced green pepper
One tablespoon flour
Two cups chopped fresh tomatoes

One teaspoon salt
One teaspoon sugar
Three slices toasted white bread, cut in one-half-inch squares
In a medium saucepan melt butter. Add onion and green pepper; saute for three minutes. Add flour; cook and stir for one minute. Stir in tomatoes, salt and sugar. Cook and stir until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in half of the toast squares. Pour into a greased one-quart casserole. Top with remaining toast squares. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until hot and bubbly, about 15 minutes. Makes four portions.

BROILED CHEESE-TOPPED TOMATOES
Three large tomatoes
Two tablespoons lemon juice
One teaspoon salt
One-eighth teaspoon ground black pepper

halves with salt and black pepper. Dot each half with one-half teaspoon of the butter. Place under preheated broiler for five minutes. Melt remaining two tablespoons butter. Stir in cheese, bread crumbs and basil; sprinkle over tomatoes. Return to broiler. Brown lightly, about two minutes. Serve on toast rounds. Garnish with anchovies, if desired. Makes six portions.

ITALIAN TOMATO SAUTE

Three tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
One-half cup grated Cheddar cheese
One-half cup soft bread crumbs
Three-fourths teaspoon basil leaves, crumbled
Six rounds hot, buttered toast

Cut tomatoes in half. Place in shallow pan, cut side up. Dribble one teaspoon of the lemon juice over each half. Sprinkle

The Wine Cellar

by Kay & Alan Ritter

Wine tasting is a fine art that is based on simple principles. The art of wine tasting can be reduced to the four S's, See, Sniff, Sip, and Savor. Pour wine into a clear glass and hold it up to the light; the liquid should be clear, not hazy, and its color full and rich, not watery. Second, twist the glass around so that the wine covers the sides, to release its bouquet. Sniff. The aroma should be delicate, fragrant, not harsh. Take a small sip. Savor. Let the wine act on all your taste buds — you will get the full flavor of the particular wine.

If you are planning a wine tasting come by RITTER'S LIQUOR LOCKER, 3872 Red Arrow Hwy., 429-4921 and see our fantastic selection of domestic and imported wines. We have wines in a wide variety of price ranges and our staff will be happy to help you choose just what you need. Open: Mon.-Sat. 10 am - 11 pm, Sun. noon - 9 pm.

WINE WISDOM

Knowledge of wine is a matter of memory, comparison, and developing your own taste.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Glutton In Family?, Try Lock

Dear Ann Landers: I have never seen this in your column. Yet I know many families have the problem.

Everyone sympathizes with an overweight person. They have TOPS, Weight Watchers, Overeaters Anonymous, etc. But what about the families of these gluttons? We must hide cookies, cakes, pies, ice cream and other goodies purchased or baked for guests.

We begin to make a dessert, feeling sure we have all the ingredients on hand. Then we discover the nuts are missing, or the chocolate, or the brown sugar. We plan a grocery list to fit our budgets. Guess who eats for two?

We are told "Fatty" hates himself, that we should be patient and keep mouths shut. The resentment grows.

Physicians don't want to be bothered. They know it's useless unless the patient wants to help himself. The whole family suffers, yet there is no place for the family to turn for counseling. Alcoholics have AA, smokers have clinics, fannies have their self-help groups, but the families of fatties have nowhere to turn. What do you suggest? — Also Victims

Dear Also: A foodaholic is another version of an alcoholic. They must help themselves. Your only protection is the lock and a key.

Herpes I & II

Dear Ann Landers: Twice you have printed information in your column about Herpes Simplex II. I commend you for enlightening the public.

Now, how about a word in defense of women who suffer from Herpes Simplex I, which is not venereal? It, too, may break out in the genital area and is extremely painful. This may occur after a high fever, an upper respiratory infection, menstrual period, emotional upset, a reaction to certain foods, drugs, etc.

The discomfort of the ailment is bad enough without the stigma. It's very unfair to women sufferers who don't play around. Please, Ann Landers. — Equal Time

Dear E.T.: Be my guest. And now I'll say it AGAIN. Herpes Simplex I is NOT venereal and the same can be said of SOME cases of Herpes Simplex II. Thanks for giving me an opportunity to repeat the message.

Ask Her

Dear Ann Landers: I am engaged to a very beautiful, very fine and (I thought) very pure young woman. She comes from a religious, politically conservative family. We've been going together (exclusively) for four years. During all this time we have rarely gotten into heavy petting, much less slept together. Last week my friends threw a rather far-out, raunchy bachelor party for me. There was too much drinking and of course the customary "stag" films.

I could be making a terrible mistake but I swear to God that my lovely, ladylike fiancée was the star performer in one of the films. I know she was a working girl before I met her and pulling down some pretty heavy bread. My question is this: Should I confront her with my suspicions and risk losing her, or should I keep silent and tell myself I've got to be wrong? — Going Nuts

THREE OAKS — Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bucksburg, Schwark road, route 1, Three Oaks, announce the birth of a daughter, Megan Marie, July 19 at their home.

Summer Is Kind To Life

Did Gershwin consult a mortality table when he wrote: "Summertime... and the livin' is easy"? Probably not. But the fact is that the chances of staying alive are better in the summertime than during any other season.

The American Council of Life Insurance notes that the death rate across the nation is substantially lower during July, August and September than any other month of the year.

Deaths due to pneumonia and several other respiratory and infectious diseases run significantly lower in the summer than in the winter months, reports the Council.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Don't let your attention wander today if you're attempting a hazardous task. Better to put it off for a day than to take risks.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Without realizing it, you could be arrogant today. If you come on too strong, you'll probably rub people the wrong way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Conditions at home will be a little more incendiary than usual today. If you watch what you say and do, you won't be the one to kindle the flame.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If you do business today with those whose ethics are less honorable than your own, you'll lose out. They won't hesitate to cheat.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
In situations where you should be assertive today, you may tend to hold back. If boldness is called for, move in on things.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
Don't make snide comments about a friend you're perturbed at. The problem will soon pass, but if he heard what you said, it's all over.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Your image is rather fragile today. Chances are you'll be blamed for something you didn't do. Don't use that as an excuse to kick off the traces.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Although you may harbor many negative thoughts today, don't give in to them or you'll not even try to accomplish anything.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Partnership situations could be a very delicate area for you, even if you're dealing with allies of long standing. Tread cautiously.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Don't sidestep the tough decisions today. Face up to and handle them before they grow out of proportion.

Your Birthday

Christian Women Luncheon
August 5

Erma Bombeck Tennis Tricks Improve Game

The Christian Women's club will hold a luncheon-meeting Thursday, Aug. 5, at 12:30 p.m. at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

Theme of the luncheon will be "Stitch and Rip." Home-made fashions will be modeled by members and their daughters. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Enoch Olson. She and her husband are directors of Spring Hill Camp at Evart.

Miss Betty Knickerbocker of Watervliet will be guest soloist. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Harold Knickerbocker.

Christian Women's club is non-denominational. All area women are invited. Reservations should be made by Monday, Aug. 2, by contacting Mrs. Darrell Plett of Benton Harbor. Cancellations should be made prior to the luncheon.

Nursery facilities for preschool children will be available from noon to 3 p.m. at the First Assembly of God, Benton Harbor.

So many people have been asking me if I am playing better tennis this year.

Mainly, they have been the people who played me last year. I am happy to report that although my form is much the same, I have picked up a few tricks of the court that I have seen professionals use, which is bound to improve my game.

I have finally mastered what to do with the second tennis ball. Having small hands, I was becoming terribly self-conscious about keeping it in a can in the car while I served the first one. I noted some women tucked the second ball just inside the elastic leg of their tennis pants. I tried, but found the space already occupied by a leg. Now I simply drop the second ball down my cleavage, giving me a chest that often stuns my opponent throughout an entire set.

Next, I have learned how to stall, thus throwing my entire opponent's game off. It's called the old tie-the-shoe-trick. When your opponent is ready to serve, simply drop to your knees, untie your shoe, rearrange its tongue, and tie it again. Baseball players use the old stall all the time. (Cincinnati Reds pitcher Pat Zachry recently swallowed his chewing tobacco and threw up against a dugout wall. I haven't mastered at what hour I can throw up. Sometimes, it is during a return.)

Another play is the rearrange-the-strings number. Never take the rap for a bad return or no return. Whenever you hit a ball into the net or miss it entirely, bring the game to a grinding halt by checking the strings of your racket, spending sometimes as much as five minutes separating them and testing their strength. This absolves you of any of the responsibility for a bad shot.

Forget all you have been told about concentration. It is overrated. Often, when there is time during one of my lobs, I yell across the net, "Your zipper is open," and have not only been ignored, but soundly punished for my good deed.

Probably my greatest accomplishment this year has been my skill at learning to play the game called, "Run Around the Backhand."

Early in my tennis career, I used to think when a ball landed to the left of me I had to use my backhand to return it. I have since learned that anything is better, including straddling a 15-foot cyclone fence.

No doubt about it — every day in every way, my game grows stronger. I saw one enthusiast the other day playing with his racket out of the press. I'll have to try that.

Keep Vacuum Working

Some service calls for a vacuum cleaner can be avoided, if the appliance is used and cared for properly. Cleaning efficiency will also be assured.

Pick up hard or sharp objects from surfaces by hand, before using a vacuum. Such items may damage the belt or hose, or puncture the dust bag. Be sure the dust bag is not full; a clean one provides better cleaning and puts less strain on the motor. Read the owners' manual for tips on replacing disposable bags or for cleaning cloth bags. Nozzle height should be properly adjusted for the rug pile. Keep rotating brushes clean. Long threads and hair become entangled around the cylinder. To remove them more easily, clip in several places.

Occasionally, give the appliance a good cleaning, recommends The Soap and Detergent Association. Be sure it is unplugged. Wipe hose, bag exterior and casing with a sudsy-dampened sponge or cloth. Remove brushes and sponge out any dust or dirt in the nozzle. Open and remove the dust bag of a canister type. Wipe out excess dust and grit; wash the cavity with a sudsy sponge. Clean or replace the filter.

Allow parts to dry thoroughly before reassembling. Clean attachments for special cleaning chores — a stiff brush for walls and floors, upholstery nozzle, crevice tool — by washing in warm suds; rinse and dry thoroughly.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have tried every way to stop smoking, with no result. Are there any drugs that are scientifically accepted that will help me? — Mrs. E.S.G., Miami.

Dear Mrs. G.: It is accepted that smoking tobacco has two important factors. There undoubtedly is some physiologic or body-dependence on the drug contained in tobacco. There are also psychologic and social values attached to the smoking habit.

With these forces at work, it is understandable that some people may find it impossible to give up this hazardous habit. All kinds of drugs have been tried with little or no success. Most of these over-the-counter drugs enter to the desperation of people who are caught in the bondage of tobacco.

Recently, however, the American Health Foundation, in conjunction with the National Cancer Institute, has begun an intense study on antismoking drugs. Special chemicals, are being tried to reduce the "pleasant" effects of nicotine. This large-scale study, in addition to re-education and psychological support, may yet be the answer to helping heavy smokers withdraw from their addiction.

I have had two attacks of quinsy sore throat. When I am sick I can't wait to have my tonsils taken out. When I recover, I'm terrified to do it. No one seems to help me out of this dilemma. — Miss F.R., Miami.

Dear Miss R.: The dilemma that you are in is self-made. And you are not alone in such behavior.

Many people go on from one quinsy sore throat to another, unnecessarily suffering the agony of this painful condition.

This is foolish, because once the tonsils have been removed the possibility of a quinsy, or peritonsillar abscess, no longer exists.

A quinsy sore throat is a collection of pus around the tonsil, between the tonsil and the sheath that surrounds it. One attack of quinsy may not necessarily predispose a person to another. Yet the chances are great for another attack. This is based on the fact that the tonsils are fundamentally diseased and are more susceptible to the extension of infection.

Anyone who has ever had a quinsy sore throat knows how painful it can be, especially if the abscess is incised and drained. The discomfort of a tonsillectomy is far less than the pain of one attack of quinsy sore throat.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Glutton In Family?, Try Lock

Dear Ann Landers: I have never seen this in your column. Yet I know many families have the problem.

Everyone sympathizes with an overweight person. They have TOPS, Weight Watchers, Overeaters Anonymous, etc. But what about the families of these gluttons? We must hide cookies, cakes, pies, ice cream and other goodies purchased or baked for guests.

We begin to make a dessert, feeling sure we have all the ingredients on hand. Then we discover the nuts are missing, or the chocolate, or the brown sugar. We plan a grocery list to fit our budgets. Guess who eats for two?

We are told "Fatty" hates himself, that we should be patient and keep mouths shut. The resentment grows.

Physicians don't want to be bothered. They know it's useless unless the patient wants to help himself. The whole family suffers, yet there is no place for the family to turn for counseling. Alcoholics have AA, smokers have clinics, fannies have their self-help groups, but the families of fatties have nowhere to turn. What do you suggest? — Also Victims

Dear Also: A foodaholic is another version of an alcoholic. They must help themselves. Your only protection is the lock and a key.

Herpes I & II

Dear Ann Landers: Twice you have printed information in your column about Herpes Simplex II. I commend you for enlightening the public.

Now, how about a word in defense of women who suffer from Herpes Simplex I, which is not venereal? It, too, may break out in the genital area and is extremely painful. This may occur after a high fever, an upper respiratory infection, menstrual period, emotional upset, a reaction to certain foods, drugs, etc.

The discomfort of the ailment is bad enough without the stigma. It's very unfair to women sufferers who don't play around. Please, Ann Landers. — Equal Time

Dear E.T.: Be my guest. And now I'll say it AGAIN. Herpes Simplex I is NOT venereal and the same can be said of SOME cases of Herpes Simplex II. Thanks for giving me an opportunity to repeat the message.

Ask Her

Dear Ann Landers: I am engaged to a very beautiful, very fine and (I thought) very pure young woman. She comes from a religious, politically conservative family. We've been going together (exclusively) for four years. During all this time we have rarely gotten into heavy petting, much less slept together. Last week my friends threw a rather far-out, raunchy bachelor party for me. There was too much drinking and of course the customary "stag" films.

I could be making a terrible mistake but I swear to God that my lovely, ladylike fiancée was the star performer in one of the films. I know she was a working girl before I met her and pulling down some pretty heavy bread.

My question is this: Should I confront her with my suspicions and risk losing her, or should I keep silent and tell myself I've got to be wrong? — Going Nuts

ANN LANDERS

In Gainesville.

Dear Going Nuts: Ask her — flat out. If she says "No," apologize for your vote of no confidence and put the matter out of your head. If she says "yes," you've got a whole new set of problems to deal with, Brother. Good luck.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead — 3 ♠

West wasn't proud of his opening bid and saw little chance to beat South's three-trump contract. The only real hope would be to find his partner with the queen of clubs so a club lead was indicated and West led his fifth best — the three spot. He didn't think it would do any harm to fool his partner; it might help a lot to fool declarer.

South ducked the first club, but had to win the second. Then he ran off dummy's five diamonds. West had to make four discards and they gave him no apparent problem. He chuckled the eight and four of spades, then the deuce of hearts and finally the deuce of clubs.

The moment of truth had arrived for South. If West had opened a genuine fourth best he was holding one spade, two hearts and three clubs and a spade lead would bring home three notrump.

If West had made the tricky lead of fifth-best club he was clearly holding the singleton king of hearts and the ace of hearts play would be the winner.

You can see all the cards South couldn't. He led a spade and was one down.

Ask the Jacobys

A Montana reader wants to know what she should bid with:

♠ K 10 x x ♥ Q x x x ♦ J 10 x x ♣ 10. She was sitting South. West, the dealer, had opened one spade; North, her partner, bid two clubs; and East had passed.

This is an easy one. She should pass. She isn't happy with two clubs, but any bid would probably lead to real disaster.

Summer Is Kind To Life

Did Gershwin consult a mortality table when he wrote: "Summertime . . . and the livin' is easy"? Probably not. But the fact is that the chances of staying alive are better in the summertime than during any other season.

The American Council of Life Insurance notes that the death rate across the nation is substantially lower during July, August and September than any other month of the year.

Deaths due to pneumonia and several other respiratory and infectious diseases run significantly lower in the summer than in the winter months, reports the Council.

Viking Ordered To Probe Martian Soil

AP Science Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1's robot was ordered to lay its iron hand on Mars for the first time today, digging up a bit of soil in an attempt to discover if life exists — or ever existed — on the Red Planet.

A 10-foot telescoping arm with a shovel-like hand was to extend with a creaky, whirring noise and delve into the red dirt several times.

The soil gathering was set to begin at about 4:30 a.m. EDT on commands of the computer on-board the robot lander. But scientists on earth would not know until later today when pictures of the digging area were beamed to earth whether the command was in fact given or whether the mechanical arm had done its work.

The complex automated laboratory aboard Viking which receives the samples is expected to determine within a few weeks if any native life forms, no matter how tiny, are present.

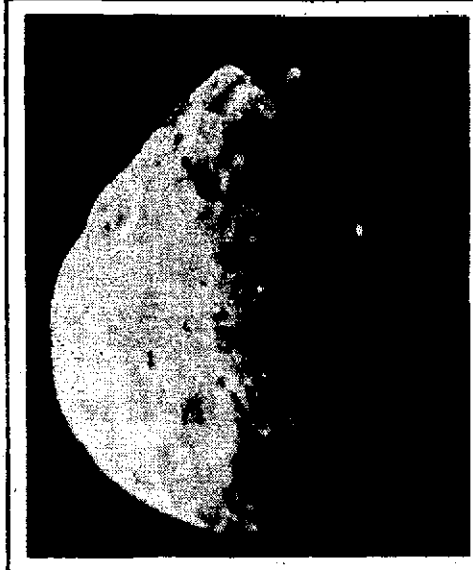

The landing of Viking on Mars a week ago was a milestone in itself, but the pouring of dirt into the miniature "rooms" of Viking's laboratory has even greater import. It marks the first time science has reached into another planet's crust to look for life.

Russ Chess Champ Is Seeking Asylum

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Soviet chess grandmaster Viktor Korchnoi, rated No. 2 in the world, dodged a flight home Tuesday and applied for political asylum in the Netherlands, police reported.

The 45-year-old Korchnoi is rated just behind world champion Anatoly Karpov, also of the Soviet Union, among players currently competing on the international chess circuit.

He joins a long list of Soviet scholars, writers, dancers, musicians and others who have defected, emigrated, or been sent into exile since World War II. Dissident historian Andrei Amalrik arrived here July 15 to begin exile in the West.

Instead of flying to Frankfurt en route to the Soviet Union after a tournament here, Korchnoi called at the aliens department of Amsterdam police headquarters Tuesday morning to lodge his request, police said. He spent an hour with police officials before leaving.

"Mr. Korchnoi asked for political asylum and we have relayed his request to the Justice Ministry in The Hague," a police spokesman said. "Meanwhile, he is free to go where he wishes."

A Justice Ministry spokesman said the application would be ruled on within two weeks. He said the grandmaster's reasons for defecting were not known.

Korchnoi was censured by the Soviet Chess Federation for remarks he made about Karpov after the match. He had said in an interview after the 3-2 loss that Karpov had an "extremely poor chess arsenal."

Lobbyist's Wife Is Damman Fund-Raising Unit Treasurer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A business organization called "Friends of James J. Damman" is collecting money for the lieutenant governor, and its treasurer is the wife of a longtime Lansing figure and lobbyist.

"It's an office-holder's fund and that's it," Damman said of the organization. Papers filed under state law list Patricia Hettiger of Okemos as treasurer. She is wife of William N. Hettiger, former executive secretary to Gov. William Milliken and now an influential lobbyist.

Candidates Unknown In Muskegon

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — The eight men running for the U.S. Senate nomination may want to consider spending more time in Muskegon before the Aug. 3 primary. The Muskegon Chronicle surveyed 45 persons at random to see how many Senate candidates they could name. Forty of those interviewed were unable to name any of the eight office seekers. One person could name four, another cited three candidates and a third named two.

Robert Wilmoth, a Detroit attorney who advised Damman when questions were raised about Troy land deals before the 1974 election, is the fund's chairman, said David Hayhow, Damman's chief assistant.

Mrs. Hettiger became treasurer of the fund as a favor to Damman, a longtime family friend, when it was established last March, Hayhow said Tuesday.

Hettiger, a Democrat-turned-Republican, has been in and out of government for years.

Milliken named him director of the Department of Administration in 1970 and a few months later moved him into the inner sanctum as gubernatorial executive secretary.

Before his resignation from government in January, 1975, Hettiger was closely linked with Dr. Leon S. Fill, owner of a string of Detroit hospitals at a time the hospitals were receiving millions of dollars in Medicaid funds. Hettiger denied he had any direct operation of the hospitals.

Several weeks ago, Hettiger's name appeared in a court suit filed by Dr. Fill asking that Hettiger be relieved of his duties as chairman of the board of the hospitals.

Early this year, Hettiger formally filed as a lobbyist for small loan companies, horse racing, the Wayne County Road Commission and other interests.

Viking Ordered To Probe Martian Soil

AP Science Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1's robot was ordered to lay its iron hand on Mars for the first time today, digging up a bit of soil in an attempt to discover if life exists — or ever existed — on the Red Planet.

A 10-foot telescoping arm with a shovel-like hand was to extend with a creaky, whirring noise and delve into the red dirt several times.

The soil gathering was set to begin at about 4:30 a.m. EDT on commands of the computer on-board the robot lander. But scientists on earth would not know until later today when pictures of the digging area were beamed to earth whether the command was in fact given or whether the mechanical arm had done its work.

The complex automated laboratory aboard Viking which receives the samples is expected to determine within a few weeks if any native life forms, no matter how tiny, are present.

The landing of Viking on Mars a week ago was a milestone in itself, but the pouring of dirt into the miniature "rooms" of Viking's laboratory has even greater import. It marks the first time science has reached into another planet's crust to look for life.

Although no movie cameras were aboard Viking to record the historic sample digging, a film of a duplicate lander at Jet Propulsion Laboratory carrying out the process showed how it is done.

The telescoping arm snakes out of a gold-painted housing on the side of Viking. The arm is a tube about an inch and a half in diameter, tipped with a sharp-edged tool for digging.

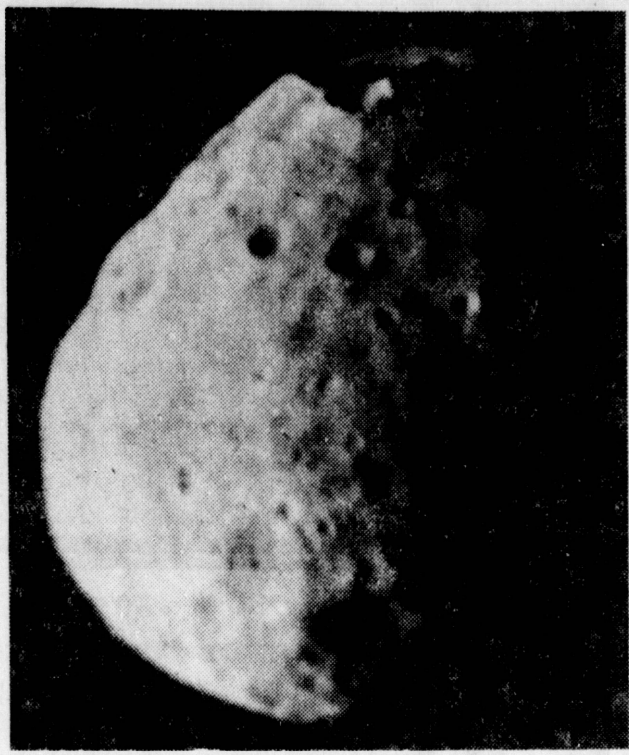

Touching the red-varnished soil, the scoop plows beneath the surface, pressing with a 30-pound force if necessary. Quickly, a cover snaps shut over the hand-sized dirt sample.

With another whirring noise, the arm retracts and swivels to position the little shovel — actually called the collector head — over a silvery funnel leading to the biology lab inside Viking.

A rapid shaking of the collector head sifts the dirt through small holes into the funnel. About a teaspoon full of dirt is needed for the biology experiment. A sensor inside says whether the right amount is there, and if not, the arm is ordered to dig again until sufficient dirt is obtained.

Two other experiments also need Martian dirt, and the mechanical arm repeats the digging until they, too, are satisfied. Those experiments are also located under funnels on top of the lander. One experiment uses an instrument called a gas chromatograph mass spectrometer to search the soil for organic compounds.

A Tiny Moon For Mars

Here's first Viking Orbiter 1 picture of Phobos, a satellite of Mars, and it shows a heavily cratered side of Phobos that was not viewed by Mariner 9. North is at the top of the picture.

Large crater near the North pole is approximately 3 miles across, while craters as small as a few hundred meters can be seen.

Phobos' diameter when viewed from this angle is about 14 miles. (AP Wirephoto)

Russ Chess Champ Is Seeking Asylum

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Soviet chess grandmaster Viktor Korchnoi, rated No. 2 in the world, dodged a flight home Tuesday and applied for political asylum in the Netherlands, police reported.

The 45-year-old Korchnoi is rated just behind world champion Anatoly Karpov, also of the Soviet Union, among players currently competing on the international chess circuit.

He joins a long list of Soviet scholars, writers, dancers, musicians and others who have defected, emigrated, or been sent into exile since World War II. Dissident historian Andrei Amalrik arrived here July 15 to begin exile in the West.

Instead of flying to Frankfurt en route to the Soviet Union after a tournament here, Korchnoi called at the aliens department of Amsterdam police headquarters Tuesday morning to lodge his request, police said. He spent an hour with police officials before leaving.

"Mr. Korchnoi asked for political asylum and we have relayed his request to the Justice Ministry in The Hague," a police spokesman said. "Meanwhile, he is free to go where he wishes."

A Justice Ministry spokesman said the application would be ruled on within two weeks. He said the grandmaster's reasons for defecting were not known.

Korchnoi was censured by the Soviet Chess Federation for remarks he made about Karpov after the match. He had said in an interview after the 3-2 loss that Karpov had an "extremely poor chess arsenal."

Lobbyist's Wife Is Damman Fund-Raising Unit Treasurer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A business organization called "Friends of James J. Damman" is collecting money for the lieutenant governor, and its treasurer is the wife of a longtime Lansing figure and lobbyist.

"It's an office-holder's fund and that's it," Damman said of the organization. Papers filed under state law list Patricia Hettiger of Okemos as treasurer. She is wife of William N. Hettiger, former executive secretary to Gov. William Milliken and now an influential lobbyist.

Robert Wilmoth, a Detroit attorney who advised Damman when questions were raised about Troy land deals before the 1974 election, is the fund's chairman, said David Hayhow, Damman's chief assistant.

Mrs. Hettiger became treasurer of the fund as a favor to Damman, a longtime family friend, when it was established last March, Hayhow said Tuesday.

Hettiger, a Democrat - turned - Republican, has been in and out of government for years.

Milliken named him director of the Department of Administration in 1970 and a few months later moved him into the inner sanctum as gubernatorial executive secretary.

Before his resignation from government in January, 1975, Hettiger was closely linked with Dr. Leon S. Fill, owner of a string of Detroit hospitals at a time the hospitals were receiving millions of dollars in Medicaid funds. Hettiger denied he had any direct operation of the hospitals.

Several weeks ago, Hettiger's name appeared in a court suit filed by Dr. Fill asking that Hettiger be relieved of his duties as chairman of the board of the hospitals.

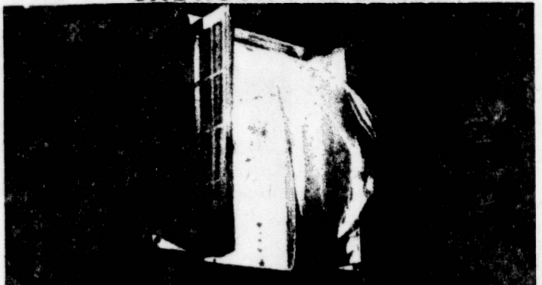

Early this year, Hettiger formally filed as a lobbyist for small loan companies, horse racing, the Wayne County Road Commission and other interests.

Candidates Unknown In Muskegon

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — The eight men running for the U.S. Senate nomination may want to consider spending more time in Muskegon before the Aug. 3 primary. The Muskegon Chronicle surveyed 45 persons at random to see how many Senate candidates they could name. Forty of those interviewed were unable to name any of the eight office seekers. One person could name four, another cited three candidates and a third named two.

Ford Aiming For Reaganites Glum On Schweiker

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is aiming a two-pronged attack at Ronald Reagan's conservative Southern supporters, hoping to snare GOP delegates disenchanted with Reagan's choice of a liberal Northeastern senator as a running mate.

Reagan leaders in Mississippi said Tuesday they feared the Ford strategy might succeed in their state. And Ford backers were gleefully suggesting there could be dramatic changes almost at once.

Doug Shanks, Ford's Mississippi chairman, said there have been switches from Reagan to Ford, suggesting there are enough to move the delegation behind Ford. "We picked up more people ... and Wednesday there will be announcements of enough to do it," he said.

White House officials also indicated they expected an announcement today about the Mississippi delegation.

If Ford captures the state's 30 uncommitted votes, he would be within five delegates of the 1,130 he needs for the nomination at the Kansas City convention next month.

Reagan's selection of Sen. Richard Schweiker for vice president did shake a bare handful of Pennsylvania delegates — previously counted as Ford backers — into the uncommitted ranks.

But those switches were partially offset by an uncommitted South Carolina delegate coming out for Ford and one Reagan delegate from Colorado saying he is now uncommitted.

Ford now has 1,065 delegates legally bound and publicly committed to him, while Reagan has 1,024, the continuing Associated Press delegate survey shows. The remaining 141 are uncommitted.

The first thrust of Ford's counterattack was endorsement by former Texas Gov. John Connally, long a favorite of many Reagan supporters.

"I think it's quite clear between the two men that the President is unmistakably the better choice, not only for the party but for the country," Connally said.

Connally, a former Nixon administration official, was the first choice for vice president of Reagan delegates expressing an opinion, the AP delegate survey found.

Ford's second line of attack is a visit to Mississippi on Friday. Ford Press Secretary Ron Nessen said that, as far as he knew, the trip had no relation to the effect of the Schweiker decision.

The Mississippi delegation has been considered a Reagan stronghold, but the week's events may have shattered that solidarity, Reagan backers said.

W.D. Moulter Sr., Reagan's Mississippi campaign director, said the choice of Schweiker is causing problems.

"It makes our job a lot tougher. Right now people are basically holding the line, but there could be movement," he said Tuesday.

If Ford picks Connally as a running mate, Moulter said it would be "immeasurably difficult" for Reagan to carry the state delegation.

Clarke Reed, the head of the delegation, said he does not believe a Ford majority has emerged. "Surely it has hurt Reagan," Reed said. "But as far as how much, I don't know. Most delegates are confused, but not ready to make a decision. And with some it's an ebb-and-flow thing — after the first shock, some are moving back to Reagan."

As Republicans continued their battle to decide on a nominee, the Democratic ticket spent the day in briefings on economic issues.

Jimmy Carter and Sen. Walter Mondale talked in Plains, Ga., with a busload of experts about the nation's economic prospects.

Ford, appearing with Connally outside the White House, did not publicly change his stance on Connally as a possible running mate. "The future will speak for itself," Ford said. "I don't exclude any potential Republicans."

Reagan also lost the support of two leading conservative Republican spokesmen — Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio and Gov. Meldrim Thomson of New Hampshire. And there was an indication that Joseph Coors, a longtime Reagan backer, might be reconsidering his position.

Jack Wilson, a Reagan delegate from Colorado, announced Tuesday that he was going to the convention uncommitted, saying he had been "betrayed" by Reagan's choice of Schweiker. Wilson, director of government affairs for the Coors brewery, said Reagan campaign manager John Sears has misled Reagan into picking Schweiker.

Wilson said Coors, a leading financial backer of conservative causes, had been informed of his decision. Coors, also a delegate, had no comment on the GOP race Tuesday.

A New York delegate and two others in Pennsylvania who had been for Ford said they are now uncommitted as a result of the Schweiker move. They joined another Pennsylvanian who had done the same Monday.

Dr. Inez Eddings, a South Carolina uncommitted who had leaned to Reagan, said she is now for Ford because she could not accept Reagan going "to that extreme end of the spectrum, to choose someone on the other end of the scale."

Ashbrook, the conservative who ran against Richard Nixon for the GOP nomination in 1972, said he has stopped working for Reagan.

"Reagan has lost a great amount of credibility and has made a very bad mistake," Ashbrook said. "The choice of Schweiker is more apt to cost him the nomination than to give it to him. If Reagan does get the nomination, I'll support him but I'll no longer work for him."

Thomson, once a fervent Reagan backer, called the choice of Schweiker a "crass political maneuver. I will not assist in setting this opportunistic team to Republican delegates."

Another favorite for vice president listed by Reagan delegates, Rep. Philip M. Crane of Illinois, said Schweiker was "ultraliberal" and that he could support him.

IN FORD'S CORNER: Former Texas Gov. John Connally faces newsmen outside White House Tuesday with President Ford after they met for talks inside the Executive Mansion. Connally, long a favorite of many Ronald Reagan supporters, said he was in full support of Ford for the Republican presidential nomination. (AP Wirephoto)

Reagan's Pick 'Brilliant,' Says Michigan Aide

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A top official in Ronald Reagan's state delegation said Tuesday the choice of liberal Richard Schweiker as a running mate was a "brilliant" political move.

But, said John Gnaul, Reagan's state finance chairman, he is unsure how other Reagan delegates will feel about the choice of the Pennsylvania senator, generally tagged as the most liberal Republican in the U.S. Senate.

And, in a previous poll of Reagan's 29-member delegation, none picked Schweiker as their top choice for Reagan's vice president.

Reagan stunned Republican circles Monday by naming Schweiker as his running mate if he wins the GOP nomination at the national convention in Kansas City next month. Critics said it was a desperation move to garner delegate votes in the face of a probable victory by President Ford.

Gnaul, disagreeing, said the move achieved three things.

"First, we've eliminated the fear and worry of how to get the liberal side of the Republicans in November," he said. "Second, it's got to help him (Reagan) with some of the uncommitted delegates. And third, it puts Ford right in the middle on a choice of a running mate — he might have to name his running mate now, too."

Gnaul acknowledged, however, that he is one of the most moderate Reagan delegates in Michigan.

"I'm delighted, but I don't know how the others are reacting," he said. He added that he hoped they accepted Reagan's judgment.

State Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, Reagan's state campaign manager and chairman of the delegation, could not be reached for comment.

An Associated Press survey of Reagan delegates after their selection showed that none named Schweiker as their choice for vice president. Ten of the 29 said they were uncommitted, four picked Ford himself, and three chose John Connally of Texas.

Two each chose New York conservative Republican Sen. James Buckley and North Carolina Congressman Jesse Helms, and the remainder were split, one each leaning toward eight delegates. Michigan delegates are bound to Reagan through two ballots in Kansas City, so the choice of Schweiker has little effect on the Michigan delegation. Fifty-five Michigan delegates are committed to Ford for at least two ballots. There are no uncommitted delegates.

Coloma-Watervliet RR Tracks Topic Of Meeting Tomorrow

WATERVLIET — A meeting to discuss conditions of railroad tracks in the Coloma-Watervliet area will be held here at noon Thursday, July 29, according to Watervliet Mayor Arvid Frazier.

Frazier said the meeting has been arranged by State Rep. Bela Kennedy. A representative at the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad is to attend.

Frazier said Coloma Mayor Glenn Randall has also been asked to attend.

Frazier said an inspection of the rails will be made following the luncheon meeting.

Frazier has been critical of the railroad track conditions both before and after a major train derailment June 14 in the downtown section of Watervliet.

Mayor Randall last year was also critical of rail conditions in the Coloma area.

Engineering Students On U-M Dean's List

ANN ARBOR — Six students from southwestern Michigan have been named to the dean's list for the winter term semester at the college of engineering at the University of Michigan here.

The six are Gary Dansfield and John Thomas, both St. Joseph; Gregory Harrison and Gregory Robertson, both of Niles; Richard Lynn, New Buffalo; and Anita Hawks, Cassopolis.

"Reagan has lost a great amount of credibility and has made a very bad mistake," Ashbrook said. "The choice of Schweiker is more apt to cost him the nomination than to give it to him. If Reagan does get the nomination, I'll support him but I'll no longer work for him."

Thomson, once a fervent Reagan backer, called the choice of Schweiker a "crass political maneuver. I will not assist in selling this opportunistic team to Republican delegates."

Another favorite for vice president listed by Reagan delegates, Rep. Philip M. Crane of Illinois, said Schweiker was "ultraliberal" and that he could support him.

Reagan's Pick 'Brilliant,' Says Michigan Aide

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A top official in Ronald Reagan's state delegation said Tuesday the choice of liberal Richard Schweiker as a running mate was a "brilliant" political move.

But, said John Gnau, Reagan's state finance chairman, he is unsure how other Reagan delegates will feel about the choice of the Pennsylvania senator, generally tagged as the most liberal Republican in the U.S. Senate.

And, in a previous poll of Reagan's 29-member delegation, none picked Schweiker as their top choice for Reagan's vice president.

Reagan stunned Republican circles Monday by naming Schweiker as his running mate if he wins the GOP nomination at the national convention in Kansas City next month. Critics said it was a desperation move to garner delegate votes in the face of a probable victory by President Ford.

Gnau, disagreeing, said the move achieved three things.

"First, we've eliminated the fear and worry of how to get the liberal side of the Republicans in November," he said.

"Second, it's got to help him (Reagan) with some of the uncommitted delegates. And third, it puts Ford right in the middle on a choice of a running mate — he might have to name his running mate now, too."

Gnau acknowledged, however, that he is one of the most moderate Reagan delegates in Michigan.

"I'm delighted, but I don't know how the others are reacting," he said. He added that he hoped they accepted Reagan's judgment.

State Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, Reagan's state campaign manager and chairman of the delegation, could not be reached for comment.

An Associated Press survey of Reagan delegates after their selection showed that none named Schweiker as their choice for vice president. Ten of the 29 said they were uncommitted, four picked Ford himself, and three chose John Connolly of Texas.

Two each chose New York conservative Republican Sen. James Buckley and North Carolina Congressman Jesse Helms, and the remainder were split, one each leaning toward eight delegates.

Michigan delegates are bound to Reagan through two ballots in Kansas City, so the choice of Schweiker has little effect on the Michigan delegation. Fifty-five Michigan delegates are committed to Ford for at least two ballots. There are no uncommitted delegates.

Coloma-Watervliet RR Tracks Topic Of Meeting Tomorrow

WATERVLIET — A meeting to discuss conditions of railroad tracks in the Coloma-Watervliet area will be held here at noon Thursday, July 29, according to Watervliet Mayor Arvid Frazier.

Frazier said the meeting has been arranged by State Rep. Bela Kennedy. A representative at the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad is to attend.

Frazier said Coloma Mayor Glenn Randall has also been asked to attend.

Frazier said an inspection of the rails will be made following the luncheon meeting.

Frazier has been critical of the railroad track conditions both before and after a major train derailment June 14 in the downtown section of Watervliet.

Mayor Randall last year was also critical of rail conditions in the Coloma area.

Chicago Designer Kills 3 Fellow Workers, Self

CHICAGO (AP) — A "stable, friendly, hard-working" toy designer took a gun to work, killed three persons, shot two more and then killed himself. Police found notes on his body indicating he thought his coworkers were plotting to destroy him.

"Paranoia?" read one note. "No. Now you will know why I am doing all this."

Police said Tuesday that Albert Keller, 33, recently complained to his supervisor that he felt unappreciated in his job. The supervisor told police he thought he had convinced Keller his work was valued.

In addition to himself, Keller killed two partners of Marvin Glass & Associates and another designer. One employee was hospitalized in guarded condition and another in satisfactory condition.

Keller was a husband and father. Friends and employers later described him as friendly and compassionate. A neighbor said he "cared about people." And a spokesman for the firm said he was "a well-liked, stable, friendly, hard-working, creative designer."

Police, however, said that

Keller was "going through a terrible mental process. He just wrote all kinds of names down — anyone who looked at him wrong — and license numbers."

A note hidden in the designer's sock indicated he originally intended to kill 14 persons, including the victims, authorities said.

Keller's wife reportedly told police that her husband left home in the morning with a .38mm pistol and told her, "Someone at work is trying to kill me, but everything will be okay."

Burton Meyer, an employee whom Keller shot at twice but missed, later said that when he first saw the pistol, he thought it was a toy.

Ironically, the company hasn't designed a gun in years. "The company has had a publicly avowed position since 1962 of not designing guns or war toys of any type," said a spokesman.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission's new $1.5-billion increase in the nation's gas bill faces immediate challenge from consumer advocates, who call it too high and too hasty.

Energy Action, a consumer organization, planned to ask the commission and the U.S. Court of Appeals not only for reconsideration of the rate hike, but also to stop it from taking effect in the meantime.

The FPC announced on Tuesday it was increasing the nationwide ceiling prices for natural gas in sales by producers to interstate pipelines. The impact of the rate hike on natural gas consumers was expected to vary according to weather, distance from gas-producing areas and other factors. However, the average annual residential gas bill would go up 8 per cent or $15.60, according to some estimates.

Following the FPC decision, Energy Action said its plans to appeal and said other consumer groups and some state regulators may join it.

Already in their favor is the dissenting opinion of FPC commissioner Don S. Smith, who said the new ceiling price schedule is too high and is not justified by the cost of producing gas.

Tom Girard, a spokesman for Energy Action, said his group also objected to the FCC procedure in reaching the decision and to the absence of any requirement that gas producers reinvest the proceeds of the higher rates to search for new gas supplies. The need for more incentives to develop new gas resources is one of the main justifications for the increase.

The FPC action was praised by the American Gas Association, a trade organization of gas pipeline companies, which said "the new higher prices will help some and, we hope, substantially."

But the AGA said it is still necessary to remove federal regulation entirely from interstate natural gas sales.

The FPC does not regulate gas prices at the consumer level, in general, but regulates the prices paid by interstate pipelines to the gas producers for gas to be sold outside the state of origin.

Gas sold inside the state where it is produced, "intrastate gas," is not subject to FPC regulation.

While the FPC has maintained a ceiling price of 52 cents per thousand cubic feet on gas brought into the interstate market since Jan. 1, 1973, unregulated gas sold on the interstate market recently has commanded an average of $1.55 per thousand cubic feet.

One effect of this price difference has been to encourage intrastate gas sales, which might deprive interstate pipelines, distant states and their gas consumers of needed supplies.

Experts Disagree On Salt Domes

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — One scientist says using Michigan salt domes as dumps for nuclear waste could be dangerous, but another insists such domes are the best and cheapest disposal sites. Harold Hornsby, a White House consultant and National Aeronautics and Space Agency scientist, contends nuclear waste could melt through salt domes. No one knows where the wastes would wind up, he says.

Hornsby also told a four-day conference on energy at Northwood Institute on Monday that it would take "millions of men armed to the hilt" to guard nuclear disposal sites against the chance of sabotage. He said such sites would require careful watch up to 500,000 years. But Dr. John Vanston, a nuclear physicist from the Center for Energy Studies at the University of Texas, disagreed.

"There is no problem if we are willing to pay the price," Vanston said without elaboration. He contended underground storage of nuclear waste in salt domes is the most practical and cheapest disposal method. He said other alternatives include storage above ground or disposal in space.

Canneries May Open By Weekend

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

Negotiators in the California cannery strike reached a tentative agreement that could reopen the canneries by this weekend, but defiant coal miners ignored their union president's back-to-work order and continued a wildcat strike in four states.

Coal production remained at a virtual standstill in West Virginia. A few mines also were closed in Ohio, Kentucky and Virginia.

Bargainers for the nation's leading tire makers and the United Rubber Workers agreed to meet again in Washington today with government mediators seeking to end a 14-week strike. But Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr. said neither side made a new offer Tuesday when the talks resumed for the first time in three weeks.

Regional Planners Table BCA's Grant Application

CASSOPOLIS — The Southeastern Michigan Regional Planning commission yesterday voted to table approval of a $172,974 grant application by Berrien County Action, Inc. for administrative costs. William Gebhard, SWMRPC senior planner, said the regional planning commission, meeting at the Cass county commission chambers here, voted to shelve the grant application "until they receive more information" on the grant application. SWMRPC also tabled approval of a $177,777 grant the Berrien County Council on Aging is seeking in federal funds to operate a senior citizens companion program, according to Gebhard, because the grant application did not contain enough information on the program. The BCA grant application is a request to the Michigan Department of Labor for funds through the federal Community Services Administration for funding of administrative costs of the local anti-poverty agency. Gebhard said several planning commissioners questioned why the BCA application was never brought before the regional planning commission. Gebhard said the regional planning commission had received word of the BCA grant application from the state funding clearinghouse, where BCA had originally submitted the application. The BCA board of directors this month fired Mrs. Helen Ford as executive director. Silas Legg was named interim director pending appointment of a permanent director. The Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission, yesterday cleared more than $1.3 million in grant application from 20 southwestern Michigan communities. Clearance by the commission is a procedural step in obtaining grants. Final approval is up to the appropriate federal or state agency. Heading the list of grant applications, which were cleared with no negative comments, was a $385,563 proposed grant by the Berrien County CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) office to operate a program to provide work experience for economically disadvantaged youths between the ages of 14 and 21. Others approved include a $121,000 proposed grant for Sodus township to acquire and develop a 39-acre parcel of land with frontage on the St. Joseph river to be developed into a park, an application by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation for a $250,000 grant to acquire the Kalamazoo to South Haven abandoned railroad right-of-way for a horse and bicycle trail. Also cleared were an application for $5,350 by the Berrien County CETA office to provide a program, an application for $26,182 by the City of Benton Harbor to begin housing and commercial information system, an application by the Village of Gullen for a $22,000 grant to provide facilities for a recently-acquired park, an application for $39,750 by Benton township for an update of the township's land use plan, and an application by the Van Buren County Juvenile court for a $73,578 grant to provide housing and treatment for youths. Also approved was an application for $45,500 by the Michigan highway department to install weather information signs, an application by Cass county for a $27,000 grant for development of a sanitary sewer system for the Indian Lake —

Sister Lakes area, an application by the City of South Haven for $40,000 for construction of new restroom facilities at a lot in the city, and an application by the City of Buchanan for a $37,325 grant for a planning study of the city. Also receiving approval of grants were: Benton township, a $15,000 grant for treatment of park grounds for soil erosion; City of Benton Harbor, a $6,465 grant for improvement of St. Joseph river front area; St. Joseph township, a $12,670 grant to construct three tennis courts at Carronde park; New Buffalo township, a $7,500 grant for construction of two basketball courts; Cass County Road commission, for a $135,000 grant for general highway improvements, and a $80,000 grant for general improvements to M-51; and the City of Bridgman, for a $5,000 grant for development of a neighborhood parks facility.

THOMAS E. BYERS
New planning director

Hoosier Is New Director For Region Planners

The Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission (SWMRPC) yesterday voted to hire Thomas E. Byers, of South Bend, as the new executive director of the agency. Byers, 29, who is currently chief environmental planner for the Michiana Area Council of Governments (MACOG) in South Bend, fills the vacancy left by Thomas Sinn, of St. Joseph, who resigned as executive director effective Aug. 1 to open a private consulting firm. Byers will begin work as the agency's executive director Aug. 9. He was hired at an annual salary of $20,000.

"I find this new job encouraging," Byers said. "The agency is a relatively young one but they have done a pretty good job of establishing their own identity." Referring to Berrien and Cass counties' split in 1975 and '76 from MACOG, now a planning agency made up of four northern Indiana counties, Byers said he didn't believe the two Michigan counties really needed to pool their planning with MACOG. "There are some relationships but I don't think it is necessary anymore. The political needs and situation of Indiana and Michigan are a night and day difference."

Byers worked for MACOG for the past four years; as chief environmental planner two years and prior to that as the agency's senior regional planner. He received his bachelor's degree from Ball State university in Muncie, Ind., in 1969 and his master's degree from Indiana university in South Bend this year. He and his wife, Barbara, currently live in South Bend, but plan to move to the Twin Cities area, he said.

Glad Polka Dance Tickets Available

COLOMA — Tickets are now available for the Coloma Glad polka dance featuring America's "Polka King" Frankie Yankovic, according to Mike Ditts, president of the Coloma Gladiolus festival committee, sponsors of the dance. Tickets priced at $1 per person may be purchased at locations displaying posters. Tickets will also be available at the door of Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph, the night of the four-hour polka dance on Aug. 7. Yankovic's appearance is one of several highlights planned during the annual Coloma Gladiolus festival, Aug. 2 through 8, according to Ditts.

Med Center Theft Loot Totals $1,549

COLOMA — Coloma township police reported Tuesday that approximately $1,549 in drugs and equipment were taken in a break-in at the Tala Medical center, Red Arrow highway, on July 20. The report of missing drugs, along with various items taken in the break-in, was compiled by Dr. Rolando Fajardo, of Coloma, whose offices are located in the center. Included in the list of missing equipment was a dictaphone and phone connector. The break-in was made by cutting a hole in the roof of the medical center. Then, only an estimated $65 in cash was reported missing. The break-in remains under investigation by township police.

Officer Hurt In Schuffle; Man Accused Of Assault

Benton Harbor police said a Benton Harbor man was arrested late Tuesday on charges of assault and battery against a police officer and being a disorderly person. Patrolman Lloyd Hughes reported he sustained a minor cut on his wrist during a scuffle with a man whom he arrested shortly before midnight. Hughes said he found a man and woman fighting at the corner of

Church and High streets when he investigated a crowd gathered there. Hughes did not require hospital treatment and returned to duty.

A young Benton township man was arrested Tuesday by township police on possession of stolen property (a dog) and malicious destruction of police property.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was William B. Bledsoe, 17, of 240 Bridgman avenue. Police reported they received a tip on the whereabouts of the dog, a Doberman Pinscher reported stolen last week. Police reported a patrol car door was allegedly kicked and sprung open. The dog was turned over to its owner, identified as Mrs. Lonnie Randolph, 410 Mar-

Good For Thieves

CHICAGO (AP) — Thieves, like hawkers of tacky souvenirs, are finding the Bicentennial is a chance to make a buck. Thefts of historic documents from libraries, archives and courthouses are on the rise.

So says the Society of American Archivists, which is starting a campaign to recover these and other valuable stolen documents.

Sister Lakes Plans Skate-A-Thon Event

SISTER LAKES — The Ramona skating rink here, in cooperation with the Sister Lakes fire department, is sponsoring a 24-hour skate-a-thon to raise funds for the muscular dystrophy association. The skate-a-thon will be from 1 p.m., Aug. 18, to 1 p.m. Aug. 19, according to Earl Partridge, owner and operator of the skating rink. Skaters will be required to get sponsors at 50 cents per hour for the number of hours they expect to participate, he said. He said refreshments will be served and the fire department will provide supervision.

Regional Planners Table BCA's Grant Application

CASSOPOLIS — The Southeastern Michigan Regional Planning commission yesterday voted to table approval of a $172,974 grant application by Berrien County Action, Inc., for administrative costs. William Gebhard, SWMRPC senior planner, said the regional planning commission, meeting at the Cass county commission chambers here, voted to shelve the grant application "until they receive more information" on the grant application. SWMRPC also tabled approval of a $177,777 grant the Berrien County Council on Aging is seeking in federal funds to operate a senior citizens companion program, according to Gebhard, because the grant application did not contain enough information on the program.

The BCA grant application is a request to the Michigan Department of Labor for funds through the federal Community Services Administration for funding of administrative costs of the local anti-poverty agency. Gebhard said several planning commissioners questioned why the BCA application was never brought before the regional planning commission. Gebhard said the regional planning commission had received word of the BCA grant application from the state funding clearinghouse, where BCA had originally submitted the application.

The BCA board of directors this month fired Mrs. Helen Ford as executive director. Silas Legg was named interim director pending appointment of a permanent director.

The Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission, yesterday cleared more than $1.3 million in grant application from 20 southwestern Michigan communities. Clearance by the commission is a procedural step in obtaining grants. Final approval is up to the appropriate federal or state agency.

Heading the list of grant applications, which were cleared with no negative comments, was a $385,563 proposed grant by the Berrien County CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) office to operate a program to provide work experience for economic disadvantaged youths between the ages of 14 and 21.

Others approved include a $121,000 proposed grant for Sodus township to acquire and develop a 39-acre parcel of land with frontage on the St. Joseph river to be developed into a park, an application by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation for a $250,000 grant to acquire the Kalamazoo to South Haven abandoned railroad right-of-way for a horse and bicycle trail.

Also cleared were an application for $5,950 by the Berrien County CETA office to provide a program, an application for $26,182 by the City of Benton Harbor to begin housing and commercial information system, an application by the Village of Galien for a $22,000 grant to provide facilities for a recently-acquired park, an application for $39,750 by Benton township for an update of the township's land use plan, and an application by the Van Buren County Juvenile court for a $72,878 grant to provide housing and treatment for youths.

Also approved was an application for $45,500 by the Michigan highway department to install weather information signs, an application by Cass county for a $27,000 grant for development of a sanitary sewer system for the Indian Lake —

Sister Lakes area, an application by the City of South Haven for $49,000 for construction of new restroom facilities at a lot in the city, and an application by the City of Buchanan for a $37,925 grant for a planning study of the city. Also receiving approval of grants were: Benton township, a $15,000 grant for treatment of park grounds for soil erosion; City of Benton Harbor, a $9,495 grant for improvement of St. Joseph river front area; St. Joseph township, a $12,670 grant to construct three tennis courts at Carrond park; New Buffalo township, $7,500 grant for construction of two basketball courts; Cass County Road commission, for $135,000 grant for general highway improvements, and $90,000 grant for general improvements to M-51; and the City of Bridgman, for a $6,000 grant for development of neighborhood parks facility.

Hoosier Is New Director For Region Planners

The Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission (SWMRPC) yesterday voted to hire Thomas E. Byers, of South Bend, as the new executive director of the agency. Byers, 29, who is currently chief environmental planner for the Michiana Area Council of Governments (MACOG) in South Bend, fills the vacancy left by Thomas Sinn, of St. Joseph, who resigned as executive director effective Aug. 1 to open a private consulting firm.

Byers will begin work as the agency's executive director Aug. 9. He was hired at an annual salary of $20,000.

"I find this new job encouraging," Byers said. "The agency is a relatively young one but they have done a pretty good job of establishing their own identity." Referring to Berrien and Cass counties' split in 1975 and 76 from MACOG, now a planning agency made up of four northern Indiana counties, Byers said he didn't believe the two Michigan counties really needed to pool their planning with MACOG. "There are some relationships but I don't think it is necessary anymore. The political needs and situation of Indiana and Michigan are a night and day difference."

Byers worked for MACOG for the past four years; as chief environmental planner two years and prior to that as the agency's senior regional planner.

He received his bachelor's degree from Ball State university in Muncie, Ind., in 1969 and his master's degree from Indiana university in South Bend this year. He and his wife, Barbara, currently live in South Bend, but plan to move to the Twin Cities area, he said.

Glad Polka Dance Tickets Available

COLOMA — Tickets are now available for the Coloma Glad polka dance featuring America's "Polka King" Frankie Yankovic, according to Mike Dilts, president of the Coloma Gladiolus festival committee, sponsors of the dance. Tickets priced at $4 per person may be purchased at locations displaying posters. Tickets will also be available at the door of Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph, the night of the four-hour polka dance on Aug. 7. Yankovic's appearance is one of several highlights planned during the annual Coloma Gladiolus festival, Aug. 2 through 8, according to Dilts.

Med Center Theft Loot Totals $1,549

COLOMA — Coloma township police reported Tuesday that approximately $1,549 in drugs and equipment were taken in a break-in at the Tala Medical center, Red Arrow highway, on July 20. The report of missing drugs, along with various items taken in the break-in, was compiled by Dr. Rolando Fajardo, of Coloma, whose offices are located in the center. Included in the list of missing equipment was a dictaphone and phone connector. The break-in was made by cutting a hole in the roof of the medical center. Then, only an estimated $65 in cash was reported missing. The break-in remains under investigation by township police.

Officer Hurt In Schuffle; Man Accused Of Assault

Benton Harbor police said a Benton Harbor man was arrested late Tuesday on charges of assault and battery against a police officer and being a disorderly person.

Patrolman Lloyd Hughes reported he sustained a minor cut on his wrist during a scuffle with a man whom he arrested shortly before midnight. Hughes said he found a man and woman fighting at the corner of

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Charles Lee Holloway, 21, of 839 East Washington street.

A young Benton township man was arrested Tuesday by township police on possession of stolen property (a dog) and malicious destruction of police property.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was William B. Bledsoe, 17, of 240 Bridgman avenue. Police reported they received a tip on the whereabouts of the dog, a Doberman Pinscher reported stolen last week. Police reported a patrol car door was allegedly kicked and sprung open. The dog was turned over to its owner, identified as Mrs. Lonnie Randolph, 410 Margarete avenue.

Benton Harbor police arrested a young Stevensville man Tuesday on a charge of embezzlement, $18.66 in auto parts from K-mart, 455 Riverview drive.

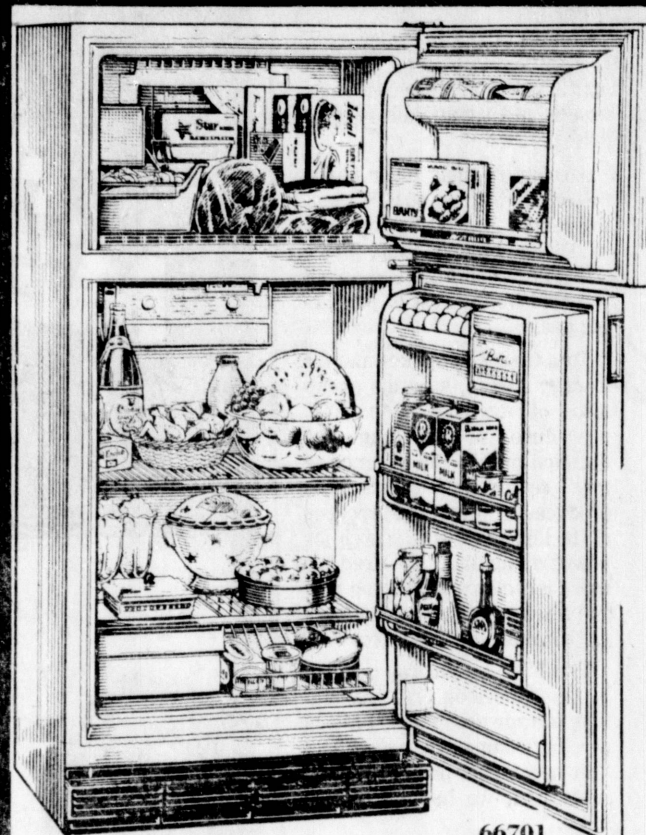

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Richard Lee Johnson, Jr., 18, of 4328 Ridge road. Benton Harbor police said St. Joseph police stopped a car about 9:30 p.m. after receiving a tip that a passenger might be in possession of stolen property. Benton Harbor police said an ignition tune-up kit, eight spark plugs and a set of brakes were confiscated. Johnson was identified by police as an employee at K-mart.

An 11-year-old Sodus township boy told Berrien sheriff's deputies Tuesday three other boys forced him to give them his fishing pole, 26 cents and some fruit.

Daniel Shearer, 3382 Pipestone road, said the incident occurred about 5 p.m. while he was fishing on Pipestone creek at Watson road, Sodus township. Daniel said the three told him they knew where he lived, which, deputies said, he took as a threat. He was not hurt in the incident, deputies reported.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said $500 in hand and precision tools were reported stolen from Raco Die and Engineering, Red Arrow highway, Bridgman, Tuesday. Entry to the building was made through a side door, deputies reported.

Sister Lakes Plans Skate-A-Thon Event

SISTER LAKES — The Ramona skating rink here, in cooperation with the Sister Lakes fire department, is sponsoring a 24-hour skate-a-thon to raise funds for the muscular dystrophy association. The skate-a-thon will be from 1 p.m., Aug. 18, to 1 p.m., Aug. 19, according to Earl Partridge, owner and operator of the skating rink. Skaters will be required to get sponsors at 50 cents per hour for the number of hours they expect to participate, he said. He said refreshments will be served and the fire department will provide supervision.

Q: As a long-time fan of sweet Kathryn Grayson I was shocked to hear that she punched an old lady in the face. What was that about? — Y.V., New London, Conn.

A: It seems that sweet Kathryn loves her privacy and wants to lead a quiet life while not on stage. So when a reporter and a woman barged into her Florida hotel room without permission the singer-actress set about evicting them with vigor and the woman got a black eye. The charge against Kathryn was assault and battery but the judge dismissed the case.

RUMOR MILL: Since Elizabeth Taylor cast her spell over Washington everyone is being terribly, terribly careful. Sen. Lowell Weicker, Republican from Connecticut, taking no chances, brought his aging mother, Mrs. Howard Paulson, to a White House dinner. We hear Sen. Richard C. Clark, the handsome 46-year-old Democrat from Iowa, will marry his personal secretary Julie Marshall as soon as his divorce is final. But since office romances are out, no one will confirm.

Q: Is it true that Mick Jagger was rejected for a role in the movie they're going to make of the best-selling book, "Bagtime"? — F.G., Denver, Colo.

A: According to Mick that was just "bitchy" gossip. The rock superstar says he was never approached about doing the film.

Q: Do you have any further details about the Diana Ross divorce? — N.C., Huntsville, Ala.

A: There appears to be no sensational revelations to divulge. But Diana did put her $750,000 Los Angeles house up for sale and we can tell you that the dining room, which she designed, has black walls; a black mirrored ceiling, black floors and black table and chairs. Come to think of it, that's pretty sensational.

Q: I can't believe all the trouble Francis Ford Coppola is having in the Philippines with his Vietnam movie. Have things finally settled down? — Y.D., Harrisburg, Pa.

A: Afraid not. Coppola softened the anti-war script a bit hoping that the U.S. Army would give him some cooperation. But the military has continued to be relentlessly hostile, refusing the use of American soldiers stationed in the Philippines and turning down a request for an airlift of supplies to a shooting site. Not only that, but a technical advisor with Vietnam war experience, hired for the picture, had to be fired when it was feared that he was a CIA plant sent to spy on the production.

It's Not Like O'Hara

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Congressman James O'Hara has charged Donald Riegle, a fellow Congressman and his opponent in the U. S. Senate race, with waging "a campaign of deceit and misrepresentation." O'Hara said Riegle "has stooped to fabricating public opinion polls" and said he is "rewriting history...by posing now as having been a closet Democrat all his life." The blast in a press release is not typical for O'Hara of Utica, who has waged a very quiet campaign that has led some to question whether he is serious about winning the Democratic nomination. Riegle has claimed that his private polls show him neck-and-neck with frontrunner Secretary of State Richard Austin, and show O'Hara out of the race.

Huber's Conservative Side Of Street Gets Crowded

By FRET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
TROY, Mich. (AP) — Robert Huber is encountering a problem trying to spread his conservative philosophy as a U.S. Senate candidate.

"They are out-conservating me. That's my problem," the Troy industrialist says of his three Republican foes.

But Huber, 53, says he really does not find that surprising since "every incumbent that I see sounds conservative" whatever that person's political record.

"There's no way to resolve it," Huber adds. "An electorate that would return a Wayne Hoyer (the Ohio congressman involved in the Washington sex scandal) isn't going to care if a candidate is a liberal or a conservative."

Still, Huber insists he is not leading the Republican race based upon his having "turned out the money... Everywhere you go you see evidence of Esch's organization. That's bound to have an impact in the primary."

Of his own chances, Huber says: "I can't tell that until the votes are in... I'm not confident at all that I'm going to win." But Huber adds he never has been confident before an election "unless I was running unopposed."

Huber says his campaign relies mainly on the news media for exposure of his ideas. Six years ago, he spent more than $100,000 of his own money to run. This time, he put only about $4,000 of his own into the campaign which has collected just over $50,000.

The importance of the media for Huber is illustrated by a story he told about driving from Troy across the state to Newaygo County for a GOP picnic.

"I'd have gone even if there wasn't a picnic because they set up 15-minute interviews with a radio station and two newspapers. The chance for that kind of exposure is worth a drive from here to Petoskey, much less Newaygo."

Huber runs his family's Michigan Chrome and Chemical Co. The firm, which specializes in chemical products and electroplating for the automotive and appliance industries, has almost 200 employees and annual sales of nearly $7 million.

The company has made Huber wealthy but he laughs off reports he is a millionaire.

Prices effective thru Sunday, Aug. 1!

ROBERT HUBER
Not discouraged

discouraged since the same situation has prevailed during all his years in politics. He spent six years as mayor of Troy, served simultaneously on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, then went on to six years in the state Senate.

Huber lost his 1970 bid for the GOP's Senate nomination by just over 14,000 votes despite being pitted against Lenore Romney, wife of former Michigan Gov. George Romney. She was supposed to be the party's "consensus" candidate.

Huber then rallied to win a Congressional seat for one term starting in 1973. At the time, the Detroit suburbs were in turmoil over the prospect of court-ordered busing of school children. Huber staunchly opposed busing then and still does.

"Nothing on my side has changed," Huber said when asked if his views of the issues have altered during the current campaign. He still believes the nation should get back to the fundamentals.

"We ought to return to the free enterprise system if we want to save ourselves," he insisted.

Asked to sum up what he sees as the campaign's major issue, Huber replied, "I think this country has moved away from morality. We'd better start looking to God or we'll all be in trouble."

At this point, Huber says it appears Rep. Marvin Esch is

Allegan Decision Is Upheld

LANSING — The Michigan Court of Appeals has upheld an Allegan Circuit court decision which found Joe Hess guilty of breaking an entering Hunt's drugstore in Martin in October, 1974.

Hess was found guilty by an Allegan Circuit court jury in March, 1975, and sentenced the same month by Judge George Corsiglia to 2½ to 10 years in prison. He is currently serving out his sentence.

Hess appealed the decision claiming he was denied a fair trial.

Huber's Conservative Side Of Street Gets Crowded

By PIET BENNETT

Associated Press Writer
TROY, Mich. (AP) — Robert Huber is encountering a problem trying to spread his conservative philosophy as a U.S. Senate candidate.

"They are out-conservating me. That's my problem," the Troy industrialist says of his three Republican foes.

But Huber, 53, says he really does not find that surprising since "every incumbent that I see sounds conservative" whatever that person's political record.

"There's no way to resolve it," Huber adds. "An electorate that would return a Wayne Hayes (the Ohio congressman involved in the Washington sex scandal) isn't going to care if a candidate is a liberal or a conservative."

Still, Huber insists he is not

leading the Republican race based upon his having "turned out the money...Everywhere you go you see evidence of Esch's organization. That's bound to have an impact in the primary."

Of his own chances, Huber says: "I can't tell that until the votes are in...I'm not confident at all that I'm going to win." But Huber adds he never has been confident before an election "unless I was running unopposed."

Huber says his campaign relies mainly on the news media for exposure of his ideas. Six years ago, he spent more than $100,000 of his own money to run. This time, he put only about $4,000 of his own into the campaign which has collected just over $50,000.

The importance of the media for Huber is illustrated by a story he told about driving from Troy across the state to

Newaygo County for a GOP picnic.

"I'd have gone even if there wasn't a picnic because they set up 15-minute interviews with a radio station and two newspapers. The chance for that kind of exposure is worth a drive from here to Petoskey, much less Newaygo."

Huber runs his family's Michigan Chrome and Chemical Co. The firm, which specializes in chemical products and electroplating for the auto and appliance industries almost 200 employees and a sales of nearly $7 million.

The company has made wealthy but he laughs reports he is a millionaire

THOMAS BRENNAN
Polishing the dagger

SENATE HOPEFUL BRENNAN

He's Something Of A Maverick

By PIST BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Thomas E. Brennan says court-ordered busing for integration is "a gut issue nobody is discussing" in today's politics.

The 46-year-old former state Supreme Court justice, who is running for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate, complains "educational theory is being written into the law of the land... They (federal courts) are deliberately trying to intermingle people racially."

He accuses the courts of "trying to work toward a cultural and racial revolution. It's wrong."

The word "conservative" applies comfortably to many of the positions Brennan is espousing in the four-man race, which culminates in next Tuesday's primary.

He's against abortion and complains that a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing young girls to get abortions without consent of their parents is "an assault on the family."

Responding to a recent questionnaire by the National Organization for Women, Brennan expressed the fear that the Equal Rights Amendment would make rape laws unconstitutional. In addition, he told NOW he opposes government funding of child care facilities.

Brennan considers himself a spokesman for the "conservative economic view."

He wants to get the nation on to a balanced budget and has a unique idea of how to do so — "have a constitutional provision making ineligible for re-election any House or Senate member who votes for deficit budgets."

age 22. He lost that race and another in 1954 plus a congressional bid and two efforts to obtain a seat on the Detroit Court of Common Pleas.

Finally in 1961, after nearly a decade of trying, Brennan won an election. He gained a seat on the Court of Common Pleas, then one on Wayne County Circuit Court and finally the state Supreme Court.

While on the state's highest court, Brennan came under fire for writing the court's unanimous decision refusing to pay a 50-cent per day parking fee charged to other state employees.

Brennan has something of a reputation as a party maverick. His vote in 1972 along with three Democrats scuttled a legislative reapportionment plan sought by Republican leaders. But later federal court decisions upheld Brennan's position.

Brennan is campaigning hard — one day alone took him from Marquette to Benton Harbor and Grand Rapids in a 12-hour sweep. But he had a campaign budget of only $23,455 as of June 30 and is unlikely to be able to mount as much of a last-minute media blitz as some of his opponents.

He downplayed his drop to second place in a recent Detroit News poll in the four-man GOP Senate race. Politicians use polls, he says, is "basically a question of posturing and trying to convince the people something is happening."

O'Hara Is Not The Flashy Type Of Candidate

BY MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
UTICA, Mich. (AP) — James O'Hara admits that if he goes to the U.S. Senate, you won't often see his name on the front pages of the paper.

O'Hara, one of four Democrats seeking the nomination in next week's primary, styles himself as a behind-the-scenes legislative craftsman more interested in getting bills

In addition, 45 labor unions — mostly affiliated with the AFL-CIO and the building trades — have contributed a total of nearly $50,000 to his campaign.

The big question is whether the organization behind O'Hara is enough to overcome Austin's name and Riegle's energy, attractiveness and bigger campaign budget.

"If O'Hara gets known to the voter, the choice between O'Hara, Austin and Riegle would be O'Hara. He fits what the middle-income family voter is looking for," says campaign manager John Bruff.

JAMES O'HARA
He's one of four

That includes a history of opposition to busing and emphasis, as O'Hara puts it, "on the plight of the average family" which is excluded from federal programs aimed mainly at the poor.

It also includes concentration on tax relief, Social Security, health care and the cost of sending children to college.

O'Hara first ran for Congress as a little-known attorney in 1958 and has won by margins of up to 70 per cent despite a scare in 1972.

He was born in Washington, D.C., and his family moved to Detroit when he was 13. He served in the Pacific in World War II and went to the University of Michigan Law school.

He was tagged a liberal in Congress for his support of the Civil Rights Act, but was also a hawk through most of the Vietnam War. He says he still supports such liberal causes as national health insurance, civil rights and aid to schools.

One Democrat tried to explain the variances in O'Hara's makeup this way: "He's a liberal philosophically but rather cautious methodologically — WHICH MEANS HE'S A MODERATE."

When O'Hara filed for the race in May, he tagged Austin as his No. 1 opponent. But in the last few days he has been attacking Riegle as if he were his chief threat.

Should O'Hara's labor backing — and his last-minute attacks on Riegle — pay off, he plans to promptly vanish into the bowels of the Senate's inner workings.

"In 18 years in the House, I found the big questions are who pays and who benefits," he said. Thus he would aim for taxation and appropriations specialties, and the rules committee in an attempt to reform procedures.

"I always thought it was the more effective approach," he said of his low-profile method of operating. The question now is whether it's effective enough with the voters.

The affable red-haired Irish Catholic was chief justice of the Supreme Court until 1970, when Democrats gained a majority. As a member of the court minority after that, he gained a reputation among attorneys for his pointed dissents.

Brennan is now dean of the Thomas M. Cooley Law School in East Lansing, a post he assumed when he resigned the court in 1973, prior to the expiration of his term.

At the time, Brennan was president and founder of the new school. His dual role Supreme Court justice and educator — including fund-raising in legal circles — drew charges of conflict of interest from deans of two other Michigan law schools.

But Brennan said he was resigning only so he could apply himself to making the school work. He sloughed off conflict of interest charges, saying: "As a matter of fact, the joke around the house is that a conflict of interest is better than no interest at all."

Brennan is no stranger to controversy or politics. He ran for the Michigan House unsuccessfully in 1962 at

Boothby Appoints Advisers

Atty. Lee Boothby, of Berrien Springs, candidate for the Republican nomination for 4th District Congressman, today announced additional members of his advisory committees.

Appointments to the business and professional advisory committee include Dr. Robert Tichnor, Fran Noey and Leonard Smith of St. Joseph, William Wilson of Berrien Springs, Larry Reid of Buchanan, Dr. Richard Maceri, Russell Queen, Atty. Joseph Low, Hamilton Calvert and Louis Berner of Niles, and Atty. Harold Schuitmaker of Lawton.

Appointed to the farm advisory committee were Dale Douthett of Three Oaks, Earl Beck of Buchanan, Sam Bolton of Niles, Harold Shannon of Marcellus, Les Dowd, Waldo Dick and Charles Sill of Lawrence, and Ivan Steln of South Haven.

On Honor Roll

Carol A. Vanek has been named to the dean's list at Washtenaw Community college, Ann Arbor, for the last academic semester, the college has reported. She is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Nickens, 315 Millburg drive, Benton Harbor, and Edward Pendergrass, Jericho road, Bridgman.

passed than in attracting publicity.

His deliberate, low-key approach to the job, a trademark for 18 years in the U.S. House, has made it tough to break free of a field made up of a well-known secretary of state, a young, good-looking activist congressman and a busy gadfly.

O'Hara is not an exciting speaker, and his name was not widely known outside his 12th Congressional District in Macomb and St. Clair counties.

"It takes a sophisticated voter to see through the speech-making and find out who's doing the work," the 50-year-old O'Hara says. "What you get done you often get done behind the scenes. Speeches are often the frosting on the cake."

Clearly, O'Hara feels Rep. Donald Riegle of Flint has devoted himself more to frost- ing than cake, more to taking stands than working on bills. And while Secretary of State Richard Austin is "generally right" on the issues, O'Hara says, he lacks the familiarity with specific issues the job requires.

"I have a record of accomplishment and I have the knowhow that the job takes," O'Hara says flatly.

He has a lot of agreement on that, from fellow congressmen who have endorsed him in state and local public officials and — most important — organized labor.

The state AFL-CIO has endorsed O'Hara and is working hard on his behalf. It will mount a massive get-out-the-vote drive among its 400,000 members on primary election day next Tuesday, and the labor organization already has sent literature and made phone calls to its members.

Six From Area Named To NMU Honor Roll

MARQUETTE — Six southwestern Michigan residents have been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Northern Michigan university here.

The five are Louisa Baker and Daniel McAdams, both of St. Joseph; Brian Raff, New Buffalo; Marlice Dunham, Niles; Kenneth Morford, Dowagiac; and Barbara Miller, Lawrence.

PLO Influence Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil war in Lebanon has forced the Palestine Liberation Organization into decline, and direct U.S. contact with the PLO over the evacuation of Americans from Beirut apparently will not reverse the downward course. This is the assessment of top U.S. officials who have closely followed the ebb and flow of fighting, and supervised daily exchanges between American diplomats in the Lebanese capital with Palestinian commanders who controlled parts of the evacuation route.

Attorney Lee Boothby, of Berrien Springs, candidate for the Republican nomination for 4th District Congressman, today announced additional members of his advisory committees.

Appointments to the business and professional advisory committee include Dr. Robert Tichnor, Fran Noey and Leonard Smith of St. Joseph, William Wilson of Berrien Springs, Larry Reid of Buchanan, Dr. Richard Maceri, Russell Queen, Atty. O'Hara, one of four Democrats seeking the nomination in next week's primary, styles himself as a behind-the-scenes legislative craftsman more interested in getting bills

In addition, 65 labor unions — mostly affiliated with the AFL-CIO and the building trades — have contributed a total of nearly $59,000 to his campaign.

The big question is whether the organization behind O'Hara is enough to overcome Austin's name and Riegle's energy, attractiveness and bigger campaign budget.

"If O'Hara gets known to the voter, the choice between O'Hara, Austin and Riegle would be O'Hara. He fits what the middle-income family voter is looking for," says campaign manager John Bruff.

That includes a history of opposition to busing and emphasis, as O'Hara puts it, "on the plight of the average family" which is excluded from federal programs aimed mainly at the poor.

It also includes concentration on tax relief, Social Security, health care and the cost of sending children to college.

O'Hara first ran for Congress as a little-known attorney in 1958 and has won by margins of up to 70 per cent despite a scare in 1972.

He was born in Washington, D.C., and his family moved to Detroit when he was 13. He served in the Pacific in World War II and went to the University of Michigan Law school.

He was tagged a liberal in Congress for his support of the Civil Rights Act, but was also a hawk through most of the Vietnam War. He says he still supports such liberal causes as national health insurance, civil rights and aid to schools.

One Democrat tried to explain the variances in O'Hara's makeup this way: "He's a liberal philosophically but rather cautious methodologically — WHICH MEANS HE'S A MODERATE."

When O'Hara filed for the race in May, he tagged Austin as his No. 1 opponent. But in the last few days he has been attacking Riegle as if he were his chief threat.

Should O'Hara's labor backing — and his last-minute attacks on Riegle — pay off, he plans to promptly vanish into the bowels of the Senate's inner workings.

"In 18 years in the House, I found the big questions are who pays and who benefits," he said. Thus he would aim for taxation and appropriations specialties, and the rules committee in an attempt to reform procedures.

"I always thought it was the more effective approach," he said of his low-profile method of operating. The question now is whether it's effective enough with the voters.

JAMES O'HARA
He's one of four

passed than in attracting publicity.

His deliberate, low-key approach to the job, a trademark for 18 years in the U.S. House, has made it tough to break free of a field made up of a well-known secretary of state, a young, good-looking activist congressman and a busy gadfly.

O'Hara is not an exciting speaker, and his name was not widely known outside his 12th Congressional District in Macomb and St. Clair counties.

"It takes a sophisticated voter to see through the speech-making and find out who's doing the work," the 50-year-old O'Hara says. "What you get done you often get done behind the scenes. Speeches are often the frosting on the cake."

Clearly, O'Hara feels Rep. Donald Riegle of Flint has devoted himself more to frosting than cake, more to taking stands than working on bills. And while Secretary of State Richard Austin is "generally right" on the issues, O'Hara says, he lacks the familiarity with specific issues the job requires.

"I have a record of accomplishment and I have the knowhow that the job takes," O'Hara says flatly.

He has a lot of agreement on that, from fellow congressmen who have endorsed him to state and local public officials and — most important — organized labor.

The state AFL-CIO has endorsed O'Hara and is working hard on his behalf. It will mount a massive get-out-the-vote drive among its 430,000 members on primary election day next Tuesday, and the labor organization already has sent literature and made phone calls to its members.

Boothby Appoints Advisers

Atty. Lee Boothby, of Berrien Springs, candidate for the Republican nomination for 4th District Congressman, today announced additional members of his advisory committees.

Appointments to the business and professional advisory committee include Dr. Robert Tichnor, Fran Noey and Leonard Smith of St. Joseph, William Willson of Berrien Springs, Larry Reid of Buchanan, Dr. Richard Macri, Russell Queen, Atty. Joseph Low, Hamilton Calvert and Louis Berner of Niles, and Atty. Harold Schuitmaker of Lawton.

Appointed to the farm advisory committee were Dale Douthett of Three Oaks, Earl Beck of Buchanan, Sam Bolton of Niles, Harold Shannon of Marcellus, Les Dowd, Waldo Dick and Charles Sill of Lawrence, and Ivan Stein of South Haven.

On Honor Roll

Carol A. Vanek has been named to the dean's list at Washtenaw Community college, Ann Arbor, for the last academic semester, the college has reported. She is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Nickens, 315 Millburg drive, Benton Harbor, and Edward Pendergrass, Jericho road, Bridgman.

Six From Area Named To NMU Honor Roll

MARQUETTE — Six southwestern Michigan residents have been named to the dean's list for the spring semester at Northern Michigan university here.

The five are Louisa Baker and Daniel McAdams, both of St. Joseph; Brian Raff, New Buffalo; Marlene Dunham, Niles; Kenneth Morford, Dowagiac; and Barbara Miller, Lawrence.

PLO Influence Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil war in Lebanon has forced the Palestine Liberation Organization into decline, and direct U.S. contact with the PLO over the evacuation of Americans from Beirut apparently will not reverse the downward course. This is the assessment of top U.S. officials who have closely followed the ebb and flow of fighting, and supervised daily exchanges between American diplomats in the Lebanese capital with Palestinian commanders who controlled parts of the evacuation route.

Building Projects In Coloma Include House, Swimming Pool

COLOMA — Seven permits were issued during the past five weeks by Richard Krieger, Coloma, building inspector, representing $29,300 in construction work.

Issued permits were Gerald Parrigin, 260 South Paw Paw, install 30,000-gallon swimming pool, estimated cost, $1,300.

Ralph Dewey, 163 Morrison, reroofing, $500.

William Kreitner, 560 Morrison, erect garage with attached patio, $3,000.

Elsie Mace, 274 West St. Joseph, install roof over patio, $250.

Charles Zollar, owner, IPM building, Washington street, addition to building and soundproofing of room, $4,000.

Wilma Taylor, Maple street, erect new house, $20,000.

Helen Weeden, 154 Morrison, replace stairs and paint exterior, $250.

Beef Prices Dip Slightly As Pork Edges Upward

By DON KENNEL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail beef prices are falling slightly because of large supplies, but pork prices are edging up in spite of some increased production, according to the Agriculture Department.

Preliminary figures through mid-July show that beef on an all-cut basis averaged around $1.30 a pound, compared with nearly $1.41 in June and a record of $1.61 just a year ago, the department says.

Pork prices, although far below their record of $1.50 a pound last October, have risen some in recent months and earlier this month were about $1.41 a pound against slightly more than $1.40 in June and less than $1.30 in May.

Both meats are more plentiful than they were a year ago. Last week, for example, beef output by the nation's packing houses was up 15 per cent from the same period last year and pork was up 10 per cent, the Agriculture Department said.

A department report Tuesday showed the farmer's share of what a shopper pays for beef — in June about $1.41 a pound — has declined along with the "marketing spread" charged by middlemen for transporting, processing and selling it.

The so-called farm value of beef in June averaged 88.6 cents a pound, down from $1.2 cents in May and $1.4 in April. That is not what farmers get for cattle since it takes about 2.5 pound of steer on the hoof to make one pound of store beef. It is, however, the farmer's share of what a consumer pays for a pound of beef.

Last month's middleman share of the retail beef price was 69.2 cents a pound, down from 60.5 in May. But it was substantially above the middleman share of 54.6 cents a pound in April.

The pork retail price of little more than $1.40 last month broke down into 91.7 cents for the farmer and 48.7 cents for the middleman. In May the shares were 88.2 cents for the farmer and 50.4 cents for the middleman, and in April they were 86.2 and 50.4 cents.

In another of its "food marketing alert" reports, the Agriculture Department said grain-fed beef "will be in bountiful supply" through August. But officials said farmers and feed lot operators who produce grain-fed cattle "have lost money on nearly every animal sold since late January" and that in recent weeks losses have averaged as much as $100 a head.

During the week that ended July 24, choice-grade slaughter steers averaged $37.70 per 100 pounds on the hoof, down $13.50 or 26 per cent from a year ago. The report said "this price level is about $10 per 100 pounds below the break-even level for most producers."

Spy Satellite Breakup A Soviet Space Setback

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mysterious disintegration of an advanced Soviet reconnaissance satellite Sunday has temporarily limited Russia's ability to spy on the United States with cameras from space, U.S. intelligence sources say.

The Russians apparently are filling the intelligence gap for the time being with photo information from the two-man Soviet Salyut satellite, which the Soviet Union claims is a scientific research space vehicle, according to U.S. experts.

The destruction of the Russian Cosmos 844 came four days after the Russians reportedly sustained their third successive failure this year in testing a system for destroying enemy satellites in space. Officials who monitor Soviet military space activity say that Cosmos 844 broke up three days after it was sent aloft into orbit from central Russia. Cosmos 844 is a new type of reconnaissance satellite which U.S. intelligence specialists say is designed to remain in orbit at least 20 days, nearly twice as long as older-model Soviet spy vehicles.

reconnaissance vehicle in space.

However, U.S. experts say they are convinced the Salyut space station is carrying out a military mission with its cameras. They declined to discuss how they know this.

In any event, Russia is likely to send another photo-reconnaissance satellite into orbit soon to resume detailed observations of the United States and other areas of interest to the Soviet Union.

Along with the failures, the Russians have scored some notable space successes in recent years.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, July 26, the 210th day of 1978. There are 156 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia. It was the beginning of World War I.

On this date: In 1821, Peru proclaimed independence from Spain.

In 1896, Miami, Fla., was incorporated as a town of 280 people.

In 1943, during World War II, U.S. forces were winning victories on the Italian island of Sicily.

In 1945, 13 people were killed when a U.S. Army bomber crashed into the Empire State Building in New York City.

In 1960, Vice President Richard Nixon went before a Republican National Convention in Chicago and accepted the GOP nomination for president.

In 1973, three astronauts were shot into space from Cape Kennedy to link up with the orbiting Skylab space station and spend nearly two months in orbit. Ten years ago, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson arrived in Washington to confer with President Lyndon Johnson about an economic crisis in Britain.

Five years ago, Communist China declared it would never become a member of the United Nations if the Chinese Nationalists were allowed to remain in the organization.

One year ago, President Ford was welcomed by huge crowds on a visit to Warsaw, Poland.

Today's birthdays: Mrs. Aristotle Onassis is 47 years old. Deep sea explorer Jacques Piccard is 54.

Thought for today: Whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap — the Bible.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, after church services at Ticonderoga, N.Y., the American Declaration of Independence was read before the troops, and it was recorded that the soldiers "manifested their joy with three cheers."

Beef Prices Dip Slightly As Pork Edges Upward

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail beef prices are falling slightly because of large supplies, but pork prices are edging up in spite of some increased production, according to the Agriculture Department.

Preliminary figures through mid-July show that beef on an all-cut basis averaged around $1.39 a pound, compared with nearly $1.41 in June and a record of $1.61 just a year ago, the department says.

Pork prices, although far below their record of $1.59 a pound last October, have risen some in recent months and earlier this month were about $1.41 a pound against slightly more than $1.40 in June and less than $1.39 in May.

Both meats are more plentiful than they were a year ago. Last week, for example, beef output by the nation's packing houses was up 15 per cent from the same period last year and pork was up 10 per cent, the Agriculture Department said.

A department report Tuesday showed the farmer's share of what a shopper pays for beef — in June about $1.41 a pound — has declined along with the "marketing spread" charged by middlemen for transporting, processing and selling it.

The so-called farm value of beef in June averaged 80.6 cents a pound, down from 81.2 cents in May and 87.4 in April. That is not what farmers get for cattle since it takes about 2.3 pound of steer on the hoof to make one pound of store beef. It is, however, the farmer's share of what a consumer pays for a pound of beef.

Last month's middleman share of the retail beef price was 60.2 cents a pound, down from 60.5 in May. But it was substantially above the middleman share of 54.6 cents a pound in April.

The pork retail price of little more than $1.40 last month broke down into 91.7 cents for the farmer and 48.7 cents for the middleman. In May the shares were 88.2 cents for the farmer and 50.4 cents for the middleman, and in April they were 86.2 and 50.4 cents.

In another of its "food marketing alert" reports, the Agriculture Department said grainfed beef "will be in bountiful supply" through August. But officials said farmers and feed lot operators who produce grain-fed cattle "have lost money on nearly every animal sold since late January" and that in recent weeks losses have averaged as much as $100 a head.

During the week that ended July 24, choice-grade slaughter steers averaged $37.70 per 100 pounds on the hoof, down $13.50 or 26 per cent from a year ago. The report said "this price level is about $10 per 100 pounds below the break-even level for most producers."

Spy Satellite Breakup A Soviet Space Setback

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mysterious disintegration of an advanced Soviet reconnaissance satellite Sunday has temporarily limited Russia's ability to spy on the United States with cameras from space, U.S. intelligence sources say.

The Russians apparently are filling the intelligence gap for the time being with photo information from the two-man Soviet Salyut satellite, which the Soviet Union claims is a scientific research space vehicle, according to U.S. experts.

The destruction of the Russian Cosmos 844 came four days after the Russians reportedly sustained their third successive failure this year in testing a system for destroying enemy satellites in space.

Officials who monitor Soviet military space activity say that Cosmos 844 broke up three days after it was sent aloft into orbit from central Russia.

Cosmos 844 is a new type of reconnaissance satellite which U.S. intelligence specialists say is designed to remain in orbit at least 20 days, nearly twice as long as older-model Soviet spy vehicles.

reconnaissance vehicle in space.

However, U.S. experts say they are convinced the Salyut space station is carrying out a military mission with its cameras. They declined to discuss how they know this.

In any event, Russia is likely to send another photo-reconnaissance satellite into orbit soon to resume detailed observations of the United States and other areas of interest to the Soviet Union.

Along with the failures, the Russians have scored some notable space successes in recent years.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 28, the 210th day of 1976. There are 156 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia. It was the beginning of World War I.

On this date: In 1821, Peru proclaimed independence from Spain.

In 1896, Miami, Fla., was incorporated as a town of 260 people.

In 1943, during World War II, U.S. forces were winning victories on the Italian island of Sicily.

In 1945, 13 people were killed when a U.S. Army bomber crashed into the Empire State Building in New York City.

In 1960, Vice President Richard Nixon went before a Republican National Convention in Chicago and accepted the GOP nomination for president.

In 1973, three astronauts were shot into space from Cape Kennedy to link up with the orbiting Skylab space station and spend nearly two months in orbit. Ten years ago: Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson arrived in Washington to confer with President Lyndon Johnson about an economic crisis in Britain.

Five years ago: Communist China declared it would never become a member of the United Nations if the Chinese Nationalists were allowed to remain in the organization.

One year ago: President Ford was welcomed by huge crowds on a visit to Warsaw, Poland.

UAW Says Auto Makers' Offers May Force Strike

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers says the nation's car makers will force a national strike this fall if they refuse to budge from "takeaway" contract demands handed to the union on Tuesday.

General Motors and Ford Motor Co., the first of the companies to issue opening proposals, made no specific demands but laid out general policies which rejected initial union demands for increased job security, wages and fringe benefits.

UAW officials said they expected the first set of demands from Chrysler Corp., which was to present its proposals today, would parallel closely those of GM and Ford.

"If this is the tip of the iceberg on their thinking and it's carried to a conclusion then certainly there will be a strike," declared a top union bargainer after reviewing Ford's proposals.

The UAW's top negotiator at GM, Vice President Irving Bluestone, called that firm's proposals "the harshest, most far-reaching, turn-back-the-clock demands I have ever seen" in 25 years of bargaining. "I'm amazed that GM, which will report record profits of more than $25 million just for the second quarter, says to our workers: 'You're getting too much,'" added Bluestone. "If GM really is serious about this takeaway program then it is headed for deep trouble with this union."

The industry's proposals coincide with the release this week of second-quarter earnings statements which are expected to report record profits for each of the Big Three. Chrysler reported Monday that it made a record $135 million in the April-June period, compared with a $50 million loss a year ago. GM reports its results today and Ford on Thursday.

The industry's soaring profit picture compares with plummeting earnings last year when the recession sent car sales into a tailspin. Since last fall, however, the industry has staged a remarkable recovery that is exceeding even the most optimistic forecasts.

The union has pointed to these profits in support of its demands for "a piece of a bigger pie."

Talks on new contracts covering 400,000 auto workers opened last week, with bargainers expressing confidence that agreements could be reached without a national strike for the first time in a decade. Current three-year pacts expire in mid-

September. On Tuesday, one top union official said he still believed a strike could be averted, saying GM's and Ford's proposals were "typical" of their opening positions in past years. "They said nothing that surprised me," the official said. "But, if they stick to those demands, then we're headed for a strike."

AT YORKTOWN, on Oct. 19, 1781, Britain's Cornwallis surrendered his army to American and French forces commanded by Gen. Washington. The campaign ended in a classic military siege of the fortified port of Yorktown in which the allied troops encircled the British fortifications. As the British weakened under the continuous artillery fire, the Allies erected an even closer siege line. Lord Cornwallis, despairing of relief, surrendered his force rather than waste his men's lives. The World Almanac reveals.

"If this is the tip of the iceberg on their thinking and it's carried to a conclusion then certainly there will be a strike," declared a top union bargainer after reviewing Ford's proposals.

The UAW's top negotiator at GM, Vice President Irving Bluestone, called that firm's proposals "the hardest, most far-reaching, turn-back-the-clock demands I have ever seen" in 28 years of bargaining.

"I'm amazed that GM, which will report record profits of more than $925 million just for the second quarter, says to our workers: 'You're getting too much,'" added Bluestone. "If GM really is serious about this takeaway program then it is headed for deep trouble with this union."

The industry's proposals coincide with the release this week of second-quarter earnings statements which are expected to report record profits for each of the Big Three. Chrysler reported Monday that it made a record $155 million in the April-June period, compared with a $59 million loss a year ago. GM reports its results today and Ford on Thursday.

The industry's soaring profit picture compares with plummeting earnings last year when the recession sent car sales into a tailspin. Since last fall, however, the industry has staged a remarkable recovery that is exceeding even the most optimistic forecasts.

The union has pointed to those profits in support of its demands for "a piece of a bigger pie."

Talks on new contracts covering 680,000 auto workers opened last week, with bargainers expressing confidence that agreements could be reached without a national strike for the first time in a decade. Current three-year pacts expire in mid-September.

On Tuesday, one top union official said he still believed a strike could be averted, saying GM's and Ford's proposals were "typical" of their opening positions in past years. "They said nothing that surprised me," the official said. "But, if they stick to those demands, then we're headed for a strike."

union demands for increased job security, wages and fringe benefits.

UAW officials said they expected the first set of demands from Chrysler Corp., which was to present its proposals today, would parallel closely those of GM and Ford.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

AT YORKTOWN, on Oct. 19, 1781, Britain's Cornwallis surrendered his army to American and French forces commanded by Gen. Washington. The campaign ended in a classic military siege of the fortified port of Yorktown in which the allied troops encircled the British fortifications. As the British weakened under the continuous artillery fire, the Allies erected an even closer siege line. Lord Cornwallis, despairing of relief, surrendered his force rather than waste his men's lives. The World Almanac reveals.

U.S. Inspector To Probe Midland N-Plant Error

MIDLAND (AP) — A federal inspector will arrive in Midland today to investigate another construction error that has halted work at Consumers Power Co.'s Midland nuclear plant for the second time in two months.

Consumers officials ordered the shutdown Tuesday when it was discovered a contractor had failed to properly install steel reinforcement bars in the walls of the trouble-plagued plant's control-room building.

It is the 22nd instance in which such steel bars have been improperly installed or left out altogether at the Midland plant. A spokesman for the U.S.

Nuclear Regulatory Commission termed the most recent incident "amazing," and said the NRC is sending its own inspector to find out what happened.

Construction was stopped for three weeks last month when a contractor was found to have omitted the essential steel bars from certain spots in the same building.

During that shutdown, Consumers set up procedures designed to prevent a repeat of the situation. But the problem cropped up again early this week.

The NRC spokesman said, "At this point, we need to have our own inspector take a look at the situation before we determine what course of action to take." He would not speculate on what that action might be. The contractor responsible for installing the reinforcements is Bechtel Corp., a international engineering firm with offices in Ann Arbor which is building the $1.4 billion nuclear plant for Consumers.

"It's one of those things," Bechtel spokesman John Burge said Tuesday. "We're still trying to find out exactly what happened."

Stephen H. Howell, Consumers vice president for construction and engineering, acknowledge that Bechtel's routine inspection had failed to uncover the problem.

One of the problems in coming to grips with President Gerald Ford is that he is so sincere. Obviously a decent guy with a nice wife and a great fund of goodwill, he has a built-in appeal to middle-America, an appeal bolstered by his patent dislike for high theory.

Thus, in a personal sense I consider the president "honest" — I would willingly loan him $10 or my football. Yet, in a political sense, he has been thoroughly disingenuous — to put it politely. For example, in the hearings before the Senate Rules committee in Oct., 1973, when his nomination as vice president was under consideration, Representative Ford flatly stated, "I have no intention of seeking any public office in 1976."

At that time there was great concern that, with President Nixon already on the greased chute, a non-elected vice president would succeed to the presidency and then use incumbency to further his career.

A couple of years later, he crossed his heart and stated he would keep Vice President Nelson Rockefeller on his ticket — indeed, he almost went so far as to say that Rocky was the greatest vice president since Martin Van Buren. However, Rocky suddenly (to convert an active verb into the passive form) found himself resigned.

Then there was the strange case of situs picketing, the details of which need not concern us here except to note that President Ford had promised Secretary of Labor John Dunlop and the labor movement he would not veto a measure authorizing it. Dean Dunlop, who probably thought he had learned everything about dirty pool dealing with the Harvard faculty, was stunned and had the integrity to quit.

Finally, for our purposes, there was the supplemental appropriation of aid for Israel to which Mr. Ford had seemingly set his support in concrete. However, when it arrived on his desk, he vetoed it, stating, in effect, to his dismayed supporters, "I can not tell a lie: Henry Kissinger misstated my views."

Unless we are to revive the old sobriquet, "Continental liar," what are we to make of the president's political ethics?

The answer, of course, is his sincerity. In short, truth is whatever he believes at any moment and has no relevance to future sincere beliefs: Ford is "into" Sincerity.

Dissenters Are Minority, Says Lutheran Chief

BOSTON (AP) — The president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod says dissent over theology within his denomination is confined to a "small minority" and the controversy is drawing to a close.

The Rev. Dr. Jacob E. O. Preus gave that assessment Tuesday to delegates of another Lutheran body, the Lutheran Church in America. Preus, an advocate of liberal interpretation of Biblical language, acknowledged that some liberals have refused to accept synod positions on various doctrinal matters.

Calling the controversy an "identity problem," Preus estimated that about 100 of the synod's 6,300 congregations have broken ties with the parent body. He said about 1,000 of the synod's 2,000 pastors were among the dissenters, and he conceded that many had become affiliated with other Lutheran groups.

Preus said synod officials have tried to act cautiously in the dispute.

"We are taking a patient attitude, trying to avoid lawsuits or any precipitous action," he said. "People who are leaving seem to need a cause and we don't want to give them one. Sometimes they provoke the situation."

The Missouri Synod claims about 2.8 million adherents. The Lutheran Church in America, holding its eighth biennial convention in Boston, has a membership of 3.1 million.

In convention business Tuesday, the 600 delegates approved without debate a resolution calling on Congress to stop production and further research and development of the B-1 bomber.

A church spokesman said the Lutherans were the first major church group to take a position on the B-1 issue.

The delegates also approved a resolution setting temporary guidelines for Lutheran-Roman Catholic ecumenism. The resolution said that until Lutheran church officials meet next February with Catholic bishops, Lutherans ought not to "encourage Roman Catholics to violate the rules of their church."

The resolution referred specifically to the two churches' differing interpretations of the Eucharist.

On the subject of theological education, the convention reaffirmed the church's policy of providing 100 per cent financial support for five of the nine seminaries it sponsors in North America. The group also approved operating four other seminaries in cooperation with the American Lutheran Church and other Lutheran groups.

Tighter Secrets Control Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief lawyer for the CIA says the government should tighten its means of keeping secret information from the public instead of trying to punish newsmen who reveal classified documents.

CIA counsel Mitchell Rogovin told the House ethics committee on Tuesday that he approves of its $150,000 investigation into the manner in which CBS reporter Daniel Schorr obtained the House intelligence committee's secret final report.

RUNAWAY TRAILER: Pickup truck was struck by this runaway flatbed trailer in Coloma yesterday after trailer broke loose from dump truck towing it on Red Arrow highway east of Coloma avenue. Coloma city police said trailer traveled 255 feet after it broke loose when truck hit bump. Before striking pickup truck owned by Wayne Pugh and parked in his driveway, trailer mowed down seven wooden fence posts and two large shrubs. Dump truck driver, Richard L. Kniebes, 23, route 1, Watervliet, was not ticketed, officers said. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Vehicles Were Southbound When Cycle Passenger Killed

COVERT — Covert township police said yesterday that the vehicles involved in an accident Sunday night which claimed the life of a rural Coloma girl were southbound on M-140 near Covert when the crash occurred.

This newspaper Monday mistakenly reported the vehicles were northbound.

According to police, the accident occurred when a southbound car passing another southbound car struck the rear of a motorcycle entering a driveway. The cycle had been southbound before heading into the driveway on the other side of the road.

The rural Coloma girl, Carolyn Smith, 15, was a passenger on the cycle. The cycle driver was Anthony - Marsala, 18, route 1, Covert. The driver of the car was identified as Garth Balauf, 20, 216 Jones street, South Haven.

Police said the accident remains under investigation.

Kidnap-Rape Suspect Heading For Van Buren Trial Court

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Leonard Shephard, 46, of Detroit, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday after waiving a preliminary examination on charges of first degree sexual conduct (rape) and kidnapping.

Shephard was arrested by Covert township police Monday in connection with the alleged abduction and assault of a 13-year-old Covert girl. Shephard was apprehended by three citizens who had been alerted by friends of the alleged victim.

In other cases, Duncan Grays, 18, of South Haven, was sentenced to 90 days in the Van Buren county jail after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of attempted joy riding. He was originally charged with unlawfully driving away an auto after South Haven officers stopped a car that had been reported stolen from a local auto dealer.

Grays was also bound over to Van Buren circuit court on two counts of breaking and entering after waiving a preliminary examination. The breaking and entering charges are in connection with the alleged illegal entry of two local auto dealerships. A charge of concealing stolen property against Grays was dismissed for lack of evidence. He had been arrested in connection with the burglary of a South Haven home after a local jeweler said a man had brought rings into the store that matched the description of ones taken in the theft.

Paul Frazier, 34, of 261 Center

Indictment Against Patrolman Dropped

By NICK SMITH

Staff Writer

At a 90-second hearing this morning in Berrien Fifth District court, the final citizens' grand jury felony indictment against suspended Niles Patrolman Michael Lewandowski was dismissed on motion of the prosecution.

In earlier preliminary examinations Lewandowski had been bound over to Circuit court for trial on three perjury charges and charges of larceny from a building and larceny from an occupied dwelling.

Today's hearing was to deal with a charge of inciting former Patrolman Gilbert Brazo to commit perjury before the grand jury in March.

Special Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell told District Judge Leo Cook this morning "I do not feel his (Brazo's) testimony will support this charge against the defendant." McDowell requested, and was granted, a dismissal.

The court spent three full days earlier this month dealing with the grand jury's charges against Lewandowski. During the sessions, five perjury charges were also dismissed and a charge of breaking and entering was reduced to receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100, a misdemeanor.

Lewandowski, who was represented by Atty. Jerry O'Connor, continues free on bond awaiting a District court trial on the misdemeanor charge and Circuit court trials on the other felony counts.

Broad Support For Universities Is Suggested

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Multi-state regional support of universities may be the best way to provide college education while costs soar and enrollments drop, Michigan Gov. William Milliken said at the regional governors' conference Tuesday.

He said indications are that Midwestern university enrollments will drop during the 1980s, costs of maintaining already existing programs will rise and people will make increased demands on states for money.

Fire Snuffed After Car Hits Gas Pump

By TOM SAWYER

Staff Writer

An alert auto body shop owner used a portable extinguisher Tuesday to put out a fire in a gasoline pump that was knocked down when a car with three children inside rolled into it, Benton Harbor firemen reported.

Firemen said Columbus Franklin, owner of Franklin's Body Shop, 395 East Main street, saw the fire at the Sunoco Washbowl, 411 East Main, ran and extinguished the small blaze.

Firemen said the owner of the car was John Bethea, 540 North Stevens street, Benton Harbor, who left his three children in the car while he was in the laundry.

Firemen said the 4:43 p.m. fire was apparently caused by electrical wiring in the pump.

Firemen said it appeared that one of the youngsters hit the gear shift and it rolled backwards about 25 feet into the pump. The motor was apparently not running at the time. Bethea said he ran to the car and drove it away from the pump. The car was not damaged by fire and no one was hurt.

Firemen said the 4:43 p.m. fire was apparently caused by electrical wiring in the pump.

China Has Big Quake

withstood the quake, but that clusters of old brick houses collapsed, and most of the casualties were believed to have been in these.

Mainichi Shimbun said the municipal government ordered all persons living on or above the fifth floor of apartment buildings to move out because of the possibility of more tremors.

David Dean, deputy chief of the U.S. diplomatic mission, said all Americans known to be in Peking were safe. Those living in high-rise apartment houses and hotels were urged to move to the mission, where mission chief Thomas Gates, who took up his post in May, was supervising operations.

Dr. Barry Raleigh, the U.S. Geological Survey geophysicist who headed an American delegation of scientists to China recently, said he did not know if the Chinese predicted the quake today. But he said his party was told a large earthquake in northeast China was expected before 1980, and a general warning was issued in March 1975 that the Peking-Tientsin area might be affected.

The quake today was the largest recorded by the U.S. Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., since the Alaska quake on March 27, 1964, registered 8.4 on the Richter scale. It caused widespread damage and killed 131 persons.

"With the size of this one, damage would be expected," said Leroy Irby, a geophysicist at Golden.

The U.S. Geological Survey says 1975 is already the deadliest year for earthquakes since 1970, when quakes in Peru and Turkey killed more than 67,000 people.

The quake today was the 28th on the survey's list of "significant" earthquakes, those that caused deaths or extensive damage or registered at least 6.5 on the Richter scale. This is not an unusual number of quakes, but the death toll of more than 24,000 is already far higher than 1975, when 1,350 people were killed by quakes.

Most of this year's victims died in the Guatemalan quake on Feb. 4, which killed an estimated 23,000 persons.

Poll Puts Riegle Second

DETROIT (AP) — A poll commissioned by Flint Congressman Donald Riegle shows him 3 per cent behind Secretary of State Richard Austin at the head of the pack in the Democratic U.S. Senate race. Two of Riegle's opponents, however, discounted the poll as a self-serving effort by Riegle to show strength he may not have. Riegle's survey, released Tuesday, says Austin has the support of 32 per cent of people likely to vote Democratic in next Tuesday's Senate primary. Riegle's support is put at 29 per cent. The poll was conducted in telephone interviews by Riegle volunteers.

Assault Charge Eyed

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Saginaw authorities were considering assault charges against a 12-year-old boy held for questioning in the shooting of a companion after an argument over a hat. The victim, Anthony Jones, 14, was hospitalized in critical condition after surgery. The boy suffered a single gunshot wound to the chest on Monday, police said. Officers said the parents of the 12-year-old delivered him to police. Juvenile authorities said the youth could not be charged with a felony because of his age, but could face a juvenile petition and be found delinquent. If delinquent, he could face probation or be sent to a training home, officials said. Police said the youth obtained the .38 caliber pistol from the purse of a relative.

Carpenters Okay Pact

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some 2,000 carpenters, members of four locals in 17 counties, have ratified a two-year contract with Associated General Contractors. The pact, approved by a 2-1 margin, calls for a $1.10 hourly wage boost over the two years. The agreement brings a carpenter's hourly wage to $11.06 and foremen to $11.80. The agreement calls for a 60-cent an hour boost retroactive to July 19. The remaining 50 cents takes effect July 19, 1977. The carpenters ratifying the agreement are members of local 334 in Saginaw, 116 in Bay City, 1854 in Midland and 1873 in Flint.

The Parents Came Through

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The Saginaw Township board of education has accepted $34,000 raised by a parents organization to retain fall sports at Saginaw Eisenhower and MacArthur high schools. Football, cross country, golf, tennis and girls swimming were cancelled as part of $1.56 million in budget cuts implemented by the board earlier this month following defeat of a June millage increase request. The fate of winter and spring sports may rest with a planned November millage request if the parents' association fails to raise enough funds for a year-round program. The decision to accept the funds was made despite citizen and teacher protest that the action would endanger the November millage request. Some opponents also protested the restoration of high school athletics while other academic programs remain cut.

Dissenters Are Minority, Says Lutheran Chief

BOSTON (AP) — The president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod says dissension over theology within his denomination is confined to a "small minority" and the controversy is drawing to a close.

The Rev. Dr. Jacob E. O. Preus gave that assessment Tuesday to delegates of another Lutheran body, the Lutheran Church in America. Preus, an advocate of literal interpretation of Biblical language, acknowledged that some liberals have refused to accept synod positions on various doctrinal matters.

Kidnap-Rape Suspect Heading For Van Buren Trial Court

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — Leonard Shepherd, 46, of Detroit, was bound over to Van Buren circuit court yesterday after waiving a preliminary examination on charges of first degree sexual conduct (rape) and kidnapping.

Shepherd was arrested by Covert township police Monday in connection with the alleged abduction and assault of a 13-year-old Covert girl. Shepherd was apprehended by three citizens who had been alerted by friends of the alleged victim.

In other cases, Duncan Grays, 18, of South Haven, was sentenced to 90 days in the Van Buren county jail after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of attempted joy riding. He was originally charged with unlawfully driving away an auto after South Haven officers stopped a car that had been reported stolen from a local auto dealer.

Grays was also bound over to Van Buren circuit court on two counts of breaking and entering after waiving a preliminary examination. The breaking and entering charges are in connection with the alleged illegal entry of two local auto dealerships. A charge of concealing stolen property against Grays was dismissed for lack of evidence. He had been arrested in connection with the burglary of a South Haven home after a local jeweler said a man had brought rings into the store that matched the description of ones taken in the theft.

Paul Frazier, 34, of 251 Center

Desi Hall, 19, of Covert

Indictment Against Patrolman Dropped

By NICK SMITH

Staff Writer
At a 90-second hearing this morning in Berrien Fifth District court, the final citizens' grand jury felony indictment against suspended Niles Patrolman Michael Lewandowski was dismissed on motion of the prosecution.

In earlier preliminary examinations Lewandowski had been bound over to Circuit court for trial on three perjury charges and charges of larceny from a building and larceny from an occupied dwelling.

Today's hearing was to deal with a charge of inciting former Patrolman Gilbert Brazo to commit perjury before the grand jury in March.

Special Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell told District Judge Leo Cook this morning "I do not feel his (Brazo's) testimony will support this charge against the defendant." McDowell requested, and was granted, a dismissal.

The court spent three f days earlier this month dealing with the grand jury's charge against Lewandowski. During the sessions five perjury charges were also dismissed and a charge of breaking a entering was reduced to receiving and concealing stolen property valued under $100, misdemeanor.

Lewandowski, who w represented by Atty. Jer O'Connor, continues free bond awaiting a District court trial on the misdemeanor charge and Circuit court trial on the other felony counts.

Broad Support For Universities Is Suggested

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Multi-state regional support universities may be the best way to provide college education while costs soar a enrollments drop, Michigan Gov. William Milliken said the regional governor conference Tuesday.

He said indications are that Midwestern university enrollments will drop during 1980s, costs of maintaining already existing programs will rise and people will make increased demands on states money.

Fire Snuffed After Car Hits Gas Pump

By TOM SAWYER

Staff Writer
An alert auto body shop owner used a portable extinguisher Tuesday to put out a fire in a gasoline pump that was knocked down when a car with three children inside rolled into it, Benton Harbor firemen reported.

Firemen said Columbus Franklin, owner of Franklin's Body Shop, 395 East Main street, saw the fire at the Sunoco Washbowl, 411 East Main, rain and extinguished the small blaze.

Firemen said the owner of the car was John Bethea, 540 North Stevens street, Benton Harbor, who left his three children in the car while he was in the laundry.

Firemen said the 4:43 p.m. fire was apparently caused by electrical wiring in the pump.

Firemen said it appeared that one of the youngsters hit the gear shift and it rolled backwards about 25 feet into the pump. The motor was apparently not running at the time. Bethea said he ran to the car and drove it away from the pump. The car was not damaged by fire and no one was hurt.

Firemen said the 4:43 p.m. fire was apparently caused by electrical wiring in the pump.

Chikaming Sewer Job Bid Is $8.1 Million

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Bid opening Tuesday by the Berrien county board of public works (BPW) for construction of a sewage collection system in Chikaming township was almost an instant replay of the same bid opening in March.

The apparent low bidder for the project, estimated to cost more than $8 million and part of the Gallien River Sanitary Sewer system, was the same as in March, as was the apparent second lowest bidder.

The project was rebid because the BPW previously rejected the low bid because it was qualified, and rejected all other bids as being too high. That action has resulted in the threat of a lawsuit by the second lowest bidder. The apparent low bid yesterday came from Woodruff & Sons, Inc., of Michigan City, at $8,334,167. The firm's previous bid, at $7.8 million, was rejected because Woodruff had bid on four phases of the Gallien system as one project, but said the bid would only hold if Woodruff was awarded all four.

The apparent second lowest bid yesterday came from John P. Reilly, Inc., and Sullivan Brothers Excavating, New Hudson, Mich., with a joint bid of $8,366,918, compared with Reilly's previous bid of $9.7 million. There were seven bids on the Chikaming collection system, ranging to a high of $9.09 million from a Bloomfield Hills contractor.

Of yesterday's bids, BPW Director Robert Barnes said: "The apparent low bid, as far as the dollar amount is concerned, looks good." He said the BPW hopes to consider the bids and make the final award at today's BPW meeting or at the next meeting.

After the BPW rejected the original bids as being too high, Reilly appealed the rejection to the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which last month concurred with the

BPW's rejection. Reilly had contended that since Woodruff's first bid was rejected, his was the lowest, and should have been accepted. Earlier this month, Reilly sent a letter to the EPA, which also went to the BPW, requesting a formal hearing on the rejection, and threatening to file a federal suit contesting the bid rejection.

Contracts for the other phases of the Gallien River project, which will also serve the city and township of New Buffalo, have already been awarded by the BPW. The entire project will cost some $20 million and serve the City of New Buffalo, New Buffalo and Chikaming townships.

South Haven Youth Wins After 9 Years Of Trying

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

HARTFORD — Gary Pensinger, 18, of South Haven, made his last year as an exhibitor at the Van Buren county youth fair one to remember.

"I was beginning to think it wasn't possible," the smiling L.C. Mohr high school graduate said after his 1,065 pound Angus-Simmental cross was named grand champion market steer of this year's fair.

Pensinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pensinger, Sr., said he has been exhibiting at the fair for the past nine years and this is his first grand champ. Pensinger also credited his sister, Beth, 15, for helping raise and caring for the steer he exhibited.

The reserve champion market steer, a 1,205 pound Angus-Simmental cross was exhibited by Gary Dillenbeck, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dillenbeck, Lawrence.

Both animals will be the first on the auction block at the fair's livestock auction, Thursday, at 6 p.m.

The fair was to continue today with horse and dairy judging in the morning, sheep in the afternoon and swine in the evening at 6:30 p.m. At 4 p.m. the 12th annual tractor pull will be staged at the main track and a kids' pet parade will be held at 6 p.m.

On Thursday, the youth exhibitors horse show will continue at 9 a.m., followed by poultry judging at 1 p.m., a pony pull at 2 p.m., thrashing at 4 p.m., the youth livestock auction at 6 p.m., and an auto thrill show at 8 p.m.

In beef cattle competition yesterday other winners in various categories were as follows: Senior champion showman, Bob Ross, Paw Paw; Junior champion showman, Candy Remington, Bloomingdale; Young showman, Janet Rigoni, Decatur; Angus breeding, Allen Taylor, Decatur; Charolais, Ginger Barnes, Lawrence; Hereford, Steve Eiting, Bangor; Chianina, Steve Rigoni, Decatur; club herd, Geneva Wrens 4-H; Pooled Hereford award, David Dean, Lawrence.

Market steer winners by weight class included: 850 to 915 pounds, Brian Mead, Decatur; 916 to 939, Doug Burleson, Bloomingdale; 940 to 960, Larry Bodike, Grand Junction; 961 to 1,000, Allen Taylor, Decatur; 1,001 to 1,065, Glen Pensinger, South Haven; 1,066 to 1,100, Jeff Melvin, Bloomingdale; 1,101 to 1,150, Lois Sill, Lawrence; 1,151 to 1,250, Gary Dillenbeck, Lawrence; and 1,251 pounds and over, Kris Sill, Lawrence.

In Monday's lightweight horse pull, Gene Sellers, Camden, placed first pulling a 9,500 pound load 27½ feet. Copper Johnson, Reading, was second. Richard Fisher and Son, Decatur, captured the horsemanship trophy.

Co-winners of the 4-H exhibit both sweepstakes were Corwin Crackerjacks of Lawrence and West Valley Busy Bees of Decatur.

The fair, located at the corner of Red Arrow highway and CR-681, east of Hartford, continues through Saturday.

Yesterday's attendance of 5,200 brought the two-day total to 8,150, compared to last year's two-day total of 7,550, according to M.J. Conklin, fair co-manager.

Four Fathers Put On Probation

Four fathers with arrearages totaling almost $8,500 in child support for five children were held in contempt of court this week in Berrien Circuit court and placed on probation.

Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported on cases before Judge William S. White:

Robert L. Tschida, of Kalama, was placed on two years probation for $2,091 arrears for one child not on ADC, and ordered to find work within 45 days or spend 90 days in jail. He was also told to pay $33 weekly support and $10 on the arrearage if he finds work.

Shannon Conn, of 816 Grant street, Niles, was placed on two years probation for $2,470 arrears for one child not on ADC, and ordered to pay $60 support and $10 on the arrears each week. White warned Conn if he misses payments and is brought back to court he will be sentenced to jail.

David P. Jorgensen, of 9385 Church street, Bridgman, was placed on two years probation for $1,712 arrears for one child on ADC, and was ordered to find work in 30 days, and sign a wage assignment of $10 weekly support plus $5 on the arrearage. Pastrick noted Jorgensen has made only seven weekly payments since the order was started in January, 1973, but this week paid $500 towards the arrearage.

Dwovon R. Schounmaker, of 1570 US-33 North, Benton Harbor, got two years probation for $2,155 arrears for two children not on ADC, and was ordered to sign a wage assignment of $25 weekly support and $5 on the arrearage.

Sodus Will Give $500 To Center

SODUS — The Sodus township board last night approved paying $500, as budgeted, to the central county center for senior citizens in Berrien Springs.

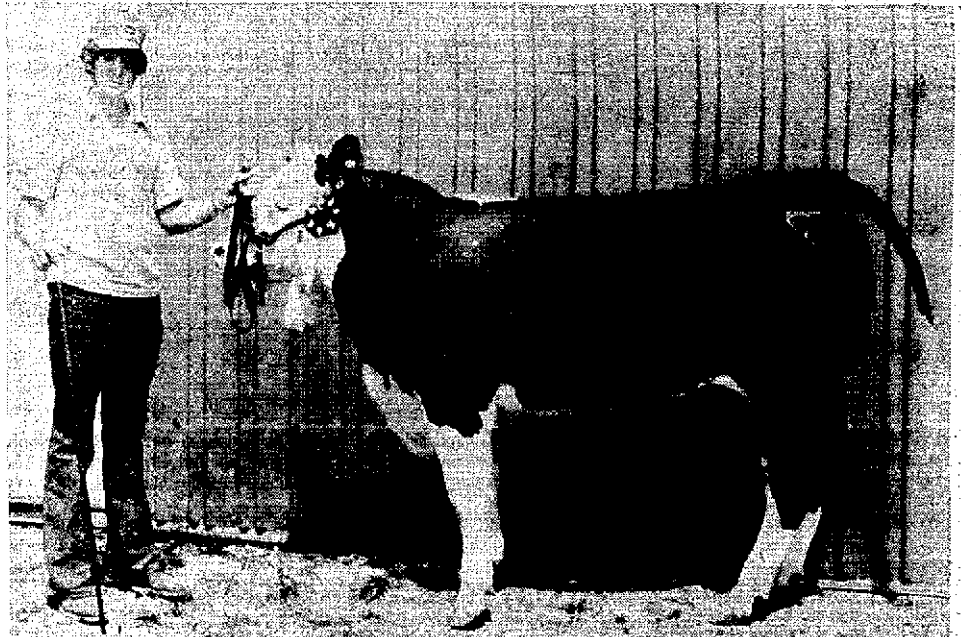

Carol B. Cox, township clerk, said the center is making plans to hold blood pressure clinics in the Sodus township hall in September. The center also provides other services to senior citizens.

In other areas, the board heard citizen complaints concerning the need for brush cutting along township roads. Fred Phroelich, township supervisor, said he would contact the county road commission concerning the matter.

RESERVE CHAMP: This Angus-Simmental cross, weighing in at 1,205 pounds and exhibited by Gary Dillenbeck, 16, Lawrence, was named reserve grand champion market steer at Van Buren youth fair. His animal along with grand champ and other fine market steers exhibited yesterday will go on auction block at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Butzbaugh In Bar Assembly

St. Joseph Atty. Alfred M. Butzbaugh was recently elected to the 193-seat Representative Assembly of the State Bar of Michigan, according to George E. Bushnell Jr., president of the bar.

The Representative Assembly, policy-making body of the bar, was created in 1972. Its membership includes elected attorney-representatives from each of the state's 48 judicial circuits. Butzbaugh, who was elected unopposed, will represent the Second Judicial Circuit which covers Berrien county.

Butzbaugh was one of 52 members elected in the assembly recently in balloting done by members of the State Bar.

Also elected without opposition to represent the 43rd Judicial Circuit (Cass county)

was Marcellus Atty. Burke H. Webb.

Tecumseh Man Is New Lawton Schools Chief

LAWTON — Dr. Ray Bandlow, 30, of Tecumseh, has been hired by the Lawton school board as the district's new superintendent.

In making the announcement on behalf of the board, Mrs. Jeannine Nesbitt, board secretary, said Bandlow, an administrative assistant in the Tecumseh public schools received his doctorate degree in educational administration from the University of Michigan in 1975. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Michigan university.

Bandlow replaces George Dannecker, who resigned effective June 30. Bandlow's two-year contract, expected to be ratified at the board's August meeting, calls for a first-year

salary of $22,000. Dannecker was making $23,000 per year.

The Lawton public school system has about 45 teachers with a K-12 enrollment of 1,040. The district's new high school opened in 1973.

Bandlow was one of 81 candidates considered for the job through a pre-screening process of a placement service operated by state universities. The board personally interviewed six candidates.

Bandlow has been at Tecumseh since 1973, and was principal at Harbor Beach and taught in Allen Park.

He and his wife, Cathy, have two children, Matt, 6, and Lisa,

Holland Man Slain

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — A 23-year-old Holland man died early today after being shot in a local bar, Holland police said. McArthur Blanton was shot Tuesday night and died at the Holland City Hospital. Police said they were looking for three persons for questioning in the slaying.

Clark Equipment Co. Reports Gain In Quarterly Net Income

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment Co. today reported net income of $15.1 million or $1.10 per share on sales of $127.5 million for the second quarter of 1976. In the comparable period in 1975, the company reported net income of $13.6 million, or $1 per share, on sales of $134.7 million.

For the first six months of 1976, Clark reported net income of $26.2 million, or $1.92 per share, on sales of $639.4 million. This compares with net income of $26.4 million, or $1.94 per share, on sales of $738.2 million for the same 1975 period.

The improved ratio of net income to sales in the first two quarters of 1976 resulted primarily from improved operating profit margins as a result of price increases, savings from cost reduction programs, and discontinuance of certain less profitable operations.

The 1976 first half income includes net income of $2.9 million from the sale of industrial truck branch inventory and rental fleets to newly-formed independent dealerships.

The second quarter of 1976 also includes an estimated net gain of $1 million from the sale of the company's U.S. commercial refrigeration business.

Bert E. Phillips, Clark president and chief executive officer, said operation results for the first half of 1976 place the company in a relatively good position to take advantage of the next upward cycle in Clark's business.

"Although business is recovering more slowly than we had anticipated," Phillips said, "we expect the second half of this year to be stronger than the first six months."

"Our material handling operations, which last year suffered from the industry's worst recession since World War II, have shown gradual improvement. By concentrating manufacturing efforts on high volume lift truck lines, production efficiency and inventory turnover both have increased."

Phillips said, "The construction machinery business remained slow as the anticipa-

ed increase in demand failed to materialize for most product lines. Orders were strong for Lima cranes, however, and this contributed to increased profitability of that division. Melroe division sales rose substantially, with the primary strength coming from sales to agricultural markets."

"The axle and transmission business remained soft, except for highway truck transmissions, for which demand is strong. Earlier this month we announced plans to build a new axle plant at Statesville, N.C., which will increase our axle manufacturing capacity by one-third. This new plant is scheduled for completion in 1977," Phillips said.

He also noted that the sale of the U.S. commercial refrigeration business, the material handling group branch divestiture program, and efforts to liquidate unprofitable manufacturing operations in England have combined to create a stronger and more liquid financial position for the company.

Potawatomis Schedule Pow Wow At Jones

JONES, Mich. — The annual Potawatomi Indian Pow Wow here will be held Saturday and Sunday, according to a spokesman for the sponsors, the Southwestern Michigan Indian center in Watervliet. Authentic Indian dances are scheduled for 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., Saturday, with the finals beginning at 1 p.m., Sunday. Chikaming Sewer Job Bid Is $8.1 Million

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Bid opening Tuesday by the Berrien county board of public works (BPW) for construction of a sewage collection system in Chikaming township was almost an instant replay of the same bid opening in March.

The apparent low bidder for the project, estimated to cost more than $8 million and part of the Galien River Sanitary Sewer system, was the same as in March, as was the apparent second lowest bidder.

The project was rebid because the BPW previously rejected the low bid because it was qualified, and rejected all other bids as being too high. That action has resulted in the threat of a lawsuit by the second lowest bidder. The apparent low bid yesterday came from Woodruff & Sons, Inc., of Michigan City, at $8,134,167. The firm's previous bid, at $7.8 million, was rejected because Woodruff had bid on four phases of the Galien system as one project, but said the bid would only hold if Woodruff was awarded all four.

The apparent second lowest bid yesterday came from John P. Reilly, Inc., and Sullivan Brothers Excavating, New Hudson, Mich., with a joint bid of $8,366,918, compared with Reilly's previous bid of $9.7 million. There were seven bids on the Chikaming collection system, ranging to a high of $9.09 million from a Bloomfield Hills contractor.

Of yesterday's bids, BPW Director Robert Barnes said: "The apparent low bid, as far as the dollar amount is concerned, looks good." He said the BPW hopes to consider the bids and make the final award at today's BPW meeting or at the next meeting.

After the BPW rejected the original bids as being too high, Reilly appealed the rejection to the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which last month concurred with the

BPW's rejection. Reilly had contended that since Woodruff's first bid was rejected, his was the lowest, and should have been accepted. Earlier this month, Reilly sent a letter to the EPA, which also went to the BPW, requesting a formal hearing on the rejection, and threatening to file a federal suit contesting the bid rejection.

Contracts for the other phases of the Galien River project, which will also serve the city and township of New Buffalo, have already been awarded by the BPW. The entire project will cost some $20 million and serve the City of New Buffalo, New Buffalo and Chikaming townships.

Four Fathers Put On Probation

Four fathers with arrearages totaling almost $8,500 in child support for five children were held in contempt of court this week in Berrien Circuit court and placed on probation.

Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported on cases before Judge William S. White:

Robert L. Tschida, of Kalamazoo, was placed on two years probation for $2,091 arrearages for one child not on ADC, and ordered to find work within 45 days or spend 90 days in jail. He was also told to pay $33 weekly support and $10 on the arrearage if he finds work.

Shannon Conn, of 816 Grant street, Niles, was placed on two years probation for $2,470 arrearages for one child not on ADC, and ordered to pay $60 support and $10 on the arrearages each week. White warned Conn if he misses payments and is brought back to court he will be sentenced to jail.

David P. Jorgensen, of 9595 Church street, Bridgman, was placed on two years probation for $1,712 arrearages for one child on ADC, and was ordered to find work in 30 days, and sign a wage assignment of $10 weekly support plus $5 on the arrearage. Pastrick noted Jorgensen has made only seven weekly payments since the order was started in January, 1973, but this week paid $500 towards the arrearage.

Donovan R. Schoonmaker, of 1570 US-33 North, Benton Harbor, got two years probation for $2,155 arrearages for two children not on ADC, and was ordered to sign a wage assignment of $25 weekly support and $5 on the arrearage.

Sodus Will Give $500 To Center

SODUS — The Sodus township board last night approved paying $500, as budgeted, to the central county center for senior citizens in Berrien Springs.

Carrol B. Cox, township clerk, said the center is making plans to hold blood pressure clinics in the Sodus township hall in September. The center also provides other services to senior citizens.

In other areas, the board heard citizen complaints concerning the need for brush cutting along township roads. Fred Phroehlich, township supervisor, said he would contact the county road commission concerning the matter.

Clark Equipment Co. Reports Gain In Quarterly Net Income

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment Co. today reported net income of $15.1 million or $1.10 per share on sales of $327.5 million for the second quarter of 1976. In the comparable period in 1975, the company reported net income of $13.6 million, or $1 per share, on sales of $384.7 million.

For the first six months of 1976, Clark reported net income of $26.2 million, or $1.92 per share, on sales of $639.4 million. This compares with net income of $26.4 million, or $1.94 per share, on sales of $738.2 million for the same 1975 period.

The improved ratio of net income to sales in the first two quarters of 1976 resulted primarily from improved operating profit margins as a result of price increases, savings from cost reduction programs, and discontinuance of certain less profitable operations.

The 1976 first half income includes net income of $2.9 million from the sale of industrial truck branch inventory and rental fleets to newly-formed independent dealerships.

The second quarter of 1976 also includes an estimated net gain of $1 million from the sale of the company's U.S. commercial refrigeration business.

Bert E. Phillips, Clark president and chief executive officer, said operation results for the first half of 1976 place the company in a relatively good position to take advantage of the next upward cycle in Clark's business.

"Although business is recovering more slowly than we had anticipated," Phillips said, "we expect the second half of this year to be stronger than the first six months."

"Our material handling operations, which last year suffered from the industry's worst recession since World War II, have shown gradual improvement. By concentrating manufacturing efforts on high volume lift truck lines, production efficiency and inventory turnover both have increased."

Phillips said, "The construction machinery business remained slow as the anticipated increase in demand failed to materialize for most product lines. Orders were strong for Lima cranes, however, and this contributed to increased profitability of that division. Melroe division sales rose substantially, with the primary strength coming from sales to agricultural markets.

"The axle and transmission business remained soft, except for highway truck transmissions, for which demand is strong. Earlier this month we announced plans to build a new axle plant at Statesville, N.C., which will increase our axle manufacturing capacity by one third. This new plant is scheduled for completion in 1977," Phillips said.

He also noted that the sale of the U.S. commercial refrigeration business, the material handling group branch divestiture program, and efforts to liquidate unprofitable manufacturing operations in England have combined to create a stronger and more liquid financial position for the company.

Potawatomis Schedule Pow Wow At Jones

JONES, Mich. — The annual Potawatomis Indian Pow Wow here will be held Saturday and Sunday, according to a spokesman for the sponsors, the Southwestern Michigan Indian center in Watervliet. Authentic Indian dances are scheduled for 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., Saturday, with the finals beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday. Butzbaugh In Bar Assembly

St. Joseph Atty. Alfred M. Butzbaugh was recently elected to the 193-seat Representative Assembly of the State Bar of Michigan, according to George E. Bushnell Jr., president of the bar.

The Representative Assembly, policy-making body of the bar, was created in 1972. Its membership includes elected attorney-representatives from each of the state's 48 judicial circuits. Butzbaugh, who was elected unopposed, will represent the Second Judicial Circuit which covers Berrien county.

Butzbaugh was one of 52 members elected to the assembly recently in balloting done by members of the State Bar.

Also elected without opposition to represent the 43rd Judicial Circuit (Cass, county)

was Marcellus Atty. Burke H. Webb.

Tecumseh Man Is New Lawton Schools Chief

LAWTON — Dr. Ray Bandlow, 30, of Tecumseh, has been hired by the Lawton school board as the district's new superintendent.

In making the announcement on behalf of the board, Mrs. Jeannine Nesbit, board secretary, said Bandlow, an administrative assistant in the Tecumseh public schools received his doctorate degree in educational administration from the University of Michigan in 1975. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Michigan university.

Bandlow replaces George Dannecker, who resigned effective June 30. Bandlow's two-year contract, expected to be ratified at the board's August meeting, calls for a first-year

salary of $22,000. Dannecker was making $23,400 per year.

The Lawton public school system has about 45 teachers with a K-12 enrollment of 1,940. The district's new high school opened in 1973.

Bandlow was one of 81 candidates considered for the job through a pre-screening process of a placement service operated by state universities. The board personally interviewed six candidates.

Bandlow has been at Tecumseh since 1973, and was principal at Harbor Beach and taught in Allen Park.

Holland Man Slain

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — A 23-year-old Holland man died early today after being shot in a local bar, Holland police said. McArthur Blanton was shot Tuesday night and died at the Holland City Hospital. Police said they were looking for three persons for questioning in the slaying.

Four American Boxers In Semifinals

U.S. Cagers Back On Top

By BOB GREEN
AP Sports Writer
 MONTREAL (AP) — It was no contest. If it had been a fight, they'd have stopped it.
 Perhaps the most eagerly-awaited sports event in the past four years was a rout, a one-sided run-away, an anti-climax.
 In fact, the United States' emotional 95-74 basketball victory over Yugoslavia for the Olympic gold medal was as assured as quickly, so easily, the television cameras beaming coverage to the United States cut away on a more or less regular basis to focus on men's platform diving and boxing quarter-finals.
 But it was the big one, the event the United States wanted to win in these XXI Olympic Games. The youngest team the United States has ever fielded wiped out the memory of Munich and the only Olympic game it had ever lost. It was an inspired performance that restored the team to amateur supremacy in the game the Americans invented.

 Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame scored eight of his game-high 30 points in the first six minutes. The United States built a 20-8 lead in that time and from then on it was not a matter of "who" but "by how much."
 Some of the edge may have been taken off the triumph because it came against Yugoslavia, not Russia, the team that scored that controversial decision over the United States four years ago.
 The Russians didn't make it to the final. Instead, they had to settle for a 100-72 victory over Canada last night and the bronze.

 But the absence of the Russians didn't bother Coach Dean Smith or his players at all.
 "I guess a lot of people are disappointed we didn't play the Russians," said guard Quinn Buckner of Indiana. "I didn't care who we had to beat. I just wanted that big piece of gold."
 "I was so happy at the presentation ceremony, there were tears in my eyes," said Smith.

 "I thought we deserved that ovation we receive," said Scott May, Indiana's All American. "A lot of people didn't think we could do it. I think the American people should be grateful for the job we've done."
 And it was a job that needed doing. It was the only gold medal the Americans have acquired in the past two days.
 With the United States picking up only eight medals in the last two days, they now are far behind Russia. The Russians have a 29-29-22 count in gold, silver and bronze, 80 over-all. East Germany is 28-18-16, for 62 total. The United States is 22-25-18, 65 total.
 Some gains were made, however. Four American boxers advanced to the semifinals, where they're assured of at least a bronze. Four other fighters are in action tonight and all have a good chance of reaching the semis. The United States won only two boxing medals in 1972.

 Light welterweight Sugar Ray Leonard, Palmer Park, Md.; lightweight Howard Davis, Glen Cove, N.Y.; bantamweight Charles Mooney, an Army sergeant stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C., and flyweight Leo Randolph, Tacoma, Wash., all advanced to the semifinals.
 Fighting in the quarter-finals tonight are Clint Jackson, Nashville, Tenn., at 147 pounds; Mike Spinks, St. Louis, at 165; his brother Leon Spinks, a marine stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C., at 178, and heavyweight John Tate of Knoxville, Tenn.

World champion Darrell Pace, a 19-year-old Air Force technician from Cincinnati, had a solid, 16-point lead after the first day of archery competition.
 The United States also can expect a silver or bronze yachting medal from Hawaiians David McFaul and Michael Rothwell in today's final race of the Tornado Class. They were in second place after the first six races but had no chance at the gold, already clinched by Great Britain.

Two of the four American medals picked up Tuesday came in yachting, a bronze to Dennis Conner, San Diego, and Conn Findlay, Belmont, Calif., in the Tempest Class, which was won by Sweden.

The United States' Soling Class entry, skippered by John Kolius, LaPorte, Tex., and crewed by Walter Glasgow, Kemah, Tex., and Richard Hoepfner, Seabrook, Tex., took the silver behind Denmark. The Americans actually finished in a tie with East Germany but were awarded the silver on the basis of their victory in the final race.

West Germany won in the Flying Dutchman and 470 classes and Jochen Schumann of East Germany won the single-handed Finn Class.

Greg Louganis, a 16-year-old from El Cajon, Calif., won the silver in men's platform diving, and — with the cameras switching away from the basketball rout — got a lot of television time in doing it.

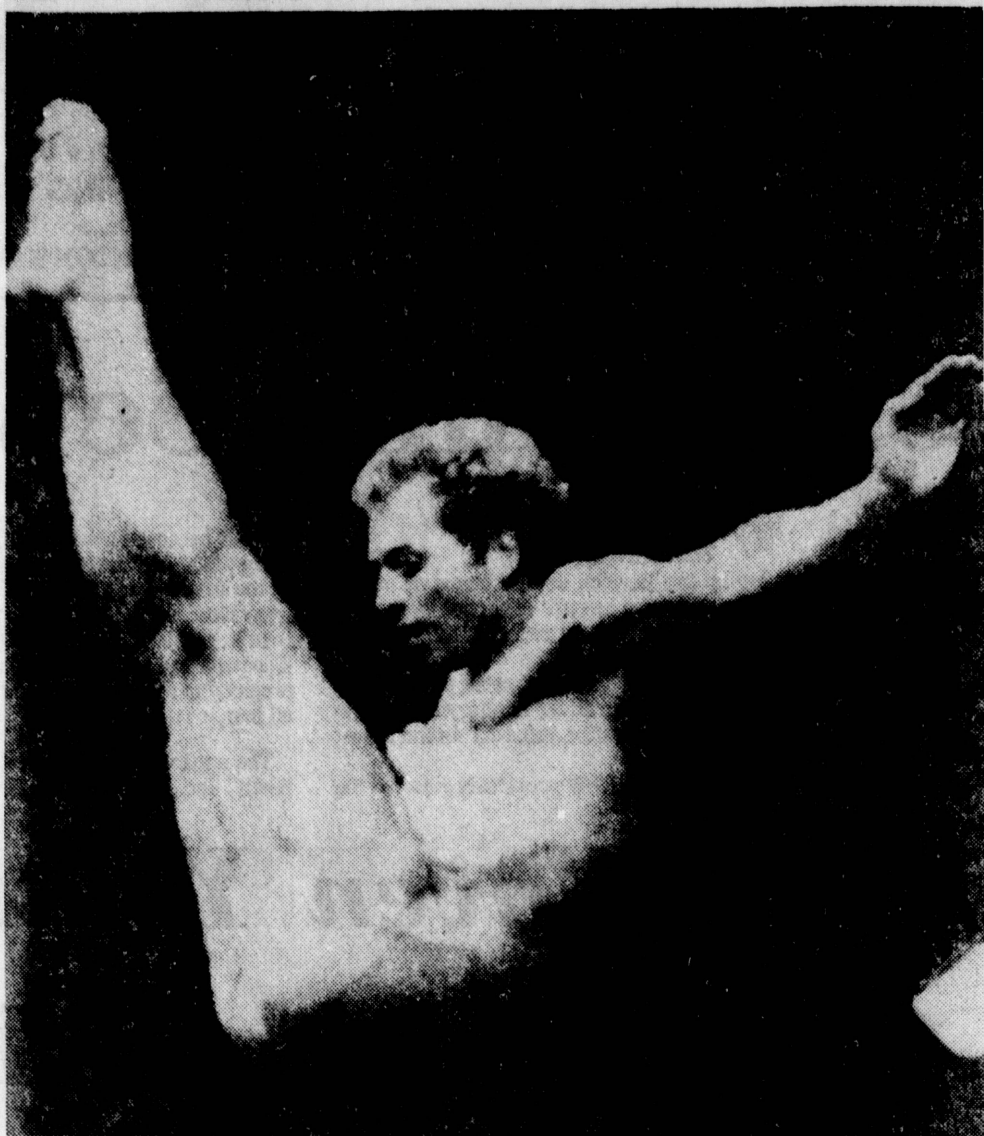

Louganis led the qualifying, led through the early dives but was no match for veteran Klaus Dibiasi of Italy. Dibiasi won an unprecedented third gold medal in his last international competition with the highest score ever recorded in the Olympics, 600.51 points. Louganis had 576.99 and Russian Vladimir Aleynik, also 16, was third with 548.61.

In other medal events, Hungary won water polo, Russia won the men's saber team fencing, Kazuhiro Ninomiya of Japan took the gold in heavyweight judo, Alwin Schockemuehle of West Germany won the equestrian individual Grand Prix jumping and Vasily Alexeev, a 344-pound Russian, won the super-heavyweight weight-lifting with a total hoist of 896 pounds.

His Fuzz Kids 'Stupendous'

Pot Of Gold For Smith

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
 MONTREAL (AP) — The long ordeal is ended for Dean Smith, the little Kansas-born court tactician who turned a mountain of headaches into a cascade of gold medals for the American basketball team.
 "Now, after six months, maybe I can get in a round of golf," the University of North Carolina coach said after directing the U.S. fuzz kids to the Olympic championship with a 95-74 victory over Yugoslavia.
 Smith, pale and showing signs of strain from 16-hour days, carping criticism and the responsibility of having to restore America's basketball prestige, heaved a big sigh of relief.
 "No, I don't think I would want this job again," he acknowledged. "I think the Olympic basketball coach, like the members of the team, should be changed every four years."

 It's been a tormenting grind, but it ended at the foot of a rainbow.
 "Just before the semifinal game with Canada, I thought the pressure was really getting to me," he added, "but, even with the tremendous stake, I felt more at ease in the final."
 He admitted he couldn't restrain tears during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner."
 "My other coaches cried, too," he said, referring to John Thompson of Georgetown (D.C.) University and Bill Guthridge, one of his aides at North Carolina.

Smith won with the youngest team ever to play in the Olympic Games. One, Phil Hubbard of Michigan, is only 19. Three are 20 and five 21.
 Against the Yugoslavs, they played older men — four over 26, all well-seasoned. They have played together as a national team for years.
 Smith's was a team that was ridiculed before it ever stepped on the floor.
 The experts, including pro scouts, said it was weak up the middle, lacking a strong center in Mitch Kupchak of North Carolina after more highly rated pivot men became unavailable — by choice or otherwise.
 Smith was roundly assailed because there were four of his North Carolina players on the team as well as three others from his conference, the Atlantic Coast.
 "I wouldn't swap the 12 guys over there," he said, pointing to the team marching into the interview area, "for any other 12 guys that could have been picked. They proved themselves."
 Smith said he personally got more satisfaction out of seeing his team redeem itself in the face of this widespread criticism than in the vindication of the "Great Munich Court Robbery" of 1972.
 It was in the final at Munich that the United States lost its first basketball game in Olympic history, a 52-51 loss to the Russians after officials twice ordered replay of the final three seconds and the Soviets won on a goal by Alexander Belov.

 Now they have a dozen golds, which they didn't refuse. Ironically, the coach doesn't get one, despite all the hours and sweat he poured into the campaign.
 "It doesn't matter," Smith said. "I got all the satisfaction I needed from watching those guys win. They were stupendous."

Barchett's Gets Wild Victory

Jim Etter, Dave Rennhack and Tim Theisen all banged out three hits as Barchett's outslugged Plangger's No. 2 19-18 Tuesday night in a Twin City Recreational fastpitch softball game. Roger Coffel and Mike Podjan both had three hits, including two doubles each, for the losers.
 Dan Griffiths slugged three hits, including a double and triple, Jim Griffiths two doubles and Gary Rose a triple as Michigan Bell bounced Fister's Realty 12-2. Doug Jones took the win. Dick Sager and Fred Knuth both got two hits for Fister's.

Cuba's Stevenson Bored Champion

Listless In First Olympic Bout

MONTREAL (AP) — He looks bored, lazy and sloppy. An assembly line worker 10 minutes before quitting time, a car wash guy sloshing his 12 millionth fender.
 He's Teofilo Stevenson, the big Cuban heavyweight who is defending his gold medal here with eyes drooping into terminal ennui. He seems to want to be somewhere else. The odor of a fighter-who-can-be-had is everywhere around him.
 "Boxing is something he'd like to get over with," says somebody who knew Teofilo when.
 The comment comes from Duane Bobick, the great American gold medal hope in Munich, who ran into a live Stevenson and his then-deadly jab the same day Black September massacred 11 Israeli team members.
 "I would annihilate him now," says Bobick, now undefeated in 36 pro fights. "He hasn't advanced. His head isn't in it. My head was so messed up that day in Munich and I never got started. I think the Cubans force him into a lot of things he doesn't want to do, thinking he's invincible. When I spoke to him last he was really into the youth movement down there, the government thing."

 Bobick, who fights out of Philadelphia, watched Stevenson on television Monday against Mamadou Drame, a Senegalese whose shoes were too big and his jaw too immobile. Stevenson got a second-round knockout but the impression he gave was of total lethargy, the day laborer from the worker's paradise who can't stand his job.
 Stevenson fights Pekka Ruokola from Finland tonight, and the few minutes against Drame — "a guy who couldn't do anybody any damage" — showed Bobick how reachably Stevenson is.

 "His jab looks even slower than before. It looks like his attitude is shot and you see vulnerability all over him. Needless to say I wasn't impressed."
 Bobick said he thought Bill John Tate, the American heavyweight who could do the job on Stevenson or for that matter some heavyweight he didn't know. "I they keep Tate moving away from him, he can do it. It's slim chance, okay, but it's real one."
 Stevenson talked to reporter in his slightly arrogant style after beating Drame. He said he never heard of Tate; no, he wasn't bored; that he's fighting for the Cuban people and Fidel that, sure, he's improved, and that no fights are easy.
 He made faces at his manager that read like, "Get me out of here," and was just about to go when a reporter asked about his record. "It's 134 and two, with 95 KOs," he said.
 Stevenson had forgotten couple of losses in the bargain including a knockout defeat in March to a Russian.
 Bobick, who once beat Stevenson in the Pan America Games, sympathized with him and the loss of memory. He said, "You think it's easy to go on like that? What's he got to win? Another gold medal? An if he wins that, then they'll start bugging him about Moscow in four years. Stevenson can't handle — now — and I sympathize with him. Tell him hello from me."

ABC Featuring Track, Field

MONTREAL (AP) — Track and field competition resumes today in 15 events, five of them finals, as ABC-TV's coverage of the Summer Olympics continues.
 After taking Tuesday off, the track and field competitors will bid for gold medals in the men's 100-meter hurdles, hammer throw, and 3,000-meter steeplechase and the women's high jump and 200-meter dash.
 America's best chance for a medal in Wednesday's finals is Charles Foster in the high hurdles.
 ABC will televise 3 1/4 hours from Montreal, from 7:30 p.m. to 11 p.m., EDT. There will be a 15-minute wrapup at 11:30 p.m.
 Exact events to be televised won't be known until shortly before air time because much of the programming is live.
 The women's 200 meters will feature a rematch between Renate Stecher of East Germany and Annegret Richter of West Germany. The East German won the gold in this event in 1972 but lost to the West German earlier this week in the 100 meters.

 The strong U.S. boxers continue to move toward the final round. Also scheduled are archery, canoeing, equestrian dressage, fencing, field hockey, handball, judo and freestyle wrestling.

IHL Head To Testify

DETROIT (AP) — The commissioner of the International Hockey League, Bill Beagan, has been asked by the U.S. House of Representatives to appear before its select committee on professional sports Thursday in Washington, D.C.
 Beagan will join a group of hockey executives including National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell who are appearing before the committee to answer questions and give information about the sport.

 The committee has been investigating anti-trust laws, immigration, violence on the ice, franchise acquisition and other major areas relating to professional hockey in the U.S.
 Beagan said the committee told him information from the IHL was "essential" because of the league's status in minor league hockey.

Burris Shuts Out Expos

As Cubs Snap Loss String

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray Burris tossed a three-hitter and Chicago tallied four runs in the first inning as the Cubs snapped a four-game losing streak by blanking the Montreal Expos 5-0.

Burris, 6-11, faced a minimum 18 batters through the first six innings as Wayne Garrett, who singled in the first, was erased in a double play.

The Chicago hurler did not allow another runner until Garrett singled with one out in the seventh.

Meanwhile, Bob Watson showed that he could take it as well as dish it out.

And, boy, did he have to take it Tuesday night.

The Houston slugger was hit in the face by a pitch and then battered in the back with a throw. But while the San Diego Padres were hurting Watson a little with the ball, he was hurting them a lot with his bat — driving in four runs to pace a 4-1 Houston victory.

"The ball hit the rim of my glasses," said Watson of the pitch from Rich Folkers that drove his glasses into his nose. "I sort of expected to get hit by the pitch."

The brush-back pitch occurred in the seventh, after Watson had done all his damage in the first five innings. Then, moments later, Watson was hit by the ball again — this time while trying to break up a potential double play.

When Watson slid hard into second on a ground ball, San Diego shortstop Enzo Hernandez threw his relay at the burly Houston runner and touched off a bench-clearing brawl. Watson and Hernandez started fighting before the rest of the players came on the field.

In the other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-1; the San Francisco Giants routed the Cincinnati Reds 9-4; and the New York Mets whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1.

Frank Taveras scored the winning run on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning, leading Pittsburgh over St. Louis.

Taveras' run snapped a 1-1 pitching duel between the Cards' Pete Falcone, 6-11, and the Pirates' Bruce Kison, 8-6, who survived 11 St. Louis hits with the aid of two double plays.

San Francisco battered Jack Billingham after being held hitless for four innings, scoring six runs in the fifth inning, and crushed Cincinnati behind Darrell Evans' three hits and three RBI.

Evans included a two-run homer in his night's work to support Jim Barr's pitching. Barr, the only San Francisco starter, with a winning record, boosted his record to 9-6, allowing seven hits and four runs in 7-2/3 innings.

Roy Staiger keyed two New York rallies and the Mets used only six hits to beat Philadelphia. Staiger singled and scored the first New York run in the fifth, when the Mets scored twice. The Mets added two more runs in the sixth with Staiger delivering a sacrifice fly.

Bob Myrick, 1-0, the second of three Mets' pitchers, earned the victory while Tom Underwood, 6-3, took the loss.

Jenkins Registers 200th Pitching Win

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's been a disappointing season thus far for Ferguson Jenkins but it took a turn for the better Tuesday night.

The 32-year-old right-hander, who broke in with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1965 and is now with his fourth club, became the 72nd pitcher in major league history to post 200 victories.

Jenkins, who has pitched 39 career shutouts, reached the 200-victory milestone with a far-from-climactic performance. He allowed 14 hits and seven runs in seven innings-plus as Boston held on to beat Cleveland 8-7 and snap a six-game losing streak.

"Hitting 200 is like getting a mink coat for the first time," Jenkins said. "You want it, but you never think you'll get it. This doesn't make up for the season and it's just my ninth win, but there's been a lot of innings and pitches for those 200 wins."

Fred Lynn drove in a pair of runs and scored three times and Boston survived a 16-hit attack. Boston's Carlton Fisk slammed his 10th home run of the season — his first since June 17 — and Cleveland's George Hendrick got his 18th.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Oakland A's nipped the Chicago White Sox 1-0, the California Angels edged the Kansas City Royals 2-1, the Baltimore Orioles whipped the New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Detroit Tigers 6-4. The Texas-Minnesota game was rained out. Blue pitched his second straight shutout and Claudell Washington and Ken McMullen delivered successive hits in the seventh inning to give the Oakland A's a victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Blue, 9-9, allowed 10 hits but struck out nine and walked none in pitching the A's within seven games of Kansas City in the American League West.

With one out in the seventh, Washington hit a grounder and stretched the hit into a double as the ball stopped in shallow center field. McMullen then singled to drive in the only run.

The A's left the bases loaded in the sixth when Bert Campaneris singled, Joe Rudi was awarded first base on catcher Jim Essian's interference and Billy Williams walked. Sal Bando grounded into a forceout to end the threat.

Through the first five innings, no A's baserunner reached second base against Rich Gossage, who went into the game with a string of six straight losses despite some good pitching.

Frank Tanana made Andy Etchebarren's two-run double in the fifth inning stand up with a four-hit 2-1 victory as the Angels snapped Paul Split-torff's Kansas City club record eight-game winning streak. The complete game was Tanana's 15th of the season, tops in the league, and gave Norm Sherry, the Angels' new manager, his fourth victory in five starts.

Baltimore used four New York errors and a bad-hop single to score three tainted runs and Al Bumbry homered as Jim Palmer became the AL's first 14-game winner. Palmer, who has won eight of his last nine decisions, blanked the Yankees until the ninth when they scored on a hit batsman, a stolen base and Roy White's single, their fourth hit.

TENNIS
LOUISVILLE — Top seeded Guillermo Vilas defeated John James of Australia 6-4, 6-4 in the second round of $125,000 Louisville International Classic.

MOSCOW — Spainards Manuel Orantes and Juan Gisbert combined to defeat Alex Metreveli and Teimuraz Kakulia of the Soviet Union 6-1, 6-1, 8-10, 6-3 to cut the Russians lead to 2-1 in their Zone A Davis Cup semifinal match.

FOOTBALL
OTTAWA — Quarterback Tom Clements and halfback Art Green triggered the Ottawa Rough Riders to a 38-0 Canadian Football League victory over the Winnipeg Blue Bombers Tuesday night.

BASEBALL
NEW YORK — The Yankees dug deep into their pinstripes sign pitcher Ken Holtzman and third baseman Graig Nettles in long-term contracts. No details were announced.

Career Clips

Steve Schneck from Benton Harbor is having a successful season so far for Elmira in the New York-Pennsylvania league (Single A). He leads the team in strikeouts with 27 in 23 innings. As a relief pitcher he has four saves and two wins with an ERA below 1.00. Schneck's team won the first half championship of their league Sunday night. Schneck is one of 18 rookie pitchers on the team. He is in the Boston Red Sox minor league system.

The sophomore had a 3.46 grade point average during the winter quarter majoring in automotive service.

In final NCAA Division III statistics released last week, Compton was listed among the national leaders in two categories. He was 10th in home runs with 0.28 per game, his 11 total leading the nation. And he finished 16th in RBIs with 1.08 per game.

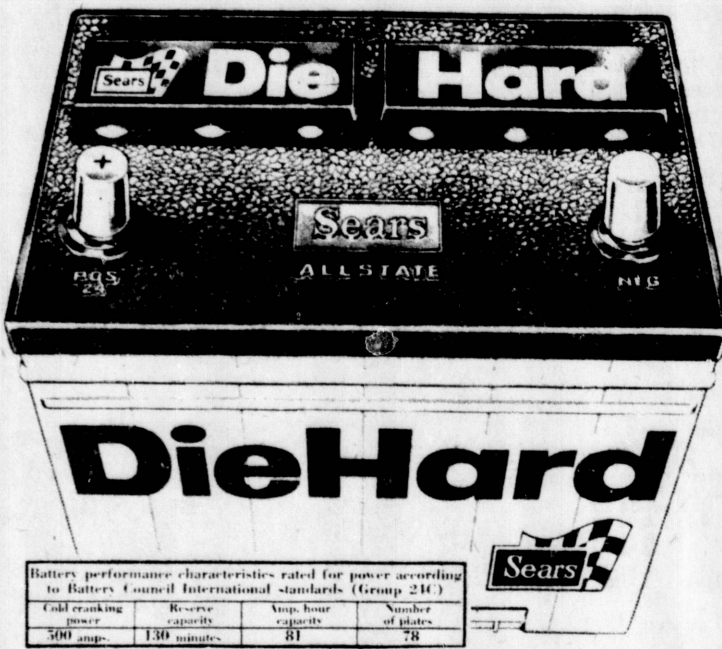

Lions Drop Two Players

South Haven's Joe Compton, a Ferris State first baseman, is a second team choice on the Academic All-Americans squads. The teams were selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Compton, earlier named a second team NAIA All-American, had a .341 average this past spring while setting Bulldog records with nine doubles, 11 home runs, 20 extra base hits and 42 runs batted in.

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions Tuesday cut two players, quarterback Bill Bowerman, a 10th-round draft choice from New Mexico State, and free agent defensive back Billie Hayes of San Diego State. The cuts lowered the Lions' preseason roster to 71, including 11 draft choices and 11 free agents.

Ex-Vaulter Seagren Says Amateur Athletics Fraud

By JERRY GREEN
Detroit News

MONTREAL — At Mount Olympus in ancient Greece, the athletes were naked when they ran and jumped and hurled the weights.

There was a certain purity in the Olympic Games as the athletes competed for their city-states. It was when the performers put on uniforms that the possibilities of corruptions arose in the Olympic Games.

It seems that the athletes of today, the amateurs, run in their national uniforms for medals of gold and silver and bronze. It seems that way... that there is purity at this ultimate level of amateur sports.

But in reality the sprinters and vaulters and jumpers are performing for dollars and francs and deutsche mark and kroner and lire and pesos.

"It's an absolute hypocrisy," said Bob Seagren, who once was the world champion pole vaulter and Olympic gold medal winner. "It's been going on for years. European officials say it's normal for athletes to receive money. They turn their heads."

"In Europe, you get in line. You make what you bargain before (the meet). And you usually try to collect before. They take you down to the basement and try to be secretive."

Seagren is not an outraged moralist calling copper on a bunch of criminals. He confesses himself to the standard sins against the amateur purity code. He regrets nothing and does not feel a sense of guilt.

Amateurism is a sham and he proclaimed it as such.

"I remember the summer of 1966 in Paris after a meet," Seagren told me here where he is a member of ABC-TV's team of specialists for the Montreal Olympics. "Michael Jazy, the French miler, was a hot runner then. I was standing in line behind him and they were laying out a lot of francs for Jazy."

"I think $10,000 he got paid for that race. I got $200 or $300. I was a youngster then."

Seagren quickly learned the system. The athletes toured Europe in the summer months. They traveled from meet to meet, from Paris to Rome to Berlin to Copenhagen to Stockholm to Helsinki. They performed for the highest bidder.

"Three grand was the most I ever got," Seagren said. "In Italy. After Munich in 1972. After Mexico I could have made a bundle, but it was late in the year. The season was over."

The timing was poor. Seagren's poles were confiscated and ruled illegal for an unsatisfactory reason at Munich. He won the bronze medal with a borrowed pole. In Mexico in the 1968 Olympics, he was the champion, the gold medal winner.

"I was once shocked by the head of the German federation," Seagren said. "That's like our AAU. He talked to me about competing in a meet in Kassel, Germany. I was supposed to be in Finland for another meet at the time. He said he would reimburse me for the air fare from Finland. He wanted me to compete for two days."

"I said I can't. I have to be in Finland. Remember, this is the German AAU. This was before the '68 Olympics. He finally made an offer in the hundreds, more than Finland, so I stayed."

"He peeled off the German marks right at the desk."

Not every athlete does business and it cannot be done at every meet. But the payoffs occur, too, in the United States.

"In the U.S., you make it in the indoor meets," Seagren said.

"I've had people try to catch me for a meet in Philadelphia, say, when I was in Los Angeles or San Diego," Seagren said. "This guy tried to bargain with me. I said air fair and 700 bucks. He said, 'What do you mean 700 bucks? I'll call you back.'"

"He called back and talked slow and measured. The SOB

Premier Woman Athlete Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled today for Wilhelmina von Bremen Asch, once one of America's premier women athletes and a star of the 1932 Olympic Games.

Mrs. Asch, who died Friday at 65, was a member of the 400 meter relay team that won a gold medal and set a world and Olympic record at Los Angeles. She married hospital administrator Robert Asch in 1925 and remained active in sports for much of her life.

tape-recorded the conversation and turned it over to the AAU. They tried to catch me doing everything.

"You never get paid for NCAA or AAU meets. Here at the Olympics you get athletes who compete for nothing."

Nothing but market value after the Olympics.

An Olympic gold medal could be worth a couple of hundred thousand dollars in the next two months, if an athlete has a business sense and the promoters have his phone number.

"Athletes have inflated ideas of their worth," Seagren said. "I know an athlete who asked $50,000 from a shoe company. It's a true story. I imagine that was for a four-year contract. They usually want to talk from Olympics to Olympics.

"There are guys like (Seagren named a Scandinavian Olympic shot putter) who make $60,000 to $70,000 a year."

One current Olympian, competing for the U.S. team, told me once of the air fare plan. The athletes receive first-class tickets and return them to the airlines. Then they fly on a youth excursion plan, coach or hitchhike. They pocket the difference.

"That's peanuts," Seagren said. "Those guys are way down the list. You make a couple of hundred bucks. I used to have coaches like that. I'd check in on the youth fare and they'd ride and make a couple of hundred."

But there are still the few who conform to the amateur ideal, the symbolic nakedness without pockets. "Poor Jim Ryun," said Seagren sympathetically. "He played it straight. He could have cleared $200,000 a summer, in the late '60's, when he was hot." Olympic gold trades for the almighty green.

Slaton Reaches Milestone

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Slaton would be the last to call it a masterpiece, but it nonetheless was a personal milestone.

Slaton was raked for 10 hits in 8 1/3 innings Tuesday night, but his Milwaukee Brewers' teammates, aided by two Detroit throwing errors and a wild pitch, scored three times in the seventh inning and beat the Tigers 6-4, their seventh victory in their last nine games and 14th in 21.

It also was Slaton's 12th victory of the year, one under his highest total in any of five previous major league seasons, and one more than he won in 1975, when he lost his last eight decisions.

"I'm thinking 20 wins," the 26-year-old righthander said.

Women To Get Grants

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University will provide $30,000 in scholarships to female athletes beginning this fall, University officials announced.

MSU's new athletic director Joe Kearney predicts the figure will more than triple in the near future.

"I'd say it will go in excess of $100,000," Kearney said. "Surely we'll eventually do as much for women's sports as we do for men's non-revenue sports."

MSU supports 14 men's sports, with only football, basketball and hockey classified as "revenue sports."

The move makes MSU the fifth Big Ten school to offer financial aid to its women athletes. The University of Michigan has no such program.

The introduction of women's sports scholarships has been prompted by federal orders calling for a halt to sex discrimination in university athletic programs. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare is in the process of finalizing guidelines which, when completed, will require some form of equalization in all men's and women's athletic programs.

MSU's scholarships will be distributed among the 10 women's sports under the direction of Nell Jackson, assistant director of athletics in charge of women's programs. The sports are cross country, field hockey, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, swimming and diving, track and field, golf, tennis and softball.

George Could Lose Job

Can George Blanda do it again this year? He thinks he can, of course, but the 48-year-old plans to place-kick for the Oakland Raiders are currently out of his hands and resting on the instep of rookie Fred Steinfurt, who's half the Old Man's age.

"I haven't even unpacked my bags," said Blanda Monday after learning that the Boston College grad will be doing the kicking for the next few weeks. "The Raiders have given me some options and one of them is to sit around while they wait and see if this new kid can make the club."

And if the soccer-style booter can't handle the pressure? "If he isn't doing the job four or five weeks into the preseason, then I would resume my duties," George explained.

Appended coach John Madden, who gave Blanda the word, "I've seen a lot of rookies come in and out of here, Blanda's endured. Translation: Don't count George out yet."

"It's possible. We're playing pretty good ball now and usually scoring some runs. But I'm going to have to have two pretty good months. I've got to win four games in both August and September, and Bill Travers figures we each will get about 13 more starts.

"But my main goal this year was just to be consistent throughout, and I think I've been successful because I've got a lot of innings pitched now," he said. "I've averaged about eight innings a game, and I haven't really had any losing streaks."

Brewer Manager Alex Grammas said Slaton "had good stuff, but not as good as he can have."

"He pitched 12 innings at Baltimore Friday and I was afraid he wouldn't have his best stuff today, but he battled them," Grammas said.

Ron LeFlore slapped four singles in five at bats, scored twice, stole a base and drove in a run for the Tigers. However, Slaton managed to stop Ben Oglivie, who has four game winning hits against the Brewers this season.

"Not exactly," Slaton walked him with the bases loaded in the first inning," Brewer General Manager Jim Baumer noted.

"I guess he did the right thing," Grammas replied. "That's better than letting him hit. I see that guy in my sleep, I'll tell you."

Beats Tigers For 12th Victory

Slaton Reaches Milestone

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Slaton would be the last to call it a masterpiece, but it nonetheless was a personal milestone.

Slaton was raked for 10 hits in 8 1-3 innings Tuesday night, but his Milwaukee Brewers' teammates, aided by two Detroit throwing errors and a wild pitch, scored three times in the seventh inning and beat the Tigers 6-4, their seventh victory in their last nine games and 14th in 21.

It also was Slaton's 12th victory of the year, one under his highest total in any of five previous major league seasons, and one more than he won in 1975, when he lost his last eight decisions.

"I'm thinking 20 wins," the 26-year-old righthander said.

"It's possible. We're playing pretty good ball now and usually scoring some runs. But I'm going to have to have two pretty good months. I've got to win four games in both August and September, and Bill Travers figures we each will get about 13 more starts.

"But my main goal this year was just to be consistent throughout, and I think I've been successful because I've got a lot of innings pitched now," he said. "I've averaged about eight innings a game, and I haven't really had any losing streaks."

Brewer Manager Alex Grammas said Slaton "had good stuff, but not as good as he can have."

"He pitched 12 innings at Baltimore Friday and I was afraid he wouldn't have his best stuff today, but he battled them," Grammas said.

Ron LeFlore slapped four singles in five at bats, scored twice, stole a base and drove in a run for the Tigers. However, Slaton managed to stop Ben Oglivie, who has four game winning hits against the Brewers this season.

"Not exactly. Slaton walked him with the bases loaded in the first inning," Brewer General Manager Jim Baumer noted.

"I guess he did the right thing," Grammas replied. "That's better than letting him hit. I see that guy in my sleep. I'll tell you."

18th Century To Come Alive In House Chamber

By MARY STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The bewigged architects of America's independence will relive the days of 1776 in the chambers of the recessed Michigan House of Representatives this week.

But the occasion is not a seance. It's a performance of the musical "1776," premiering here Thursday for a five-day performance.

The musical, which depicts the signing of the Declaration of Independence, is a production of Lansing Community College with the endorsement of the Lansing Bicentennial Commission. The group has imposed an 18th-century flavor on the august chambers. The speaker's podium now bears several old-fashioned desks outfitted with quill pens and pewter mugs.

Those working at the capitol building have to climb up and down a temporary stage built around the speaker's platform to go through the House, and when the troupe is rehearsing, late-departing employees may run into men wearing white wigs, buckles shoes, and waistcoats standing in the hallway.

T. Thomas Thatcher, clerk of the House, said nothing like this has ever been done before.

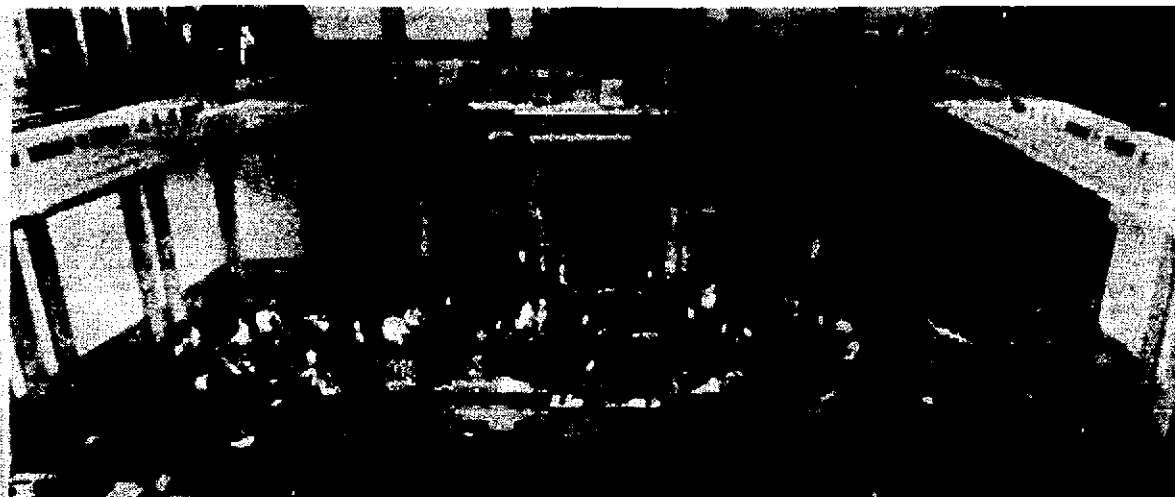

"This is different," he added. "This is the bicentennial year and a bicentennial celebration put on by a college."

Tom Thompson, assistant professor who is producing and directing the show, said "We're using it because it's an authentic setting. The acoustics are not bad."

Thompson has directed LCC productions of "West Side Story," using downtown Lansing as a backdrop, and "Oklahoma" at a farm in nearby Mason.

A legislative resolution gave the go-ahead to the whole project, but Thatcher said there have been some problems. He noted that walking through the House is difficult now.

Also, he said, the activity means the staff has to worry more about protecting the electric voting machinery in the 110-member chamber, and pro-

Democratic Debate Proposal Founders

Lawrence C. Sherman, Democratic candidate for nomination as 44th District state legislator, has invited his opponent, Charles Henderson, to debate. But Henderson said the invitation arrived too late.

"My time is committed," Henderson said of the challenge that was issued yesterday by Sherman. "This is the last week of campaigning before the primary election. If he had done this two weeks ago, I certainly would have given it strong consideration."

The primary election is next Tuesday.

Sherman, of Benton township, said he has scheduled a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Niles public library. He and Henderson, Benton Harbor, are the only Democratic candidates in the district that covers parts of Berrien and Cass counties. Incumbent Republican Ray Mittan is unopposed in the primary.

LONG SEASON
WASHINGTON — The hurricane season, as defined by the National Weather Service, begins June 1 and ends Nov. 30.

Strictly Emergencies

DETROIT (AP) — All non-emergency surgery has been halted at Wayne County General Hospital until a replacement can be found for the hospital's anesthesiologist, who resigned 10 days ago. Though the hospital has nurses and doctors qualified to administer anesthetics, fears of malpractice suits prompted the decision to halt all but emergency surgery, officials said. Some 20 patients have been referred to the University of Michigan Hospital since anesthesiologist John Kaczmarek left for a better paying job in Texas, officials said.

Yanks To Leave Vietnam Sunday

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Twenty-nine Americans and 12 Vietnamese dependents are scheduled to be flown from Saigon to Bangkok next Sunday, a United Nations spokesman said.

Arrangements are also being made to evacuate about 80 Filipinos from the former South Vietnamese capital, but the spokesman of the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees said their departure date is not yet fixed.

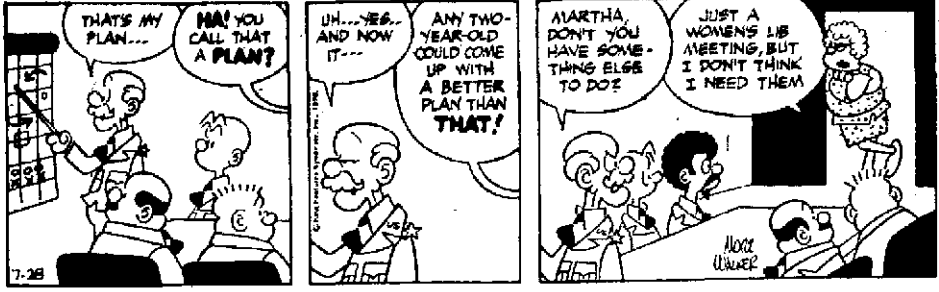

Language Census

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spanish is by far the most commonly spoken language other than English in the United States, the Census Bureau says. About 4 million Americans regularly speak Spanish, the bureau reported Sunday. About 300,000 use Italian; some 300,000 each speak Chinese and French and about 100,000 each speak German, Greek, Japanese, Filipino, Portugese and Korean.

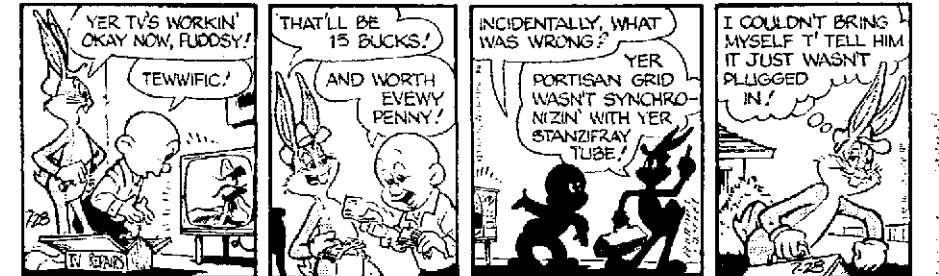

PAINTING RETURNED

NEWS OF MARKETS

Uneasy Market Declines

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly today in a continued uneasy response to indications of a tightening of Federal Reserve credit policy.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gave up nearly 2 points in the early going, and losers took a 2-1 lead over gainers in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

On Tuesday Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told the House Banking Committee the Fed had reduced its target for growth rates of two measures of the nation's money supply.

Investors evidently saw that news as increasing the chances of future steps to restrict credit by the central bank.

Today's early prices included Eastman Kodak, off 1/4 at 94; Brockway Glass, down 1/2 at 32 1/2; USLIFE, unchanged at 14, and Texaco, up 1/4 at 27 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 7.38 to 984.13.

Big Board volume was a sluggish 15.56 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .38 at 104.19.

ARRESTED: Kakuei Tanaka, above, former Japanese prime minister, was arrested in Tokyo Tuesday on charges of being involved in Lockheed payoff scandal. Prosecutor said Tanaka and Toshio Enomoto, his secretary when he was prime minister, were accused of receiving $1.7 million from an official of the Marubeni trading company, Lockheed's agent at the time. Chrysler UK Unit Is Loser

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp.'s troubled British operation has lost about 20 million pounds so far this year, or approximately half the amount predicted for 1976, executives of the No. 3 U.S. automaker said Tuesday.

The forecasted loss for 1976 had been put at 40 million pounds, estimated at $60 million by a Chrysler spokesman.

The loss so far this year is "about half" the estimate, Chrysler Chairman John Riccardo said.

He said the loss was not a "drain on the profits by this company" since it is compensated by a grant from the British government.

The government and Chrysler last January signed pacts under which the government during the next four years agreed to put up to 162.5 million pounds into Chrysler U.K.

Riccardo predicted Tuesday the U.K. operation would be profitable in 1977.

In Chrysler's second-quarter report to stockholders, Riccardo and President Eugene Caferio said the U.K. operation was working on new programs to improve efficiency.

They said the firm would begin assembling the Simca 1307-1308 in the United Kingdom in August, and it would be marketed under the Chrysler Alpine nameplate.

BACKS DEATH PENALTY ATLANTA (AP) — Former Sen. Sam Ervin says he agrees with the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling upholding the death penalty laws of several states.

Dividend Payment Eyed At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. may resume paying a dividend as a result of record earnings in the second quarter, top executives of the automaker said Tuesday. Chrysler officials also said they would increase capital expenditures to $450 million this year, up $50 million from previous forecasts. They said most of the capital expenditure would go toward developing new model cars rather than plant expansion.

Company Chairman John Riccardo and President Eugene Caferio also revealed Chrysler would receive $28 million for the sale of its New Stanton, Pa., factory. The plant, which has never been used, is under consideration as an assembly facility by Volkswagen.

The officers said Chrysler's board of directors would decide at its Aug. 3 meeting whether to restore the dividend, which has been suspended since late 1974 when the industry was in an economic downturn.

"We do have the leeway now," said Riccardo. "It's an item to consider seriously." But he added he has not decided whether to recommend resuming the dividend immediately.

Under a massive revolving credit agreement entered into by Chrysler in December 1974, the firm agreed it would pay dividends only during periods when six-month earnings were above $211.6 million. The firm earned $227.2 million in the first six months of 1976.

Chrysler borrowed $261 million under the agreement last year. The loan has been repaid, but the agreement is still in effect.

Riccardo and Caferio stressed Chrysler's healthy economic position compared to 1975, when in the first six months it lost $152.8 million.

"Our stocks (of new cars) are in good balance," Caferio said. "We have the right amount of cars out there with less carryover units than last year."

"We had high hopes for the Volare and Aspen (two compact models introduced last fall)," Riccardo said. "They have exceeded our expectations." He TROY, Mich. (AP) — The Budd Co., an auto industry supplier has declared a 20-cent dividend for each share of common stock, payable Sept. 1 to shareholders of record on Aug. 12.

The Budd board of directors also declared a dividend of $1.25 for holders of $5 preferred shares. That regular quarterly dividend also is payable Sept. 1 to shareholders of record on Aug. 12.

Over $2 Million In Refunds Wait For Taxpayers

DETROIT (AP) — More than $2 million in undelivered tax refund checks is waiting to be claimed at the downtown Internal Revenue Service office, an IRS spokesman said Tuesday.

He said most of the 4,300 checks were not delivered because taxpayers had moved since filing and had not notified the post office of their new addresses.

Taxpayers who have not received their federal tax refunds should inquire at the McNamara Building office in Detroit, the IRS said.

Harris Rest Case

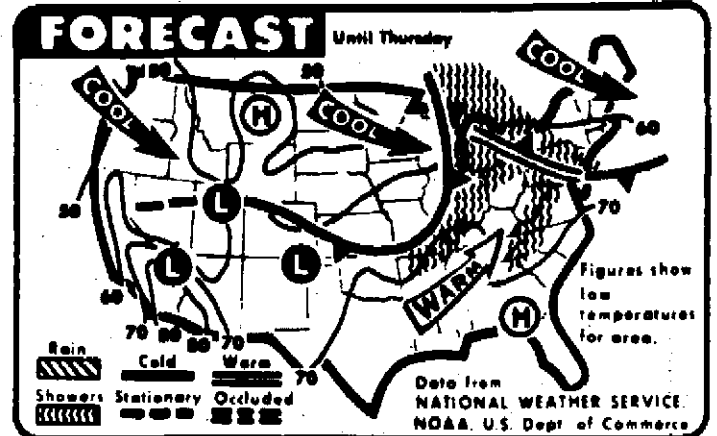

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Emily Harris, by resting their case without calling a witness, have blocked their former underground companion, Patricia Hearst, from testifying against them. The move was the second major surprise of Tuesday's court session, and it means the Harris' fate will probably be placed in the hands of jurors by the end of the week. The Harris' lawyer denied that the move was intended to block Miss Hearst's testimony, but that was its effect nevertheless. The day's first big surprise was a prosecution announcement that Miss Hearst would turn state's evidence against her former traveling companion. She is a co-defendant with them on kidnapping, robbery and assault charges, but will be tried separately.

Judge Takeover Charged

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit School Supt. Arthur Jefferson has charged the federal judge overseeing the city's desegregation program with trying to take over the school system. Jefferson said U.S. District Court Judge Robert DeMascio has made "incursions" into matters "which by any definition fall within the administrative responsibility of the Detroit Board of Education, its superintendent and its staff." Jefferson's comments were the first critical statements leveled at DeMascio by school officials since accepting the school desegregation case in early 1975. Jefferson made his remarks after the judge said he was "offended" that the school board had adopted a school budget containing many cutbacks, including the elimination of high school sports, without consulting the court.

Politicians Escape Punishment

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than two dozen corporations and their executives have been prosecuted on federal campaign law charges, but only a handful of politicians who benefited from corporate contributions were ever touched by three years of investigation. In the latest and last of the corporate fund cases pressed by the special Watergate prosecutor, former Gulf Oil lobbyist Claude C. Wild Jr. was acquitted Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Waddy. Wild admitted making a $5,000 cash gift to the re-election campaign of Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii. But he testified the money was handed over in cash more than three years before his indictment by a grand jury on March 12, 1976, and he successfully contended before Waddy that the three-year statute of limitations had expired.

Developers Purchasing Watervliet Subdivision

WATERVLIET — A purchase agreement has been reached to sell the city-owned 127-lot Lewis subdivision for $56,000 to developers planning to build single family homes and some duplexes. Watervliet Mayor Arvid Frazier said the purchasers are two Berrien Springs couples, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Harden and Mr. and Mrs. Gary W. Rusk.

The purchase agreement was approved by the Watervliet city commission in a special meeting July 20, Frazier said. The developers paid $500 at the signing of the agreement and have until Aug. 15 to pay the balance of $55,500, he said. The subdivision is located north of Paw Paw avenue at the western city limits.

The first phase of development calls for construction of 55 houses and the installation of water and sewer lines and roads, Frazier said. He said the houses are expected to be priced in the range of $35,000 when completed.

Some duplexes are planned in further construction, Frazier said. The subdivision was purchased by the city in 1973 for $54,000 and was intended to be the site of a new water tower. That project was dropped because the price of running water lines to the site was too high.

Last February, a proposal from a Benton Harbor developer to build 48 units of low-rent apartments on the site was scrapped after it met with strong objections from city residents.

Van Buren's Radio Channels Popular

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

PAW PAW — The Van Buren county board of commissioners last night delayed action on whether to let a bus system for the elderly and handicapped use the short wave radio frequencies now used by fire departments in the county.

The request was made by the Van Buren Transportation Task Force for the elderly-handicapped bus program. The use would involve emergencies only.

But county board Chairman Walter Sickels of Bangor said the intermediate school district, and the 11 public school districts in the county, have also expressed an interest in putting radios in their buses on the local government channel as well.

Sickels said there is a "gentlemen's agreement" between the sheriff's department and the Van Buren county Firemen's association that the association is to be consulted before any other group is allowed on the same radio channels the fire departments now use.

The sheriff's department broadcasts most fire alarms in the county.

Sheriff Richard Stump said he had no objections to allowing the elderly-handicapped bus system on the fire department frequency if the county fire association is agreeable.

In other areas during the hour-long meeting at the courthouse, the commissioners gave their approval to a wage scale for 11 sheriff's deputies and three matrons. The scale had already been established by an arbitrator called in to settle a six-month-long dispute between the county board and the deputies who are represented by the Teamsters.

Negotiations are continuing between the county board and a bargaining association representing the four sergeants and four lieutenants in the sheriff's department.

Deputies will now receive a starting salary of $11,025, working up to $12,680 for three years experience. Under the five per cent increase granted all county employees at the beginning of the year, the starting rate for deputies was $10,525, with a maximum after three years of $11,051.

At the top of the scale, the increase amounts to about a 20 per cent raise over the $10,500 maximum received by deputies last year.

The county board went into executive session at the end of its public meeting to discuss with members of the county road commission complaints about performance of county road workers.

Sickels said that while the county board has jurisdiction over the county road commission, the complaints have been so numerous the county board wants to try to find out just what is the cause of the complaints.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Uneasy Market Declines

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly today in a continued uneasy response to indications of a tightening of Federal Reserve credit policy.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gave up nearly 2 points in the early going, and losers took a 2-1 lead over gainers in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

On Tuesday Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told the House Banking Committee the Fed had reduced its target for growth rates of two measures of the nation's money supply.

Investors evidently saw that news as increasing the chances of future steps to restrict credit by the central bank.

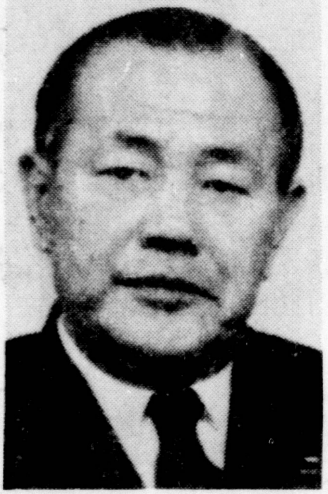

Today's early prices included Eastman Kodak, off 1/8 at 94; Brockway Glass, down 1/2 at 32 1/2; USLIFE, unchanged at 14, and Texaco, up 1/8 at 27 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 7.38 to 984.13.

Losers outnumbered gainers by close to a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index dropped 31 to 55.31.

Big Board volume was a sluggish 15.58 million shares.

Chrysler UK Unit Is Loser

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp.'s troubled British operation has lost about 20 million pounds so far this year, or approximately half the amount predicted for 1976, executives of the No. 3 U.S. automaker said Tuesday.

The forecasted loss for 1976 had been put at 40 million pounds, estimated at $80 million by a Chrysler spokesman. The loss so far this year is "about half" the estimate, Chrysler Chairman John Riccardo said.

He said the loss was not a "drain on the profits by this company" since it is compensated by a grant from the British government.

The government and Chrysler last January signed pacts under which the government during the next four years agreed to put up to 162.5 million pounds into Chrysler U.K.

Riccardo predicted Tuesday the U.K. operation would be profitable in 1977.

In Chrysler's second-quarter report to stockholders, Riccardo and President Eugene Cafiero said the U.K. operation was working on new programs to introduce products and improve efficiency.

They said the firm would begin assembling the Simca 1307-1308 in the United Kingdom in August, and it would be marketed under the Chrysler Alpine nameplate.

Dividend Payment Eyed At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. may resume paying a dividend as a result of record earnings in the second quarter, top executives of the automaker said Tuesday. Chrysler officials also said they would increase capital expenditures to $450 million this year, up $50 million from previous forecasts. They said most of the capital expenditure would go toward developing new model cars rather than plant expansion.

Company Chairman John Riccardo and President Eugene Cafiero also revealed Chrysler would receive $28 million for the sale of its New Stanton, Pa., factory. The plant, which has never been used, is under consideration as an assembly facility by Volkswagen.

The officers said Chrysler's board of directors would decide at its Aug. 5 meeting whether to restore the dividend, which has been suspended since late 1974 when the industry was in an economic downturn.

"We do have the leeway now," said Riccardo. "It's an item to consider seriously." But he added he has not decided whether to recommend resuming the dividend immediately.

Under a massive revolving credit agreement entered into by Chrysler in December 1974, the firm agreed it would pay dividends only during periods when six-month earnings were above $211.6 million. The firm earned $227.2 million in the first six months of 1976.

Chrysler borrowed $261 million under the agreement last year. The loan has been repaid, but the agreement is still in effect.

Riccardo and Cafiero stressed Chrysler's healthy economic position compared to 1975, when in the first six months it lost $152.8 million.

"Our stocks (of new cars) are in good balance," Cafiero said. "We have the right amount of cars out there with less carryover units than last year."

"We had high hopes for the Volare and Aspen (two compact models introduced last fall)," Riccardo said. "They have exceeded our expectations." He

'CLEAN AIR' AREAS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is nearing a decision on a proposal that would set up "clean air" areas outside smoggy cities where polluting industries could be prohibited from building new plants.

Both men said the ongoing United Rubber Workers strike is not hurting Chrysler's 1976 model production. "We're getting (tires) wherever we can find them," Cafiero said.

Chrysler on Monday reported second-quarter earnings of $155.1 million, a record for any quarter in the firm's 51-year history.

Over $2 Million In Refunds Wait For Taxpayers

DETROIT (AP) — More than $2 million in undelivered tax refund checks is waiting to be claimed at the downtown Internal Revenue Service office, an IRS spokesman said Tuesday.

He said most of the 4,300 checks were not delivered because taxpayers had moved since filing and had not notified the post office of their new addresses.

Taxpayers who have not received their federal tax refunds should inquire at the McNamara Building office in Detroit, the IRS said.

His Promises Are 'Confining'

By JOHN FENNELL
Staff Writer

District Judge Leo W. Cook kept his promise to a Benton Harbor man in Berrien Fifth District court when he sentenced him to a year in jail for violating his probation by consuming alcohol and disobeying driving restrictions.

Cook ordered Roosevelt Wynn, 39, 733 Pearl street, to spend 365 days in jail Monday for violating a two-year probation stating he couldn't drink alcohol, enter any bars, and must maintain a steady job and residence.

The judge imposed the probation and a $500 fine in February when he found Wynn guilty of impaired driving (second offense).

Wynn was arrested again Friday — this time for driving in violation of a restricted license (allowed to drive only to and from work), after he lost consciousness and backed into and shattered the window of Gillespie Prescriptions, 2845 Niles avenue, according to St. Joseph Police Lt. Nelson Goodwin.

No other traffic citations were issued at the time, Goodwin said.

When Wynn appeared before Judge Cook Monday on violation of probation charges, Wynn admitted to having consumed alcohol the day of the accident and so Cook said he kept his promise.

"I told him when I handed down the sentence, just like I tell everyone else, that if he violated the probation he would get the maximum penalty — one year," Cook said.

Wynn's driving in violation of a restricted license charge is still pending in District court.

His Promises Are 'Confining'

Staff Writer

District Judge Leo W. Cook kept his promise to a Benton Harbor man in Berrien Fifth District court when he sentenced him to a year in jail for violating his probation by consuming alcohol and disobeying driving restrictions.

Cook ordered Roosevelt Wynn, 39, 793 Pearl Street, to spend 365 days in jail Monday for violating a two year probation stating he couldn't drink alcohol, enter any bars, and must maintain a steady job and residence.

The judge imposed the probation and a $500 fine in February when he found Wynn guilty of impaired driving (second offense).

Wynn was arrested again Friday — this time for driving in violation of a restricted license (allowed to drive only to and from work), after he lost consciousness and backed into and shattered the window of Gillespie Prescriptions, 2845 Niles Avenue, according to St. Joseph Police Lt. Nelson Goodwin.

No other traffic citations were issued at the time, Goodwin said.

When Wynn appeared before Judge Cook Monday on violation of probation charges, Wynn admitted to having consumed alcohol the day of the accident and so Cook said he kept his promise.

"I told him when I handed down the sentence, just like I tell everyone else, that if he violated the probation he would get the maximum penalty — one year," Cook said.

Wynn's driving in violation of a restricted license charge is still pending in District court.

Now planned to grapes which will provide an income until the new owner is ready to develop this land which is level and is located in a residential area in Washington Avenue. Children attend St. Joseph schools from this area. Call us for further details.

A-FRAME
ON LAKE MICHIGAN

This is a super Lake Michigan lot with little erosion, plenty of beach, and no high bluff. Located north of the Twin Cities in Hagar Twp. and Coloma schools. The home has about 2200 sq. ft. of living area including 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, fireplaces in the living room and family room, dining room and modern kitchen with built in appliances. A 44 ft. redwood deck overlooks the beautiful lake. Seldom do we have the opportunity to offer a home like this on such a good lake lot. Priced in the 80's.
